COMFORT RULES TROLLEY TRAVEL.

Absence of Dirt and Cinders and Better View of Nature Make the Interurban Lines Popular.

ROADS LIFT IN RURAL LIFE

Stores of Small Towns More Up to Date and Business Conditions Improved; Combines Feared.

BY RAYMOND.

Columbus, O., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—By trolley from Indianapolis to Dayton and from Dayton to Columbus is a long journey, but worth the making as a demonstration of modern interurban possibilities. From the traction station in Indianapolis one may travel comfortably direct to Dayton, and from there either to Cincinnati or Columbus as the case may be.

On the limited trains of Indiana and Ohio one may find complete comfort, amounting to almost a luxury. When the habit of traveling by trolley is once firmly established one wonders that the nuisances of the steam roads were ever submitted to. The electric line is the perfection of traveling—at least for short distances. There is a freedom from dirt and cinders and one feels nearer the country through which he travels than on the steam road.

The trolley line is essentially a neighborhood affair, because stops are made at unfrequented crossroads and the county passenger is much more in evidence than the through tourist. It is the unanimous opinion of the managers of the trolley roads that they cultivate the habit of traveling, with the result that the electric lines stimulate travel without cutting into the business of the steam roads to any great extent.

Master of Short Run Traffic.

When the distances between any two towns is at all great the steam railroad is practically free from competition, but for short distances the electric trolley line is practically master of the situation. All through the interurban belt of Indiana and Ohio the traveling public has come to recognize the convenience of catching a car at frequent intervals.

If the traveler misses one car he takes the matter philosophically because he knows that another car will start in a few minutes. The result of the short intervals between cars is that the country people travel much more frequently than would be the case if they were dependent on the rigid schedules of the steam roads.

The proprietors of the big department stores in Indianapolis and Cincinnati say that they have almost doubled their trade since the introduction of the interurban system of travel. Curiously enough the local stores of the small villages have not lost any custom as the result of the traveling habit induced by the interurban cars. These village stores have found it simple to increase their stocks, and have slowly but surely met the competition of the city stores by increasing the variety of their own supply. The effect has been felt more particularly by the groceries and meat markets.

Lift for Country Stores.

The electric car has added enormously to the business of the supply stores of the country towns. Villages where perishable goods simply could not be had ten years ago are now supplied with fruit and vegetables as a matter of course, and the express compartments on the electric cars radiating from such a market point as Indianapolis are frequently loaded with cantaloupes from Colorado and watermelons from Georgia.

The traffic managers of all the interurban roads all tell the same story as to the extent of their express of package freight business. It is growing every day, and only the lack of depot facilities keeps it within bounds.

What is not so generally understood, but what is an unpleasant symptom, is the combination of the interurban lines into a few great systems. The majority of the lines in Ohio, as well as in Indiana, are controlled by the combination of Philadelphia capitalists known as the "U. G. I." Local managers are frequent in Columbus as in Dayton and Indianapolis, but the great bulk of the interurban roads in the two states is owned by the Philadelphia syndicate.

May Result in Monopoly.

This community of interest may before long result in a monopoly of the interurban business such as the general public is not entirely prepared for. In most cases the trolley lines do not cross state boundaries. They are controlled to some extent by the local state authorities, but as yet the interurban business is so novel in its character that the railroad boards of the different states are not prepared to negotiate it, while the federal interstate commerce commission has not yet awakened to the importance of the business being done by the interurban roads.

The Philadelphia combination apparently has been alive to the situation, as today the majority of the interurban roads from Danville and Paris, Ill., on the west, to Erie, Pa., and Wheeling, W. Va., are controlled by the Philadelphia syndicate. With this goes almost invariably the management of the local electric light and in most cases of the local street car lines.

The effect of the interurban traffic has been that of economy of power when produced by a central point and distributed long distances. In this lies the secret of the electric line. It can transmit its power long distances without the slightest loss.

Transmits Power Without Loss.

An interurban road can create enough electric energy at a single power station not only for its own use but can successfully supply power and light to all the towns along its line. Electric energy, as heat, light, and power, can be transmitted from a central plant for many miles without a perceptible loss and with only a few wires as the means of transmission. As a natural result the interurban line is in a position to dominate the electric lighting and power of a dozen important towns along its line.

Steam as a motive power cannot be transmitted for any great distance. The locomotive must create its own power and must carry its own coal to make its own steam, which is destroyed the minute it is used. Electric energy, on the contrary, may be stored up and it may be transmitted hundreds of miles without the slightest loss.

The fact that the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago road can supply electric lighting from its central power plant at Batavia at a lower rate than the municipal plants in Glen Ellyn and Wheaton is an evidence of the profit there is in the interurban business.

PHONES PRODUCE DELUGE OF GOLD.

Dividend Record Shows Original Investment Paid Back and Millions Still Held in the Plant.

TOTAL OF 263 PER CENT.

Besides Regular Disbursements on Shares "Rights" on New Issues Swell the Aggregate.

In 1892 the Chicago Telephone company had a paid up capital of $2,000,000. Since that time the stockholders have put in $11,000,000 new cash and have taken out in dividends substantially $12,260,000. In addition they have left, according to their last official statement, a plant valued at $16,706,426 and other assets, bringing the amount up to $19,791,436.

Against this they have debts of $4,718,007, leaving, according to the company's own figures, assets of $15,073,339. After receiving since 1892 $12,260,000 in actual cash against a paid in capital of $13,000,000 the company still has $15,073,339, or 115 per cent, to distribute to its shareholders on the money paid into the business by them.

The outstanding capital at this time is $14,000,000. But in April, 1900, there was distributed a stock dividend of $1,000,000, so that the actual new money invested amounts to but $13,000,000. The dividends received on this $1,000,000 of water since its issue have amounted to 74 per cent, or $740,000.

Dividend Record Remarkable.

The dividend record of the company has been a surpassingly good one, as the actual figures taken from payments will show. The company began business as a consolidated corporation on Jan. 14, 1881, with a capital stock of $500,000. It at once began paying good dividends, for it was a company composed of two previously warring ones, and when the competition was over the profits were large. Records available outside those of the company's office show that in 1889, or eight years after the company was formed, dividends were being paid at the rate of 2½ per cent monthly, or 30 per cent a year. On Jan. 17, 1883, or two years after the company was organized, the authorized capital stock was increased to $2,000,000. There was no change in this capital for nine years, or until Jan 22, 1892, when it was increased to $5,000,000. In 1889 the company was paying 30 per cent a year, and prior to that date it is not unreasonable to assume that the dividends averaged between 20 per cent and 25 per cent.

John Barton Payne, who represents the company in a legal way, has announced that the highest dividend paid was 36 per cent a year. This was prior to 1889, so that the distributions between 1881 and 1889 must have been exceedingly large. During those years the company gave out but meager information concerning its affairs, and comment at the time was that the stockholders were satisfied with such a policy. The comment seems reasonable enough.

Record of Payments.

From the subjoined table, taken from authoritative sources, any one may figure the dividend returns in cash, based on the capital issues:

New Stock Issues Give Profits.

The foregoing dividends indicate that on the $2,000,000 capital stock there was paid between 1889 and 1906 263 per cent, or $5,260,000, nearly three times the amount of that investment.

From time to time new stock issues gave the shareholders rights of large value. Altogether, beginning with 1892, the value of these rights, being profits on new stock, aggregated 77 per cent. The American Bell Telephone company as a majority holder of the stock of the Chicago Telephone company has secured something over 51 per cent of the profits which have been divided.

The stock of the American Bell Telephone company is owned by the American Telephone and Telegraph company, whose headquarters are in Boston, as were also the headquarters of the American Bell company when it was the active holding concern. The personnel of the board of directors of the Chicago Telephone company is dictated from Boston. It has been the policy of the eastern management to have the Chicago company operated to please Boston capitalists rather than the users of the telephones in Chicago. The tribute levied here on telephone subscribers has gone into the coffers of the Boston concern.

THE COUNTY JAIL AS SHERIFF STRASSHEIM RUNS IT.

NAB HIGHBROW IN CRAP GAME

Dr. C. M. Freeman, Husband of Mary Wilkins, Arrested.

SHOCK TO METUCHEN, N. J.

Negroes Who Got His Money in Shed Game to Be Tried with Him.

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Metuchen, N. J., got the biggest shock in its career today, when Town Marshal Enos Fouratt walked up to Dr. Charles M. Freeman, husband of Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, the authoress, and said: "Charley, I want you. You are under arrest."

"What for?" asked Dr. Freeman a bit hazily.

"Shooting craps with Butts Hopkins and Scrappy Smith, and Jim Duane back of the Brunswick hotel," returned Enos sternly. "The coons have squealed on you, Charley, and you're in wrong."

Mary Wilkins' husband was pinched right in front of Borough hall, where the republicans were holding their primaries. Dr. Freeman, who is a candidate for the republican nomination for mayor, was buttonholing voters when Enos grabbed him.

In about five minutes the news spread all over the town, and Main street fairly boiled with excitement. The old town hadn't been so much shaken up since Mary Eleanor Wilkins published "The Debtor," the book which drew unfavorable portraits of some of Metuchen's popular citizens and a few of its venerated institutions.

Watches Game, Then "Shoots" Himself.

Last Wednesday afternoon Dr. Freeman and Jim Duane, who had warmed up on a couple of quarts of rye whisky, were standing at the bar of the Brunswick with Scrappy Smith, Butts Hopkins, and two or three other colored citizens. The two negroes first named, Duane and a few others went out the back door and started the game in a wagon shed. Pretty soon Dr. Freeman followed them and stood by watching the play.

Scrappy was hot, and the bones rolled for him as if they had been bewitched. He broke Duane, and then Dr. Freeman spoke up and told Duane to go as far as he liked.

"I'll stake you," said Dr. Freeman.

They started shooting for $1, and in an hour they were making passes for $100. Finally Dr. Freeman owed Scrappy $425.

"Here," said Dr. Freeman, "you fellows don't know how to shoot craps. Give me the bones."

"Scrappy" $25 to the Good.

He rolled for $25, and won. Then Scrappy won it back, and they kept it up until everybody was tired, seesaw, back and forth, but when the game was over Scrappy was $25 to the good.

The laws of New Jersey cover the game of craps pretty definitely. Dr. Freeman put up $1,000 worth of real estate as security for his appearance before the grand jury, and went on electioneering.

The story of the crap game in the wagon shed back of the hotel had been whispered about pretty generally in Metuchen, but nobody knew really what part Dr. Freeman had played in it. Things started last Wednesday night, when Charley Green, one of the sporty colored man, stopped Marshal Fouratt on the street and told Fouratt that he had seen Scrappy Smith reach into Jim Duane's coat pocket while Duane was leaning over on his hands and knees and throwing the dice, slip a flat package of bills out of Duane's pocket and slip the money to Butts Hopkins quick as a flash.

Green merely said there was a crap game going on, but he forgot to mention all the players.

Negroes Try to Shield Freeman.

Marshal Fouratt went to Col. C. C. Weber, the recorder of the borough, and Weber got him to draw up a complaint against Butts and Scrappy. Last Sunday morning Recorder Weber quizzed Scrappy, who was brilliant with new raiment, and Scrappy lost his nerve and told what really happened in the wagon shed and who were there. The recorder held Butts and Scrappy in $1,000 each, but they went before Judge Booraem at the New Brunswick with Jim Duane, and Duane denied that he had been robbed. Whereupon the judge, not knowing what was back of it all, rapped the recorder for his high handed action and let Scrappy and Butts go.

Then the recorder, somewhat rolled, went over to see the judge and talked for fifteen minutes straightaway.

"Craps, did you say? Gambling? Arrest everybody who took part. Don't care who he is. I'll issue the warrants at once," said the judge at the end of that interview.

From the affidavits and complaints and the stories told to the recorder and the town marshal by onlookers at the big crap game, whose eyes bulged out when they saw hundreds of dollars in real money passing over the floor of McGuinness' wagon shed, the true tale of the big doings came out.

CHICAGO BOMB TOSSING ENDS; SCARED GAMBLERS "SQUEAL."

Send Word to the Detective Bureau Dynamiting Will Cease if Police Will "Let Up" on Them.

"There will be no more bomb throwing in Chicago. The gamblers may sleep in peace."

Capt. P. D. O'Brien of the detective bureau made this statement last night. Word had come up to him through the underworld of gamblers and thieves and ex-constables that the dynamiters would make no more trouble if the police would "let up." The detectives were getting too near, they said.

"We have taken the only possible course open to us in these baffling crimes," said the captain. "We have arrested all the suspects we could, threatened others, and in general brought down the power of the vagrancy law so strong that they could not stand it. We know in what gang the men run who threw those bombs and we started in to get the whole gang. That is what made them 'squeal' and assure me that it was all over."

What the police of the West Chicago avenue station believe may be a clew to the identity of the bomb throwers was unearthed during the evening. An engineer named George, employed by the Artesian Lime and Stone company, Campbell and Grand avenues, was discovered by a watchman in the act of stealing several sticks of dynamite. The man dropped it and escaped.

SAMUEL INSULL TARGET FOR MISSILE SHOWER NO. 2.

Sorry Now He Let Off Boys Who Threw Stones and Broke His Glasses Before —Suspects Same Lads This Time.

All belief in the efficacy of mild reproof and gentle guidance in reform of boys who throw stones at passing automobilists fell from the mind of Samuel Insull yesterday afternoon, when he had his latest experience with the youthful Evanstonians who three months ago nearly ruined the sight of one of his eyes. He went to the police station of the suburb in anger.

"I believe it was the same boys," he said, "the same Ludwig and Witt boys who smashed my glasses before. I let them off that time, but if I could have caught them today I'd have spanked 'em soundly.

"As I was driving up Ridge avenue, near Washington street, right where the other trouble occurred, a storm of missiles sailed round my head. There were three boys, and I left the machine in charge of the chauffeur and chased them two blocks, but I couldn't catch them."

Mr. Insull asked that the boys be arrested, and that he be notified so that he could prosecute them.

CHILD DROWNS IN A POSTHOLE.

Three Year Old Son of George Hanney, 936 Forty-eighth Street, Loses Life.

An uncovered post hole not three feet in depth yesterday caused the death of a 3 year old child, Harry Hanney, a son of George Hanney, a stockyards employé living at 936 Forty-eighth street.

The mother of the boy returned to her home after half an hour's absence late in the afternoon and was met by her 4 year old son, George, who cried that "Harry got caught in the hole," and led her to the back yard.

Carpenters building a fence there had been compelled by the rain to leave their work at noon. Several post holes had been left open, and in one of these Mrs. Hanney found her son head downward. The hole was filled within a foot of the top with rain water and the child was drowned.

MASSACRE JEWS AT KISHENEFF

New Outbreak in Russian City Is Bloodiest Tragedy of All.

PEOPLE FLEE IN TERROR.

Many Seeking Refuge on Frontier Turned Back for Slaughter.

BRAILA, Roumania, Sept. 10.—News has reached here of another serious and atrocious anti-Jewish outbreak at Kisheneff. It is estimated that no less than eighty Jews lost their lives in encounters with the inflamed populace.

The outbreak occurred yesterday. The Jewish quarter at Kisheneff was attacked by organized bands of roughs, who looted houses and shops, and ruthlessly killed or wounded all those who attempted to defend their property.

Fleeing in State of Panic.

The Jews are fleeing from Kisheneff in a state of panic. Many of them, hoping to find protection in Roumania, were driven back by frontier guards.

Ample notice was given to the authorities, who, however, took no action until night, when troops were sent to occupy the ravaged streets.

Dispatches from Lodz tell of anti-Jewish riots there. Eleven persons were killed on Tuesday, including four women. Many others were wounded.

The rioting is still going on.

Bloodier than First Massacre.

If this dispatch from Braila is correct in its estimate of the numbers killed at Kisheneff, then the terrible affrays which took place in this Russian city April 19 and 20, 1903, the news of which shocked the world, have been surpassed in mortality at least. In the massacre of four years ago 45 Jews were killed, 84 were seriously wounded, 500 were crippled and injured, and no less than 10,000 were rendered homeless and destitute. The soldiers of the empire looked on passively at the murdering and pillaging until at last they were ordered to act for the protection of the victims.

Half Population Is Jews.

Kisheneff is the capital of Bessarabia. It has a population of about 115,000, nearly one-half of which are Jews.

The massacre of 1903 was started by reports of a supposed "ritual murder," of which the Jews wrongfully were accused. This story aroused an extreme degree of ill feeling, and a riot broke out. The authorities took no effective steps to crush the rioters, who committed unspeakable atrocities. On April 20 orders from St. Petersburg led to the troops coming on the scene and the rioting ceased.

Would Rescue Russia from Jews.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—The Vorwaerts prints a dispatch from St. Petersburg which states that "The League of Rescue" has been founded for the ostensible purpose of rescuing Russia from the Jews. It is really supposed to cover an intention of organizing a general massacre of Jews in Russia. The league has been circulating reports that the Jews are planning the murder of the czar, Prime Minister Stolypin, and the Grand Duke Nicholas.

NEW ZEALAND A "DOMINION"

English Island Allowed to Drop Name of "a Colony," Which Was Disliked.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Official Gazette publishes a proclamation creating the colony of New Zealand "the dominion of New Zealand" on the same style as the Dominion of Canada. This, following the creation of the Australian commonwealth and the movement for a South African federation, illustrates the distaste of the king's possessions over sea to being called colonists.

ADDS DESPAIR TO TRACTION CHAOS.

Court of Appeals Deals Final Blow by Refusing Any Modification of Previous Order.

LAWYER SAYS "THE END."

Declared Useless to Ask Time from the Council, as Nothing Could Be Done if It Were Granted.

Union Traction affairs went from bad to worse yesterday. At night there seemed no hope for the properties, and there was a prevalent belief that the City railway would become the heir to the north and west side lines under the franchise ordinance adopted last April.

If the affairs of the unfortunate corporation were chaotic after the decision of the United States Court of Appeals on Saturday, they reached yesterday the condition which must have existed in the universe before chaos came as an intermediary step toward orderly arrangement.

Court Deals Final Blow.

The second and apparently fatal blow came from the same high Court of Appeals. Late in the afternoon the three judges curtly and unanimously denied the motion of the Union Traction interests that the decision of Saturday be so amended as to permit the Chicago Railways company to take over the property and accept the ordinance allowing it to operate them. The court went further and said nothing could be done legally to relieve the situation. Judge Baker individually capped the climax by intimating that the only course was for the properties to be sold and the receipts, whatever they are, divided among the creditors.

"It is the end," was the remark of L. C. Krauthoff, who has been a leader in trying to conserve the properties, and when W. W. Gurley, general counsel for the Union Traction company, was asked what could be done next he answered:

"Don't ask me. My thinking machinery is out of order."

Extension of Time Useless.

It is possible that an application may be made to the city council tomorrow afternoon for an extension of the time in which the Chicago Railways company can accept its ordinance. Last evening the traction people could not figure out how they could gain anything if they should make such a request and it should be granted. They said, however, that if they could see any new light today they would make the request. They acknowledged they did not think the chances of its being granted, if made, were encouraging. They were not in a position to send any assurances along with it.

The patent way out of the difficulty is for the city to call on the City railway company to carry out the contract in its ordinance and take over and operate the street car lines on the north and west sides. This is the position of the city administration and the south side company is ready to obey. That it will be the ultimate settlement of the tangle no well informed person now doubts.

Long Legal Fight Ahead.

But it is going to take a long while. It cannot be done next week, or next month, or next winter. The Union Traction company is not going to give up without more legal fights. It will base the coming one on a dispute as to the value of its property if the Chicago City company comes in to take it. That might have to go to the Supreme court of the United States before it is ended. In the meantime the Union Traction lines would have to be operated by the receivers as at present, and the same old cars run on the same old tracks, in the same old way.

After the Court of Appeals had delivered the final blow, there was a getting together of parties in interest, and one suggestion made was that if Judge Grosscup would consent at least a fighting chance might be left by having him turn over the Union Traction properties to the Chicago Railways company, it claiming in consequence the right to accept the ordinance. This plan was discouraged by the lawyers, however, and Special Counsel Walter L. Fisher, representing the city, said it never would be adopted.

Court Hears "Last Ditch" Motion.

The court of appeals, consisting of Justice Brewer and Judges Seaman and Baker, convened at 2:30 p. m. The "last ditch" motion was that the decision of Saturday be so modified as to allow to stand the order of Judge Grosscup for the receivers to lease the properties to the Chicago Railways company, so it could accept the ordinance, and that it be stipulated that such bondholders as did not care to come into the plan of reorganization might reserve their right to ask their legal rights by giving notice in a fixed time, the understanding being that all bondholders who did not give such notice should be understood as consenting to the arrangement.

In support of it testimony was introduced to show that it would be for the benefit of the bondholders if such an order could be had. Noble B. Judah, representing the Northern Trust company, which represents $1,500,000 of bonds, and speaking for $600,000 more, pleaded that it was the only way to save the properties. But the court would not take that view of it.

Unanimously it held that for it to go into any such arrangement would be to do the exact thing it had overruled Judge Grosscup for trying to do—that is, have a court act as the financial manager of a business enterprise, a function financial but not judicial.

Attorney Krauthoff's Plea.

Attorney Krauthoff fought to the last, even after he knew he was beaten. After handing up copies of the order he asked the court to enter, he said:

"The modification, which I take it will be in accordance with your honors' views Saturday when you decided that the court had no power to force the underlying securities into the plan, will allow such lienholders as do not desire to come into the new company under the plan approved by the traction arbitrators to remain outside the reorganization, standing on their right as lienholders and receiving instead of the securities offered in the reorganization plan only the securities that are collateral to their liens.

"We trust that the dissenters will all decide that it is to their best interest to come into the reorganization, and the modification gives them that right even after they have dissented. Already there have been deposited $3,695,000 bonds, not counting perhaps $1,000,000 that are in the hands of committees, and these represent interests that want the new plan to go through, and realize if it doesn't go through they will lose practically everything.

"This is a sincere effort on our part to be fair to everybody, and we trust that the friendliness of the court Saturday to this arrangement as a business proposition will be still borne in mind, as we believe this arrangement is in accordance with the opinions expressed by your honor, Justice Brewer, Saturday.

It's a Last Resort.

"We make this motion as a last resort. It is the last effort that can be made at this time to end this most embarrassing and involved tangle. The public has a right to have street car service and a change from what has been for years a disgrace to the city. This can be done only by the gradual efforts of a new corporation with sound business judgment. We believe that the court has the power to say that the bondholders who want to come into the plan may, and that those who do not want to do so may stay out."

Judge Baker took exception to this statement and expressed the opinion that the court could decide nothing on such a plan unless all the lienholders consented.

"The failure of the Chicago Railways company to accept this ordinance," went on Mr. Krauthoff, "means the ruin of all this property and all these bonds. There has been no objection by the trustees themselves in the lower court to the plan, but they merely opposed it, as they considered it a duty to their clients. Now I don't believe they will have any difficulty in convincing the bondholders that the plan is best for them."

Why Not Sale Long Ago?

"Why wasn't the property ordered sold long before the ordinance was passed?" inquired Judge Baker. "Would there not have been a bidder and couldn't all this trouble have been disposed of long ago?"

"That would have left the property open to the temptations of unscrupulous speculators," replied the lawyer, "and the property would have been dismembered. There was no delay that could have been avoided. But now we are at the last stage."

"Unless the time for accepting the ordinance is extended," suggested Judge Baker.

"There will be no extension of time. I don't know what we could ask an extension of time from the city council for. The consent of all the bondholders? No. We have no hopes of getting that. We are not willing to ask for more time unless we have some definite promise we can make to the city."

Attorney Charles H. Aldrich started to take issue with the speaker, but Mr. Krauthoff rejected the controversy and Justice Brewer motioned Mr. Aldrich to sit down. Then Mr. Krauthoff concluded:

"It is my sincere conviction, a conviction amounting to a certainty, that if this motion is not granted Saturday, Sept. 14, is the end of this street car system."

Judges Quickly Reach Conclusion.

Then Justice Brewer and Judges Baker and Seaman solemnly filed out of the room and in less than five minutes as solemnly filed back again. Justice Brewer announced:

"We have decided unanimously that the application of the appellee shall be denied and that the order of Saturday shall stand as our decision."

This practically ended it. Mr. Krauthoff made his last ditch fight to secure from the court a statement that the decision did not necessarily mean a denial of the right of Judge Grosscup to give the Chicago Railways company possession of the properties.

"It is sufficient to say the court has given its decree," answered Judge Baker. "Opinions are of no value." But Judge Seaman came to Mr. Krauthoff's aid.

"There was nothing for this court to do," he said, "but to confirm or reverse the order of the lower court. It has reversed it. What that reversal means it is the duty of counsel to study out for themselves."

Then the small army of lawyers left the courtroom. Everybody looked gloomy; even the attorneys for the victorious side were downcast.

"It means the absolute destruction of millions of dollars' worth of securities," said Noble B. Judah, speaking for his colleagues.

Next Steps in Doubt.

Considerable difference of opinion exists as to what steps should be taken to put the Chicago City company in charge of the Union Traction lines if the time now looked for comes when this will be necessary. The ordinance provides the city shall put the south side company in "peaceful possession" of the streets, and just how this is to be done if, as expected, the Union Traction company objects is not clear. That company is still the ward of Judge Grosscup's court and that the judge will try to get as much value for it as possible goes without saying.

It is conceded the first step would be for the city to make a demand on the Chicago City company that it carry out its contract to extend its service to the north and west divisions. But whether, armed with this authority, the Chicago Railways company could go into court and demand the Union Traction properties or whether the city would have to do the litigating itself the lawyers disagree.

One suggestion made was that if the Union Traction interests asked for more time a clause might be put in their extension ordinance providing that if they failed to accomplish results they should at once turn over their properties to the Chicago City company.

"The trouble with that," remarked W. W. Gurley, "outside of the question whether we will ask for any extension or not is that there is nobody in a position to make such a contract. You might as well ask me to agree to do something on condition that somebody else over whom I have no control stops drinking."

The one thing everybody is agreed on is that the contest over the surrender of the Union Traction properties will be more over the price paid than anything else. It is conceded the city can ultimately get the properties if it goes after them.

FAULTS OF GERMAN COURTS BROUGHT OUT IN HAU TRIAL.

Judge Brentano, Who Was a Listener at All the Sessions, Says Lawyers There Are Discussing Need of Reform.

German criminal jurisprudence may be altered materially in the near future as a result of the many defects in the system shown in the recent Carl Hau trial, according to Judge Theodore Brentano of the Superior court. Judge Brentano returned to Chicago last night after a three months' tour.

He made a study of the German courts. He was present during the entire five days' session of the Hau murder trial, and became convinced that American criminal courts compare most favorably with those in Germany. Talks with lawyers there led him to the belief that many changes in the procedure would be advocated.

"The Hau trial," said Judge Brentano, "brought out the mistake the Germans have made in the methods of their jury practice. The feeling was intense among the people, and every means was used by both sides to influence the jury. Under the law the jury is allowed to read the papers, separate at night, and discuss the case with friends. A juror hears more arguments out of court than he does during the sessions.

"As a whole, the dignity of the court is not msintained any better than in this country. Many times the spectators broke out into derisive laughter, or asked questions in loud voices.

"On looking over the criminal records I found that the sentences imposeds for murder and other serious crimes are much lighter than in this country."

INSISTS TILLIE TOLIN IS WIFE.

John Kennovicz, Pronounced Sane, Reiterates Odd Claim and Backs It with Wedding Picture.

Whether Miss Tillie Tolin, 463 Potomac avenue, is the wife of John Kennovicz, 155 Canalport avenue, as he steadfastly declares in the face of the young woman's equally earnest denials, is the problem which Judge Cleland will be called upon to decide on Friday at the Maxwell street court. The judge hopes that new evidence may be discovered by that time. For at present he confesses he is mystified. A mental examination has been made of Kennovicz by City Physician Baldwin, who pronounces him perfectly sane and rational. He reiterates his declarations that Miss Tolin is his wife and offers as evidence a wedding picture of himself and bride, in which a resemblance between the young woman and Miss Kennovicz may be noted.

DENEEN STRIKES FOR NEW CHARTER

ROY O. WEST IS ON RECORD

Friends of Chief Executive Say Voters Should Rally to Support of Measure.

Gov. Deneen arranged yesterday afternoon with the leaders of his ward, the Thirty-first, for a charter meeting Thursday night in the hall at Fifty-ninth and Halsted streets.

If possible the governor will deliver a speech at that meeting, pointing out the advantages of the charter, as he understands them, paying particular attention to the home rule and utility features.

Gov. Deneen had intended making a charter speech last night at Boulevard hall. At the last minute it was discovered that the hall would not be available.

The governor's trip to Jamestown is the only thing that can interfere with his presence at tomorrow night's meeting. He had planned to be in Jamestown Friday night. He will make a short speech there on Saturday, which has been set apart as Illinois day.

Governor Hears Favorable Reports.

The governor was in conference with leaders of his ward and others in the town of Lake most of the afternoon and evening at the Union League club. The reports he received were favorable in every way to the passage of the charter. There was no question concerning the majority vote it would receive in the town of Lake, and the unanimous support it was receiving from the republican organizations throughout the entire city was regarded as an assurance that it would pass with a good round majority, more especially as there was no crystallization of the opposition to the measure.

There will be held some time during the week a massmeeting in the town of Lake, but the meeting tomorrow night is chiefly for the ward workers. These include the officers of the precinct clubs and others, a total of something like 200. They already are doing everything in their power to bring out the full vote in the interest of the charter, and will be given final instructions.

Roy O. West Supports Charter.

At night, Gov. Deneen's close friend, Roy O. West, chairman of the state central committee, came out for the charter and publicly asked his friends to support it. The meeting was that of the Seventh ward Republican club, in the Jackson Park club hall, 312 East Sixtieth street, and Mr. West was the last speaker on the program. After explaining that his work on the board of review had prevented him taking a more active part in the charter fight, he said:

"It is true that no instrument drawn up by the hand of man for the governing of a great city like Chicago can suit everybody. They are always a matter of compromise, of give and take. If this one doesn't pass there will be objectors to the next one, and so on to the end of time.

"Now it has never occurred to me that this charter should be a political matter. Yet through the efforts of the democratic organization it has become so. The republican party has indorsed it and it is not a subject for factional dispute. Therefore, as a party man, as your ward committeeman from the Seventh ward, I urge you to get out and do all you can for the charter next Tuesday."

Aldermen Speak for Measure.

Ald. Snow at the same meeting said it was the duty of every citizen who has the interests of Chicago at heart not only to vote for the charter next Tuesday but to get out and see that his neighbors do likewise.

Ald. Bennett discussed the financial features of the charter and asserted that in his opinion it would not mean an increase in taxes for at least ten years. By that time, he declared, the increased valuation of real estate and the increased population of the city would make an increased tax unnecessary. Prof. Charles E. Merriam pointed out that the consolidation of the various bodies, such as the park boards, would work a saving, doing away with the increased tax bugaboo. He was followed by Ald. Milton J. Foreman, who declared that the charter gives home rule, and if the citizens do not like it after its adoption they can change it to suit themselves.

West Siders Cheer Charter.

An enthusiastic procharter meeting was held at Oakley hall, West Madison street and Oakley avenue. It was the largest meeting held on the west side during the charter campaign. The "wheel horses" of the republican party in the Tenth, Thirteenth, and Fourteenth wards were in attendance, and as the various speakers scored the telling points in favor of the adoption of the charter the audience arose and the women present waved handkerchiefs.

Fred M. Blount opened the meeting. He said that, inasmuch as the charter had been made a party issue, it was the duty of all republicans to turn out and by their votes and work aid in securing an "overwhelming triumph" for the measure at the polls.

James M. Kittleman said: "The new charter is the best charter ever given to any city on the globe, and under it Chicago will continue to progress by leaps and bounds until it realizes its destiny to be the greatest commercial city in the world."

After the close of the speechmaking Chairman David W. Clark called for three cheers for the charter, and they were given by the audience standing.

Goes on Record for Charter.

Walter L. Fisher put himself on record as favoring the adoption of the charter, "not because it is a perfect or faultless document," said he, "but because it offers a material improvement over present conditions and is an undoubted step in the right direction." He made his plea in an address before the Hamilton club at its noonday séance.

Mr. Fisher announced at the start that he did not intend to discuss the more important advantages of the charter, but that he would have something to say about the hundreds of minor features which meant an improvement in conditions but which were apt to be passed over in a discussion of the more important characteristics of the document.

Some of these features, as enumerated by Mr. Fisher, were included in the revenue sections of the document, and he dwelt at some length on the possibility it gave the city of maintaining its own street repair department, which would enable it to prevent the complete decay of a thoroughfare and at the same time would save thousands of dollars to the city treasury. He also called attention to the advantage which would enable the city to increase its bond issues and incidentally make future generations pay their share of municipal improvements. The fact that the new charter would make possible the construction of a subway by the city was mentioned as another advantage, as was also the provision for a referendum where the people wished it on all matters relating to the granting of public utility franchises.

Civil service also was touched on, and Mr. Fisher took occasion to declare that civil service experts, members of the leading civil service reform organizations, unanimously declared the features regarding it incorporated in the Chicago charter were as near perfect as possible.

Workmen Cheer Charter.

One of the interesting features of yesterday's campaign was the industrial meetings in the interest of the charter at the plants of the International Harvester company, the Chicago and Northwestern shops, Armour & Co.'s, and the Crane company works. The workmen asked many intelligent questions of the speakers. Those in the stockyards wished to know whether the streets would be improved, and cheered when they were assured that additional revenue would make that a certainty.

What the Charter Will Do.

John J. Hanberg sent out thousands of pamphlets during the day giving the chief features of the charter in plain language. These were among the points made:

It is nonpartisan, having received support of democratic and republican representatives at Springfield.

Can be amended by the council on a vote of the people.

Makes no change in Sunday closing or bar permits.

Limits taxes to 5 per cent on each $100 assessed valuation.

Taxes on small homes will be less, because only half the cost of repaving can be assessed against the property owner.

Monster Meeting at Sans Souci.

The largest out of door demonstration in the interest of the new charter, it is expected, will be the one Saturday night at Sans Souci park, under the direction of the Hamilton club. Final arrangements for this meeting were made yesterday by the organization. There will be prominent speakers, a big brass band, and selections by the Hamilton club quartet. Two hundred thousand admission tickets will be distributed where they will do the most good. The committee having the meeting in charge is composed of:

SECURES ARREST OF HIS WIFE AND HER 'FRIEND' IN EVANSTON

E. N. Olsen, Rockford, Charges Spouse and W. C. Schreiber with Disorderly Conduct—Both Enter Denial.

After searching for more than a month, Edward N. Olsen, a carpenter contractor of Rockford, Ill., yesterday found his wife, Mrs. May L. Olsen, who left his home in company with W. C. Schreiber, a former Northwestern university student, in Evanston, where he caused the arrest of the couple on the charge of disorderly conduct.

On Aug. 6, while Olsen was away from Rockford on business, his wife disappeared from the city, taking with her a 6 year old son, Edward. He found that she had been friendly with Schreiber, the son of a retired farmer living in Leaf River, Ill., who after three years at Northwestern was working as an electrician in Rockford. He was told by the depot ticket agent that Schreiber had purchased two tickets for Chicago, and the husband followed two days later, going to Evanston and securing warrants for both Schreiber and his wife. Schreiber was rooming at Davis street and Sherman avenue, and Mrs. Olsen was employed as a servant in a boarding house several blocks away.

Schreiber's age, 25 years, is more nearly her own, 27 years, than is that of her husband, and Mrs. Olsen declared that he assisted her "merely as a friend" to escape his cruelties. He persuaded her to go to the town which he had known as a student and remain there quietly until she could secure a divorce, when he would marry her. Both of them contend that they have not been together except in the presence of witnesses.

PARK FOR GHETTO DISTRICT URGED BY DWIGHT H. PERKINS

Would Have It in Most Congested Center of Nineteenth Ward—Brundage Says He Favors Plan.

Not far from Hull house, in the most crowded and poorest quarter of the city, a small park is to be established, if ambitious plans can be carried out. Corporation Counsel Brundage became apprised of the movement yesterday and said that he would assist it. Dwight H. Perkins, architect of the board of education, sent Mr. Brundage a letter favoring it and a blue print, showing the proposed park and playground.

The park, if money can be found by the city or the west park board to purchase the site, will be situated in the block bounded by Ewing, Halsted, Despiaines, and Forquer streets—the Ghetto district—the most congested center of the Nineteenth ward. This block now is occupied by the Dante school and the Juvenile Court building. It also will be the site for the proposed delinquent school. If the remainder of the block is converted into a park the entire space will be devoted to children's interests. There is no park or playground in the district at present except the owenie ground, which may be closed at any time.

"This block," Mr. Perkins wrote, "is situated in one of the densest districts of Chicago. It is inhabited almost wholly by immigrants who form their American life and habits here."

It is estimated that the cost of the site of the proposed park will be $158,200.

YOUNG WIFE ENDS OWN LIFE.

Mrs. Amy Totten Turns On Two Gas Jets in Her Bedroom During Her Husband's Absence.

In the absence of her husband, Mrs. Amy Totten, 27 years old, 2189 West Congress street, with no apparent cause, committed suicide early last evening by opening two gas jets in her bedroom. Her body was found by William H. Totten, the husband, a salesman employed by a real estate firm. He notified the police of the West Lake street station.

Hear Foreman on the Charter.

The Business Science club of Chicago held its first fall meeting last evening at the Grand Pacific hotel. Ald. Milton J. Foreman talked on the new Chicago charter.

PHONES PRODUCE DELUGE OF GOLD.

Bell company a twenty year renewal of pasturage rights in Chicago, and the grazing will not be injured to any appreciable extent by the terms of the pending ordinance.

Some opponents of the ordinance do not believe that its friends have enough votes to make a rush measure of it and get it through the council before the charter can squelch it. They have still greater confidence in their ability to modify it before it is passed. They are confident that the friends of the measure can be made to accept the amendments which have been offered or will be beaten in a fight against them.

By defeating the measure completely the council could make it possible to get an immeasurably better one, both for the city and for the subscribers. By adopting the amendments the council can secure better terms for the city and for the subscribers. By adopting it as it stands the council will hand over the telephone franchise of the city to the same old company on practically the same old terms.

McCabe's Printing Is Ready.

City Clerk John R. McCabe managed to solve his editorial difficulties during the day, and by evening a procession of boys heavily laden with copies of the council proceedings was moving from the office of the city printer to the offices of the city clerk.

When the council meets tomorrow afternoon it will be able to go to work, and the aldermen may pass a vote of thanks to Mr. McCabe for making it unnecessary to skip more than one session for the lack of minutes.

When the proceedings were available for examination it became more difficult than ever to determine why they had not been ready for the council Monday night. They contain 421 pages of printed matter, and 294 pages consist of the report of the gas, oil, and electric light committee, which had been in type over a week. The new work consists of 127 pages of the ordinary minutes of the council proceedings. The document itself offers no excuse for its absence Monday night. The late amendments which were laid to rest in the sessions of the gas, oil, and electric light committee are not included. Mr. Kunz wanted them, but his want has not been filled.

Telephone Company Extra Busy.

Both the friends and the opponents of the ordinance were hustling during the day for aldermanic votes. The Chicago Telephone company is working overtime to bring pressure and influence to bear on the aldermen in favor of the ordinance. In nearly every ward agents of the company have been circulating petitions among telephone subscribers asking their aldermen to vote for the measure.

They have succeeded in getting lists of names by obvious methods. A subscriber on a ten party line, being informed that the ordinance gives him a four party line for the same guarantee, is willing to say that the measure is a good one without stopping to think that what he is offered is an improvement which never could have been denied, and that the fight is over improvements which should be given and have been denied.

On the other side of the contest are numerous associations of business men who understand the defects of the measure and are working to influence aldermen against it. The members of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, who are backing the Manufacturers' Telephone company, are doing everything within their power to block the Chicago Telephone ordinance.

Promises a Check for $35,000.

At a conference between Attorney Maclay Hoyne, Chairman Linn H. Young of the gas, oil and electric light committee, and Attorney John Barton Payne of the Chicago Telephone company during the day, the company agreed to square its financial accounts with the city and President Wheeler promised to send the city controller a check for $35,000 in payment of the city's demands.

The telephone promoters also have decided to accept at least one of the amendments offered by Ald. Snow and Foell Monday night. This strikes out the proviso in the section giving the city power to regulate rates which would have limited the regulation merely to the telephone business of the company.

Mr. Hoyne said that as a legal proposition the proviso was merely a guide to construction and could not possibly have the effect which it had been feared it would have—of allowing some portions of the company's business to escape regulation.

Chief Questions Are Two.

He said that its effect would be practically nothing and that it might as well come out as remain. The chief contest in the council is likely to be over the questions of restricting the company's earnings to 8 per cent instead of 10 per cent and of increasing the city's compensation from 3 per cent to 5 per cent or higher.

Lawyers say that the best chance for the city to get a square deal in the bargain is to increase the compensation to an adequate proportion of the gross receipts and say that they have no faith in the restriction of dividends.

SCREAM SAVES ACTRESS' LIFE.

May Maloney About to Be Crushed Beneath Train When Friend's Shriek Warns the Engineer.

A plaintive scream by one actress saved the life of a sister actress Monday night at the Fifty-third street station of the Illinois Central railroad. The girl whose life was in jeopardy was Miss May Maloney, who plays one of the "daughters" in "The Little Cherub," and Miss Ethel Kelley of the same show was the friend who gave the timely scream.

Miss Maloney was alighting from the 11:30 train when she stepped "into space" near the platform, falling beside the wheels of the cars.

Miss Kelley's scream attracted the engineer, who stopped just as one of the wheels was about to roll upon the prostrate young woman. Several bruises were sustained by Miss Maloney.

MONEY EXTORTED; NEW JAIL CHARGE

County Prisoners Forced to Submit to Petty Graft and Pay Double Prices?

GUARDS EXACT RAKEOFF.

Daily Bulletin Prepared for Certain Lawyers by an "Inner Circle," It Is Said.

That petty extortion flourishes side by side with the elaborate system of graft that has been exposed at the county jail in the recent scandals was revealed yesterday afternoon in the discovery of a list giving the scale of prices exacted from prisoners for cigars, stamps, newspapers, and tobacco.

The figures in this list are exorbitant in every case, but the "system" is so perfected that the incarcerated customers have to "settle with the store" or go without the various articles that comprise the jail storekeeper's stock of merchandise.

Another revelation was that a daily bulletin of the prospective "law business" at the jail is prepared daily and peddled out by an "inner circle" of guards to a dozen or so of the lawyers who are willing to pay a "rakeoff."

With copies of the bulletin in their hands lawyers can be seen at all hours interviewing the "listed" prisoners. They drive as good bargains as possible.

When the inflow of prisoners is large the attorneys pay somebody $5 a week each for the two daily lists. If only one edition a day is brought out the charge to each lawyer in the "trust" is said to be $15 a month.

Charge Double Prices.

The list of prices for some of the staple articles sold at the "store" was furnished by one of the prisoners, who expects to be released in a few days. It is as follows:

Two cent stamps (not sold without an envelope of poor grade)	3 cents
One cent evening papers	2 cents
Two cent morning papers	3 cents
Five cent Sunday papers	10 cents
Five cent cigars	10 cents
Five cent package of tobacco	10 cents

"This list is never 'cut,' but occasionally is raised, the latter being the usual trick when we are known to have flashed any big wads of money," said this prisoner.

A woman who took a package of cigars to a prisoner and asked a guard to deliver them is said to have been "turned down" by the latter, who remarked:

"Nixie, lady; we sell them here in the jail; let him buy 'em."

Report of Prisoner Drunk.

A prisoner who was drunk was asked where he "got it." He answered, according to report: "O, there's ways." Morphine in large quantities can also be procured in the jail, it is claimed, though Sheriff Strassheim has announced he has placed "drugs of all kinds as well as cigarets" on the contraband list, and that he will keep them there.

Investigation of the records at the city hall failed to show that a license fee is paid for the restaurant operated as an "annex" to the store at the jail.

"I will take the matter up the first thing tomorrow morning with Chief Inspector Ball," said Deputy Chief Sanitary Inspector Claffey, "and I have no doubt one of our inspectors will pay the place a visit and make a report or recommendation in the near future."

Lawyer "Muzzles" Sheriff.

Francis W. Walker, who is Sheriff Strassheim's personal counsel, arrived from Michigan at noon. His first move was to "muzzle" the sheriff.

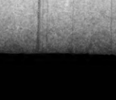

"I have advised the sheriff to stand pat and make no move either for or against an investigation of his administration at the jail," said Mr. Walker. "The statutes clearly set forth that the judges have the power to inquire into the conditions at the jail; and it seems to be made incumbent on them, in mandatory phrase, that they see to it that the sheriff and the jailer live up to the provisions of the jail laws. I have told the sheriff to be ready for an investigation by the judges and to court it, but that he has no legal right to invite or command the judges or anybody else to make it."

Mail Carriers Wanted at Once.

A special examination for clerks and carriers (males only) will be held in Chicago on Sept. 30 for the local postoffice service. It is announced that the eligible male clerk register is exhausted, and that this examination is called to provide an eligible register from which appointment may be made at once.

Mills Slot Machine Case Continued.

The case against Herbert S. Mills, president of the Mills Novelty company, charged with having in his possession forty styles of slot machines, was called in Municipal Judge Houston's court yesterday, and continued to Sept. 25. Mills was arrested in a raid on the company's plant, 22 Jefferson street, in June, 1906.

Here is a fine point for advertisers with microscopes.

When John Smith, Esq., of Smith Corners, sees a sizable advertisement in THE SATURDAY EVENING POST, he says to himself, "That advertisement must have cost a lot of money." And the advertisement gains prestige with him.

Now the truth is that that individual advertisement cost less—a great deal less—than it would in a magazine of small circulation.

And the cost of the individual advertisement, rather than of the gross circulation, is the true basis for figuring.

"Nothing is dear that pays."

McCormick Furnishes Proof It Is in Edison Combination.

PAIR OF TELLTALE LETTERS.

Drainage Official Refers to Economy Concern as a Parasite.

President Robert R. McCormick of the Chicago sanitary district offered tangible proof yesterday of his contention before the state legislature that the Economy Light and Power company of Joliet is a part of the "Chicago Edison combination."

The proof is in the shape of two circulars of which he obtained possession. One is in the form of a letter from the Economy Light and Power company to the Royal Trust company and Redmond & Co., which had purchased $2,000,000 of the Economy company's bonds to sell. The other circular is one issued by the North Shore Electric company.

Drawing attention to the circulars in a letter President McCormick says:

"The statement has been made by me that the Economy Light and Power company was one of a combination of companies, which had and proposed to keep a monopoly of all the electric power development in northern Illinois, and that it was a parasite which drew its whole existence from the $53,000,000 spent by the people of Chicago to dig the drainage canal. My statement having been contradicted, I offer circulars sent out by the North Shore Electric company, in which it claims it is part of the 'trust.' I also offer one by the Economy Light and Power company."

Economy President to Royal Trust.

In a letter to the Royal Trust company, J. L. Norton, president of the Economy company, says:

"The company has received recently from the Chicago Edison company a written proposal to take the surplus power which is now being developed at a price which will net the company $150,000 a year. The capital of the Edison company paid in is $13,614,115. This $150,000 a year added to the net earnings of the company for the fiscal year 1905 makes assured minimum net earnings of $269,683, or nearly 2¾ times the total interest charge of $100,000.

"The net earnings of the company are steadily increasing, through the increased demand for electric light arising from the continued growth of the city of Joliet and the increased demand for power. Among the stockholders of this company are John J. Mitchell, Clarence Buckingham, Chicago Edison company, Charles H. Randle, Frank C. Logan, J. L. Norton, and Charles A. Munroe."

North Shore Electric's Circular.

In the circular issued by the North Shore Electric company this paragraph is pointed out:

"The company operates in harmony with the Chicago Edison and the Commonwealth Electric companies, which practically control the central station business of producing and selling electric current in the city of Chicago, and whose business methods have forced these companies to the front rank among electric companies in the United States."

The company now owns and operates seven modern generating plants, located at Waukegan, Highland Park, Evanston, Maywood, Blue Island, Harvey, and Chicago Heights. These plants serve practically without competition about forty communities with a population of 150,000, all of which are contiguous to Chicago.

The management of the company is under the personal direction of Mr. Samuel Insull, its president. Associated with Mr. Insull are Edward P. Russell, Frank J. Baker, Charles F. Spalding, Charles H. Randle, William A. Fox, Louis A. Ferguson.

ADDITIONAL TAXES FILL CITY CHESTS.

Board of Review Sets New Mark of $105,000,000 Personal Property Assessment

LAST DAY'S WORK IS DONE

Statement Regarding the Harvester Case Dismissed and Other Points Heard.

The board of review celebrated the last day of hearing complaints on personal property assessments last evening by increasing more assessments and "digging up" more undiscovered property than has been placed upon the tax books in any one day in the history of the board.

It was a fitting climax to the year's work of the board, which already had broken many and various records. Personal property will pay more taxes as a result of the session about to close than ever before in the history of the county. Although the totals have not yet been prepared, it is estimated that personal property figures will reach $105,000,000.

Although the assessors' figures for the year on the same property are $109,195,392, it is expected that the final figures of the reviewing body shall be considerably lower than the assessors because of the scores of legitimate complaints that are heard. If the personal property values do reach $105,000,000, as there is reason to expect, they will show a smaller proportionate cut on the assessors' figures than has been recorded on the tax books in any previous year in the history of the county.

Last Day Is Eventful.

The day was an eventful one because of the crowding in of complaints and demands for increased assessments into so few hours. Special Tax Expert John W. Hill, representing the city, handed in a number of estates which were immediately placed upon the books, netting the county many thousands of dollars in hitherto untaxed property.

In these estates Attorney Hill established a precedent by searching the records of the Probate court for wills filed there since April 1. Heretofore it has been the custom to act upon such wills at the next annual session of the reviewing body. Mr. Hill's work in this way alone has added to the taxable property nearly $5,000,000.

Erbstein and Reporter Appear.

One of the incidents of the day was the sudden appearance of Attorney Charles Erbstein, representing the Square Deal Tax league, accompanied by a newspaper reporter and an affidavit in which the reporter had set forth his belief as to the proper assessment to be registered against the International Harvester company.

When President Roy O. West glanced over the affidavit of the reporter he announced that the board would make an investigation on its own account, other evidence than "beliefs" being necessary before taxing a corporation.

"We waited for two weeks for the league to present this evidence," said Mr. West. "Now all they appear to have is an affidavit declaring that, according to the best knowledge and belief of affiant, such and such things are true. We can't tax a corporation on that sort of evidence."

The affidavit presented by Attorney Erbstein stated the alleged holdings of the various stockholders of the International Harvester company. It said that Harold McCormick, C. H. McCormick, and Mary Virginia McCormick and Mrs. Emmons Blaine own each approximately $15,000,000 in the stock; that Stanley McCormick owns approximately $10,000,000 worth, and that James and Charles Deering own approximately $7,500,000 each. Several minor holders are also mentioned.

It will take some days for the board to make its independent investigation, and no decision will be arrived at until that is concluded.

Day's Greatest Increase.

The greatest increase made during the day was that on the estate of M. A. Loring, which was invoiced at $338,109. Mr. Loring, who died April 24, paid taxes on but $500 property during life.

The invoice, which was placed in Reviewer Meacham's hands during the evening by Mrs. Loring, contained the following items:

Moneys	$ 44,896.24
Stocks and bonds	178,992.87
Clothes and jewels	472.75
Insurance policies	21,620.87
Notes, good	92,450.00
Note, desperate	150.00

Other Assessments Advanced.

Among the other assessments which were increased during the day are the following:

	Assessors.	Reviewers.
Anna Averill Lawrence	$ 57,246	$ 75,000
Towell B. Hill [estate]	Nothing	50,000
William McClintock [estate]	2,500	125,000
Amanda W. Belden	4,000	10,000
Charlotte J. Ludington [estate]	Nothing	277,090
Ira P. Bowen [estate]	Nothing	18,000
Carl Labahn	12,500	100,000
George L. Bradbury [estate]	79,000	150,000
Susan T. Lombard	Nothing	25,000
Elsie Schoenhofen [estate]	Nothing	100,000
Gale Thompson	100,000	100,000
John Parmalee [estate]	Nothing	200,000
Annie M. Durand [estate]	Nothing	180,000
Marie F. Boardman [estate]	Nothing	154,000

When the evening's work was concluded Reviewer Upham thanked Attorney Hill for the work that he had done on behalf of the city.

"You have accomplished considerable, and I am heartily glad that you have assisted us," said Mr. Upham.

Additional Taxes Fill Coffers.

The coffers of the city and county will be swelled by something over $100,000 in taxes that might not have been collected but for the activity of the city in digging up taxable property. There still are several important cases which have been contested by the city to be passed upon before the close of the session, and it is likely that many of them will be settled today. Among these is that of property owned by Hetty Green within the jurisdiction of the county reviewers.

CROWING OF TWO ROOSTERS ANNOYS HYDE PARK PEOPLE.

Mrs. Glickaus and Mrs. Matthews Complain to Police of Poultry Owned by Neighbors at 33 Forty-sixth Street.

The crowing of roosters is disturbing Hyde Park residents. Mrs. Simon Glickaus, 29 East Forty-sixth street, and Mrs. M. Matthews, 31 East Forty-sixth street, yesterday appealed to the Hyde Park police to stop the early morning concerts which proceed from the throats of two birds belonging to the small son of Mrs. Joseph Styer, 33 East Forty-sixth street.

"The noise is awful, and those roosters begin crowing about 3 o'clock and keep it up until daylight," declared Mrs. Glickaus pathetically. "There are four in our family, counting the baby, and none of us gets a wink of sleep after the noise begins. Then the crowing wakes up the baby, and she cries and cries and won't go to sleep, and my husband has to get up and walk the floor, so he isn't fit for business when 9 o'clock comes. We have tried throwing tin pans, shoes, and smaller articles of furniture at those chickens, but they don't seem to have any effect. Can't you send a policeman over to muzzle those birds or wring their necks?"

Mrs. Matthews stood beside her neighbor to aid in the appeal.

The lieutenant was moved by the plea, and, saying he would see what could be done, sent Patrolman Leibeck to go to the offending chicken yard today and adjust the difficulty with the owners of the fowls if possible.

Victim of Tangled Love Tragedy.

MRS. HERMAN WESTERFIELD

DEAD IN HIS CURIOSITY SHOP

John J. Gustave Burghoffer Expires at 34 N. State Street.

OLD DOG ONLY COMPANION.

Recluse for Years, but Well Known to Collectors of Curios.

Surrounded by antique furniture, rare old books and paintings, and curios from all parts of the world, John J. Gustave Burghoffer, an eccentric curio collector, was found dead yesterday in a small room in the rear of his "old curiosity shop," 34 North State street.

His faithful old dog, Blix, which had been Burghoffer's only companion during the last fifteen years, gave the alarm which led to the discovery of the old man's death. The dog, which is more than 20 years old, ran back and forth in the store and whined piteously.

Burghoffer's body was found on a small cot which had served as his bed for many years. A revolver was found on a small table near the cot and three chambers were empty. This at first led the police to believe that Burghoffer had committed suicide. A close examination of the body, however failed to reveal any bullet wounds.

From the fact that last Sunday's newspapers lay unopened on the table at the head of the cot it appears that death occurred some time Sunday.

Long in Business in Chicago.

Burghoffer had spent more than forty years in Chicago in the business of collecting curios. He enjoyed a wide acquaintance among Chicago artists and curio collectors. During the last few months he had complained to a few neighbors who enjoyed his confidence of failing health. H. P. Meyer, 32 North State street, saw Burghoffer go for his newspapers early Sunday morning. This was the last time he was seen alive.

As he lived the life of a recluse, little attention was paid to his movements by his neighbors. The fact that the "curiosity shop" remained closed all day Monday occasioned no surprise, as he often closed up all day when going out on a hunt for additions to his collection.

Burghoffer appeared to live solely for his curios. Particularly rare objects he would cling to as tenaciously as a miser to his money. Often he would refuse high prices offered by prospective purchasers for objects which he had bought, but would not give up.

His Domestic Life Broken.

Back of the death of Burghoffer, who was born in Paris sixty four years ago and came to Chicago from France when 10 years old, is a story of a broken domestic life. He was married at Omro, Wis., in 1868, and he brought his young bride to Chicago. Three years later, after a son was born, his wife deserted him and took the child with her. She is now said to be living in Seattle, Wash.

In a dusty old satchel tucked away in an antique cabinet in the shop was found Burghoffer's will inclosed in a sealed envelope. The envelope was addressed to F. G. Berghoffer, Fairhaven, Wash. The addressee probably is Burghoffer's son, whom he has not seen since the mother took him away in 1871.

Burghoffer has conducted a curio shop at various places in the neighborhood where he died during the last fifteen years. His shop contains one of the most valuable collections in Chicago. Some of the "old masters" there are said to be worth from $5,000 to $18,000.

It is said he owned considerable real estate in various parts of the city.

BERLIN BANK METHODS SLOW.

F. W. Wile Tells Chicago Chapter of American Institute How Red Tape Hampers the Germans.

The Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Banking held its first meeting of the season, a convention smoker, in Booth hall in the Northwestern University building last night.

The program consisted of a talk on Berlin banks and banking by F. W. Wile, Berlin correspondent of the New York Times; original stories by Elias Day, reports on the recent convention at Detroit by the Chicago delegates, and musical numbers.

"There are 1,500 bank clerks in the Deutsche bank," said Mr. Wile, "and the bank occupies a building about the size of Marshall Field & Co.'s store. But one good La Salle street bank clerk can do about the same amount of work as half a dozen Berlin clerks, because of the red tape with which their system of banking is bound and which hampers them at every step."

RUSH TO OLD MAN'S DEFENSE

Even Father of Alleged Lured Girl Regards Hurford Guiltless.

BLAMES A PARK POLICEMAN.

Board of Elders of Third Presbyterian Church May Take Action.

At the thirteenth hour—that is, after Oliver P. Hurford, an aged inventor living at 174 Ashland boulevard had been convicted of annoying little girls in Union park—friends, acquaintances, and even the father of the child upon whose account he was arrested, began to affirm his innocence.

The 72 year old man was arrested Monday afternoon by Park Policeman Schultz for attempting to detain Edith Wilson, 11 years old, the daughter of J. M. Wilson, 1136 West Lake street. Accompanied by Rose Geanty, the child of a neighbor, she was crossing through Union park on her way to take a violin lesson when she was accosted by Hurford.

Municipal Judge Himes, on hearing the evidence of the park policeman and examining the two girls, imposed a fine of $200 upon the prisoner, who protested his innocence between sobs of mortification.

"I was only trying to induce the children to enter my Sunday school class in the Third Presbyterian church," he said.

He paid the fine and left the courtroom shaking from head to foot with grief.

"Unjust, Unmerciful," Friends Say.

It was not many hours later that his friends began to urge THE TRIBUNE to espouse the old man's cause as one of unjust and unmerciful treatment.

J. S. Goodman, a publisher with offices at 159 La Salle street and a member of the Third Presbyterian church, declared that a grave mistake had been made in the case.

"I have known Hurford for several years," he said, "and I could not believe he was guilty of such an offense. I took occasion to make a personal investigation and went to the home of Mr. Wilson. I talked with the girls and with Mrs. Wilson, and they all told me that nothing Hurford had said or done in the presence of the girls was at all improper or objectionable."

Girl's Father Blames Policeman.

Mr. Wilson, the father of Edith, called up THE TRIBUNE half an hour later and expressed strong views of the result of the case.

"Why, I could hardly believe that he had been convicted," he said. "Surely we, if any one, ought to know if he was guilty of improper conduct. I was unable to be in court, but I do know how my daughter, the one whom he was charged with annoying, felt about the case. She told me last night and again this evening that 'he didn't mean to do any wrong,' and that he only spoke to her and held her for a moment as old people often do.

"She was passing him when he reached out and detained her. Shy of strangers, she tried to twist away and his arm went around her waist. His remarks were all about her violin lessons and her Sunday school. The policeman exaggerated when he said that the old man tried to pull Edith up on his knee."

Mr. Wilson stated that Mr. Hurford for years has been respected in the Third Presbyterian church and that some action may be looked for from the board of elders of the church.

Arrested on Girl's Complaint.

Claude Biddinger, 30 years old, a brother of Detective Guy B. Biddinger of the Deering street station, was arrested yesterday at Twenty-second and State streets on complaint of Ella Mooney, 16 years old, 3357 Emerald avenue. She told the police Biddinger had made remarks about her being a "pretty" girl, and asked her to accompany him to his home. Biddinger will be arraigned in Municipal Judge Wells' court at the Harrison street station this morning.

W. T. Keener Returns Home.

W. T. Keener, 64 years old, 600 Clark street, Evanston, president of the Keener Book company, with offices at 90 Wabash avenue, who disappeared from the home of his son on Monday, returned home last evening shortly after 8 o'clock.

TANGLE OF LOVE A DUAL TRAGEDY.

Mrs. Herman Westerfield Is Killed by Boarder, Who Later Shoots Self.

REVELATION TO HUSBAND.

Murderer, Jealous of Former Sweetheart of the Woman, Roused by Letters.

The love tangles of Mrs. Herman Westerfield, 151 Indiana street, the pretty 26 year old wife of Herman Westerfield, culminated in a double tragedy yesterday, in which she was one of the victims.

The other victim was the woman's boarder-suitor, who killed himself twelve hours after slaying the young woman when he learned that the police were on his trail. He was Edward J. Hildebrandt, 29 years old. The others concerned in the tragedy were an unsuspecting husband, and a former sweetheart, "Billy" Murdock of Hamilton, Ont., with whom Mrs. Westerfield evidently kept up a correspondence after she married Westerfield three years ago.

Jealousy was the motive which prompted Hildebrandt to murder the woman. With little or no success he had endeavored to press his attentions on her. Then the discovery that she was maintaining friendly relations with another than her husband aroused Hildebrandt's jealousy.

This discovery came in the form of a photograph and two letters from Murdock, received by Mrs. Westerfield on Monday afternoon. She showed the photograph to Hildebrandt, unconscious of the jealous rage it aroused. All the evening while she visited with neighbors on the front porch Hildebrandt sulked in a dark room.

Hildebrandt Conceals Jealousy.

In the presence of another boarder Mrs. Westerfield talked with Hildebrandt when she went into the house to retire at 10:30. Hildebrandt engaged in the conversation a few minutes, not in the least displaying the jealous rage in his heart. It appears that during the evening he had stolen the letters written by Murdock from Mrs. Westerfield's room and read them. The letters were found, together with the photograph of Murdock, in the top of Hildebrandt's trunk.

From all the evidence the police think Hildebrandt stole into the room of Mrs. Westerfield while she slept, about 1 a. m., placed the revolver to her temple, shot a bullet through her brain, and escaped out the back way.

Mr. Westerfield is employed at night. For twenty years he has worked for the Rogers & Hall Printing company, 132 Market street. When he returned home yesterday morning he found his wife lying in bed dead.

At first the husband did not suspect Hildebrandt. The police, however, upon hearing that he had passed the first part of the night in his room, considered his absence suggestive, and detectives were detailed to search for him. They learned from Mrs. Mary Dewort and Mrs. Ida Einspar, neighbors, that Hildebrandt was in love with his landlady.

Commits Suicide in Resort.

Until Hildebrandt was reported to have committed suicide in a resort at 76 Peoria street by the keeper, Louise Mack, his whereabouts was a mystery to the police.

Among his effects the police found a card bearing the address 76 Peoria street. Two detectives were detailed to the resort.

"No such man is here," they were informed by the keeper, Miss Mack. "I will go with you to make a search of the house if you want to."

The "bluff" worked well, and the detectives left. Later it was learned that Hildebrandt was in the house when they called. About 1 p. m. an inmate of the house informed Hildebrandt that two policemen were there inquiring for him. About the same time newsboys were shouting on the street: "Extra. All about the Westerfield murder."

Hilderbrandt went soon afterward to a bathroom in the rear and shot himself in the right temple. He died instantly, and the body was removed to an undertaking room, 239 West Madison street, where it was identified by Mr. Westerfield an hour later.

The body of Mrs. Westerfield was taken to the Curtin undertaking rooms, 148 Wells street, where the double inquest will be held today at 10 a. m.

Mr. Westerfield was amazed at the evidence of his wife's actions.

"I did not suspect anything wrong," he said. "This 'old sweetheart' is a revelation to me. I didn't know she corresponded with Murdock."

The letters from Murdock were in most endearing terms. The envelope which inclosed his photograph also contained a slip of paper on which was written:

"Here are 1,000,000 hugs and kisses."

Suicide "Compact" with Himself.

Hildebrandt, nearly four years ago, made a suicide compact with himself, it appears from a note book found among his effects. The "compact" is:

"I, Edward Hildebrandt, am to die within four years of this date, June 11, 1904."

These words, written with a pencil, were found in a celluloid book. Names and addresses of persons, mostly women, of both Chicago and New Orleans, also were found, all written in the same handwriting, but the one sentence, occupying one page of the book, was the only reference he had made to his evident resolution to die within four years.

The police are inclined to think that Hildebrandt's suicide was the carrying out of this "compact" rather than the fear of capture.

From letters in Hildebrandt's effects the police learned that his home formerly was in New Orleans, where his parents now live, his father holding a high position on the police department. The young man evidently did not correspond with any relatives. Hildebrandt served as a volunteer sailor in the Spanish war. Until six weeks ago he worked as a painter in the machine shop of E. H. Wachs, 158 Indiana street. Later he found employment in the Turkish bath department of the Great Northern hotel.

The woman's maiden name was Maud Anna Sorenson. An 8 year old daughter by a former marriage is said to live with Mrs. Westerfield's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Sorenson, 1265 Colorado avenue.

GET EIGHTH CAMPBELL JUROR.

Two Talesmen Excused Because They Believe in the "Unwritten Law"—Bonzait Testifies.

Four additional jurors, making eight in all, in the trial of Amasa C. Campbell for the murder of Dr. Benjamin Harris, whom he charged with being too friendly with his wife, were accepted in Judge Windes' court yesterday. They were: Albert B. Beale, 724 Turner avenue; John T. Edwards, 5213 Indiana avenue; M. J. Woodman, 1939 Maple avenue, Evanston; and Frederick W. Zellar, 3645 Fifth avenue.

Holland Flagler, 9762 Howard street, and Fred A. Falkenberg, 1110 North Western avenue, were excused because they said they believed in the unwritten law.

The case of John Bonzait, accused of the murder of Anton Czech at the Church of the Providence of God in June, is expected to go to the jury in Judge Chetlain's court this morning. Bonzait testified in his own defense that Czech seized him and struggled with him, and that the revolver was discharged in the struggle.

Charged with Mail Fraud.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 10.—A federal warrant was issued here today for the arrest of Lloyd Miller of Toledo, alias William Russell, on a charge of using the United States mails to defraud. Miller, who already was under arrest on a local warrant, is charged with being one of a gang of four men who secured positions on the Detroit United railway as street car conductors for the purpose of robbery. It is charged that the men have also operated in Chicago.

CHARGES DEAL TO 'SOAK CITY'

Five Chicago Contractors Are Accused of Conspiracy.

MILWAUKEEAN LOSES OUT.

Taxpayer Asks Injunction in Connection with Intake Tunnel.

Five contractors who have done a great deal of work for the city of Chicago during the last few years were charged in a bill filed in the Superior court yesterday with conspiring to "soak the city" and get the contract for the construction of the intake tunnel at Lawrence avenue at a price $60,000 in excess of the bid of a rival Milwaukee firm, which was thrown out on a technicality.

The bill, which was filed by Attorney Elmer E. Beach in behalf of F. W. Saveland, a taxpayer residing at 920 Estes avenue, Rogers Park, alleges that an "illegal, corrupt, and unlawful agreement was entered into; that the firms involved agreed not to bid lower than $159 a foot for the work; and that the successful bidder was to pay $38,000 to Michael Bransfield, the backer of John P. Agnew, from whose hands the contract was taken."

Companies Involved in Charges.

The firms involved are:

Nash Bros. Construction company, 84 La Salle street.

John Hanreddy of Hanreddy & McGovern, Lincoln and Lawrence avenues.

John Doherty.

Joseph Duffy.

W. J. Newman.

The complainant declares that the David West Construction company of Milwaukee is entitled to the contract, which involved the completion of the long delayed intercepting sewer. The contract called for work on 1,370 feet. At the price at which this was awarded—$159 a foot—the price was $217,230. The Milwaukee firm agreed to do the work for $60,622 less.

Mr. Beach will ask in court today that the city be enjoined from letting this contract until the facts are looked into.

Asserts Bids Show "Deal."

Commissioner of Public Works John J. Hanberg advertised for bids for the Lawrence avenue job Aug. 9. All bids were to be closed by Aug. 31 at 11 o'clock. The bids that came in form at least prima facie evidence of conspiracy, Mr. Beach claims. They were for $245 a foot, $210, $179, $178, $159, and $114.75. The last bid was that of the David West company, whose representatives hurried to Chicago on the morning of Aug. 31.

They had a certified check for $10,000 on a Milwaukee bank. Their train was fifty minutes late and the contractors had time only to hurry to the city hall, sign the bid, and deposit the Milwaukee check before the time limit expired. For the reason that they did not have a certified Chicago check the bid was ignored. The bid of W. J. Newman was accepted at $159 a foot.

The West company offered to give a bond that it would do the work for $114 if the city would throw out all the bids and readvertise. In the original advertisement the city reserved this right to cancel bids. The West offer was ignored. Complaint was made to Mr. Hanberg on Monday, but he declared that the West firm had not complied with all the specifications.

Demand Injunction as Next Step.

The bill for the injunction before Judge McSurely was the next step. In it Saveland says:

"Prior to the submitting of the sealed proposals on Aug. 31 there was a corrupt, unlawful agreement and understanding entered into between all the local Chicago contractors who submitted bids. This agreement was that none should submit proposals at a figure less than $159 a foot, and that the successful bidder should pay Michael Bransfield $38,000 to reimburse him for expenses incurred by him as the backer of John P. Agnew, or else as the assignee of the original contract, which had been awarded to Agnew and which he could not fulfill. Newman is a man of no financial responsibility and is a mere figurehead or agent for others."

The accused contractors deny this conspiracy charge. Mr. Hanreddy said last night that he did not even know that the contract had been awarded to Newman.

F. A. GALE'S STORY STUNS CREDITORS

Heating Company's President Gives Amazing Details of Stock Manipulation.

DIRECTORS' SHARES GIFTS

As Controlling Interest in Concern Declares $25,000 Dividend and Pockets It.

As former president, promoter, manager, and controlling stockholder of the bankrupt Erie Heating company, Frederick A. Gale yesterday described the dizzy heights of high finance which he had scaled during the life of the corporation.

He was the only witness at the proceedings before Referee in Bankruptcy Eastman, but the manner in which he calmly described the manipulation and free distribution of stock, the rapid changes of funds from one pocket to another, and other details of the inner workings of the corporation kept the attorneys who were trying to master these details busy.

In explaining some of his actions he gave reasons which, in the eyes of the lawyers, looked far worse than the original actions. For instance, he explained the organization of the Frederick A. Gale company of Rockford by saying that the concern was organized only to take over a contract of the Erie concern in order to beat an employé out of a commission which he might have collected had the Erie company done the work itself.

Says Company Secured Good Will.

The Erie company, he testified, was originally incorporated for $50,000. He took all the stock. Just what the company got in return for the stock was not clear in his mind, he said, but he knew that it got the "good will" of a certain portion of the customers of the Erie City iron works and a part of the business of that corporation. A $5,000 note signed by Gale, which was among the assets of the company at that time, did not represent the amount he paid for the stock.

The directors and the amount of stock they held follow:

Frederick A. Gale "took"	5,000 shares
Miss Anna D. Nelson, Mr. Gale gave	25 shares
Mrs. Frederick A. Gale, Mr. Gale gave	1 share
George O. Durkee, Mr. Gale gave	1 share
George D. Bardon	Holdings unknown

Then, in the capacity of the controlling interest in the concern, Gale decided, some time ago, that a big dividend should be declared. So a dividend of 50 per cent on all stock was said to have been declared and he paid himself—being the owner of all the stock—the entire dividend, which amounted to $25,000.

Didn't Have $200,000 Surplus.

After this deal, he testified, he decided to issue more stock, and additional stock to the amount of $200,000 was printed on gilt paper.

"Do you mean to say that the Erie Heating company had a surplus of $200,000?" demanded Attorney W. C. Rigby, representing the creditors.

"Well, I don't think it did," replied Gale.

"You must know, however, that it is legal to declare a stock dividend only on your surplus, do you not?" insisted the attorney.

"But this wasn't exactly a stock dividend," said Gale, and the attorney let it go at that.

Gale further explained that the newly issued stock was distributed to the stockholders at the rate of four additional shares to the holder of each old share. Thus he gave himself practically all of this new issue of stock, he being the owner of practically all of the old.

Then he was questioned as to the manner in which other persons secured stock in the company. He immediately named Benjamin A. Mayer of the Continental National bank as being a stockholder.

"How much stock did he then own?" Attorney Higby asked.

"Three shares," said Gale.

"Did he buy them?"

"No, he got them from me. I gave them to him," was the reply.

"How many has he now?"

"He has twelve shares now—also given by me."

Stock Given to the Directors.

Then came the names of the various directors. The attorney asked how each of them got their stock, and in all cases the reply, with one exception, was that they "nominally" held one share, which had been given to them by Gale. The exception was Miss Nelson, who, as secretary of the concern, had been given twenty-five shares, apparently to lend dignity to her position.

In speaking of his wife Gale called her "F. A. Gale," and it was some time before the creditors realized who he was alluding to. Likewise he spoke of Miss Nelson as "A. D. Nelson."

A snag was struck when the creditors endeavored, in their efforts to trace the $250,000 worth of assets formerly held by the company, to learn what personal property Gale now had. Attorney W. J. Clandish advised him to refuse to answer, which he did.

Tomorrow morning the questioning will be taken up once more in an effort to discover whether any of the assets have found their way to Rockford, Gale's home.

ABUNDANT CEREAL FOR LAND'S NEEDS

Government's September Report Indicates Reduced but Generous Yields.

GENERAL CONDITION OFF.

Federal Statement Shows Deterioration of the Wheat, Corn, and Oats Crops.

Estimates of the nation's 1907 yields of wheat, corn, and oats, based on the government's September report and previously determined areas, with the crops harvested last year:

	1907, bu.	1906, bu.
Wheat	625,000,000	735,000,000
Corn	2,515,000,000	2,927,000,000

Although falling under the enormous yields of last year, the 1907 crops of the leading cereals will be sufficient to tide the American nation over in reasonable plenty to the next crop year, according to estimates based on figures given out yesterday by the bureau of statistics of the national department of agriculture. The government's deductions were made on correspondence at hand the first of this month. From a speculative market point of view the report was construed as bullish on wheat and oats and as about a "standoff" on corn.

The condition of spring wheat on Sept. 1 was given as 77.1, compared to 79.4 a month before, and 83.4 at the time of the 1906 harvest. On the sown area which weathered the season through the condition indicated a yield of between 215,000,000 bushels and 222,000,000 bushels, according to the par per acre used. The winter wheat yield is estimated at about 409,000,000 bushels, thus bringing the yield of winter and spring wheat up to the popularly accepted total of 625,000,000 bushels. The 1907 crop of winter and spring wheat was finally estimated at 735,000,000 bushels.

Frost Works for Deterioration.

The deteriorated condition of spring wheat is attributed to frosts and rains following a period of drought. Harvesting has practically been completed in the Dakotas and Minnesota, but there still remains much to be thrashed in the producing provinces of Canada, whose figures, of course, do not appear in the government's report.

Table on State Conditions.

The following table shows for each of the five principal spring wheat states the condition at harvest time in 1907, 1906, and 1905:

	Sept. 1, '07.	Sept. 1, '06.	Sept. 1, '05.
Minnesota	77	79	84
North Dakota	71	84	80
South Dakota	79	88	89
Iowa	80	93	91
Washington	97	75	91

Corn Shows Backwardness.

The report made the condition of corn on the first of this month 80.2, compared to 82.8 a month before, and 90.2 Sept. 1, 1906, with a ten year average of 81. The decline since Aug. 1 is attributed to cool weather, which has retarded progress of the backward crop. On an area of 98,500,000 acres, the condition indicates a total yield of about 2,518,000,000 bushels, compared to an outturn of 2,927,000,000 bushels last year, which marked the largest crop of the cereal in the history of the country. The Aug. 1 condition suggested a yield of about 2,607,000,000 bushels.

The following table shows for each of the states having 1,000,000 acres or upward in corn the condition Sept. 1, this year, and Sept. 1, 1906, with the ten year average:

	Sept. 1, 1907.	Sept. 1, 1906.	10 yr. ave.
Illinois	86	88	84
Iowa	76	95	82
Nebraska	75	87	79
Missouri	86	87	80
Texas	80	77	75
Kansas	72	86	70
Indiana	84	95	87
Georgia	92	91	85
Ohio	77	99	84
Kentucky	87	100	85
Tennessee	86	97	82
Alabama	87	93	83
North Carolina	92	85	85
Arkansas	62	97	81
Mississippi	77	92	89
Indian territory	72	95	91
Oklahoma	70	95	73
South Carolina	93	84	87
South Dakota	70	91	85
Virginia	86	91	88
Louisiana	75	85	83
Minnesota	76	92	86
Michigan	78	93	83
Wisconsin	80	95	86
Pennsylvania	70	96	88

Oats Crop Much Reduced.

The report indicates an enormous shortage in the oats crop as compared to the "bumper" yield of last year. It made the condition at the time of harvest only 65.5, compared to 75.6 Aug. 1, and 81.9 Sept. 1, 1906, with a ten year average of 82.6. The total outturn is popularly estimated at about 745,000,000 bushels, compared to a crop of 964,000,000 bushels harvested last year. Unfavorable weather and "green bugs" are largely responsible for the relatively poorer showing.

DEMANDS $5,000,000 OIL BOND

Standard Company Made to Toe Mark by Judge Grosscup.

THAT OR A FEDERAL LEVY.

John D. Rockefeller Will Not Go Surety, However, Says Lawyer.

Appeal bonds aggregating between $5,000,000 and $7,500,000 must be furnished by the Standard Oil company of Indiana before the supersedeas asked for will be issued by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Without the supersedeas the government will be at liberty to levy on the property for execution under the judgment of $29,240,000 returned against the company in Judge K. M. Landis' court.

The amount of the bonds to be required was plainly indicated by Judge Grosscup at a conference held yesterday afternoon in his chambers between the attorneys for the company and the government. The order will not be issued until next Tuesday.

Under the tentative arrangement there will be two bonds. One of these will be for $2,000,000 cash and furnished by a surety company, and the other will be what is known as a forthcoming bond to cover the value of the Whiting plant. It is this last bond which is in question and over which there will be a struggle.

Stockholders Decline Honor.

Whatever view of the question is taken by the court, the company will have its own troubles to furnish the required bond. Judge Grosscup intimated he would accept the signatures of some of the leading stockholders in the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey as surety on the forthcoming bond. Attorney John S. Miller said this could not be arranged, and following the hearing explained this by calling attention to the advanced age of such stockholders as John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, and H. H. Rogers.

First Asks Full Amount.

The question of fixing the appeal bond was taken up by Judge Grosscup in the morning, but no agreement could be reached at that time. Special Assistant District Attorney James H. Wilkerson, who appeared for the government, asked that the bond be fixed at $29,240,000, the amount of the judgment. Judge Grosscup held there was no necessity for one so large. The attorneys for the oil company were prepared to furnish a bond to the extent of $1,000,000.

The judge finally asked why levies against the company's property could not be issued to act as a lien for the judgment, and that stays of execution then be issued to protect the company until the appeal could be heard. The hearing then was postponed until afternoon.

Forthcoming Bond as Solution.

At the second conference the attorneys for both sides agreed this could not be done. It would jeopardize the interests of the government and the company, so Judge Grosscup suggested a forthcoming bond as a way out of the difficulty.

"This should be made," he said, "so as to cover all the property of the company at Whiting and would serve as a lien, being ample notification to an innocent purchaser of the judgment. Besides that I think a cash bond of $2,000,000 should be given to cover the value of the company's property not located at Whiting."

"I will take this matter under advisement until next Tuesday," said the judge.

The company pays taxes on approximately $5,000,000. Citizens of Lake county claim the plant is worth between $35,000,000 and $50,000,000, and some of them may be here to give testimony next Tuesday.

DEMANDS $100,000 AS BALM IN LIEU OF WIFE'S AFFECTIONS

Son-in-Law of Dr. Isaac E. Emerson, Wealthy Drug Manufacturer, Brings Suit Which Stirs Baltimore Society.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Dr. Isaac E. Emerson, the wealthy drug manufacturer and yachtsman, and his wife were sued today for $100,000 by their son-in-law, T. Mitchell Horner, who charges they have alienated his wife's affections. The case promises to arouse deep interest in society circles. Miss Daisy Emerson, a daughter of Mrs. Emerson by a former husband, married Mr. Horner in Baltimore in 1896 and they took up their residence at Atlanta.

Mr. Horner avers he has done nothing to cause his wife to remain away from him; that when she left him last May it was with the understanding she would return to him after a European trip with her father. He says since she left Atlanta he has heard nothing directly from her, and says in his declaration that he believes her affections for him have been alienated by her parents.

Mrs. Emerson, mother of Mrs. Horner, said tonight:

"The suit has come as a great surprise to me, as I anticipated no such action. My daughter left Mr. Horner last May for reasons perfectly well known to him, which I do not care to divulge. He knew she was going to leave him."

Mrs. Emerson said Mrs. Horner, after leaving her husband, was in a highly nervous condition and took a trip to Europe for her health. Mr. and Mrs. Horner have no children.

CRASH AT BRIDGE BOOMS BASCULES.

Accident to the Steamer E. M. Peck Forceful Example of River's Congestion.

CENTRAL PIERS MUST GO.

Ship's Failure to Make Sixty Foot Wells Street Draw Ties Up Traffic Hours.

When the big lake steamer, the E. M. Peck, crashed into the south abutment of the Wells street bridge early yesterday morning and closed the river and bridge to traffic for almost the entire day, a forceful example of the congested conditions of the Chicago river was given.

"This accident probably would not have occurred," said Bridge Engineer T. G. Pihlfeldt, "had there been a bascule bridge at that point. It is simply another argument in favor of getting out the central piers as soon as possible. There is only a sixty foot draw there. There would be 140 feet with a bascule. The tug was light. It couldn't pull the boat over in the narrow space, and when this became evident tried to drag the boat back into the draw, resulting in the accident."

Encouraging news was received in the afternoon from G. A. M. Liljencrantz, assistant government engineer in charge of the Chicago and Calumet rivers. He said that by the end of next year the harbor would be dredged in all its shallow places by the government and the shallow places along the banks of the river would receive the same attention.

Boat Shifts Part of Pier.

The E. M. Peck was loaded with 2,500 tons of iron ore. It was being towed into the south draw when it crashed into the abutment at 6 o'clock in the morning, just when the heavy rush of street traffic was beginning. The mighty impact shifted the upper part of the pier eleven and one-half inches to the west and forced the lower pling over one and one-half inches. The boat bounded back against the bridge, but did not damage it, and the vessel itself was but slightly damaged.

Thirty-five men worked under the direction of Engineer Pihlfeldt and Deputy Commissioner of Public Works Redleske. They included City Diver Donovan, who went down to see how much damage was done to the lower part of the pier. A large force of men also was employed by the Northwestern Elevated railroad company and the Union Traction company, but it was nearly 4 o'clock before street cars and elevated trains could use the bridge.

"L" Trains Stop at Kinzie Station.

The Northwestern Elevated trains could get no further than Kinzie station. The Taylor street, Southport avenue, Sedgwick street, Wells street, and Lincoln avenue street cars had to be rerouted over the already overtaxed Clark street bride or stopped on either side of the river and the passengers transferred. The river was closed for navigation.

The tracks of the elevated and surface roads were pushed out of alignment with those on the bridge, a corner of the masonry was brushed off when the piling was pushed over nearly a foot, and the sidewalk on the west side of the approach was damaged so badly it could not be used.

Engineer Pihlfeldt continued to work a large number of men on the bridge all last night and expected that at 6 o'clock this morning it would be available for teams. He said that the Calumet Transportation company, owning the boat, would have to pay for the damage and the expense of putting the bridge in order.

U. S. COURT BALKS RATE CUT.

Federal Judge in Nebraska Issues Order Restraining Railway Commission from Making Reduction.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 10.—Judge Thomas C. Munger of the federal court today issued a temporary restraining order forbidding members of the state railway commission from putting into effect the rates for the transportation of corn, wheat, and flaxseed which they now are considering or from mailing to the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Chicago and Northwestern, or the Union Pacific railway any order reducing the rates for transportation by the roads who earlier in the day had made application to the judge for the order. The order is made returnable Sept. 23, at which time the cases will be tried in Omaha before both federal judges.

BOAT TURNS TURTLE; TWO DIE.

Steamer H. A. Root Capsizes at Kenosha While Members of Crew Are Asleep in Their Berths.

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 10.—John Kody, aged 22, a fireman, and August Miller, aged 35, a deckhand, lost their lives early this morning when the steamer, H. A. Root, suddenly turned turtle while lying at the dock here and went to the bottom in fifteen feet of water. The other five men of the crew succeeded in reaching shore. All were asleep in their berths when the accident happened. The Root had been used in carrying sand and was loaded at the time of the accident. It is supposed the cargo became shifted to one side by the swells of a passing vessel.

CITY FINDS BURIED CLAIMS

Millions of Dollars in Old Lawsuits Discovered in Files.

ACTIONS TO BE REINSTATED.

Against Ex-Treasurers for Interest and Against Railroads.

Millions of dollars in old and forgotten claims of the city of Chicago have been unearthed in a housecleaning of the corporation counsel's office. Many of the claims are considered good.

They include the musty files in over 500 lawsuits instituted by corporation counsels as far back as seventeen years. Three of the claims, amounting to $500,000, are against former city treasurers for interest money.

"We expect to clear up these cases by Jan. 1," Corporation Counsel Brundage said yesterday. "Some of them are good claims and should be pushed. Many of the parties are dead, but their estates or bondsmen are responsible. We don't believe in letting these cases drag on indefinitely, burdening our docket. So we have decided to hold a clearance and bargain sale. For the next few months there will be city lawsuits at a bargain."

Sorting the Old Claims.

E. C. Wetten, assistant corporation counsel, has undertaken the enormous task of sorting out the old claims and placing them in order so they may be disposed of. The most interesting are those against the three former treasurers, two of whom are dead. These are as follows:

John M. Dunphy, treasurer from '83 to '85.$125,000
William M. Devine, treasurer from '85 to '87 125,000
C. Herman Plautz, treasurer from '87 to '89 250,000

Mr. Devine, the only one of these former treasurers who could be located last night, is traveling in Europe. He sells milk at 49 North State street and 39 Rush street and resides at 289 East Huron street.

"The estates are good for the money, even if the parties are dead," said Mr. Wetten hopefully, "if the estates are not closed, that is to say. Anyway, the bondsmen are responsible financially or the estates of the bondsmen."

A good many of the bondsmen are dead also. The bonds of the three treasurers run from $5,000,000 to $9,000,000. The sureties include David Kelly, John H. Dwight, Charles A. Munn, Charles B. Farwell, C. R. Cummings, Abner Taylor, John V. Farwell, Ferd W. Peck, E. G. Keith, Arthur Orr, Andrew McNally, Adolph Loeb, Joseph M. Greenebaum, Gilbert B. Shaw, William C. D. Grannis, Nathan Corwith, and others.

These suits against the treasurers were instituted to recover for the city interest on city funds at the rate of 5 per cent. They were started long before the state laws were passed making it illegal for the treasurers to retain such money. Previous to that the question was in doubt.

Suits Against Railroads.

Many of the other cases were brought to recover money from railroads or other corporations. The city would order a viaduct or some other work done, and, the railroad failing to do it, the city would make the improvement, afterwards suing upon its claim. Mr. Brundage has an idea a good deal of this money may be collected. It runs into the millions.

The character of the cases and the way the files were kept indicate slipshod methods in the corporation counsel's office in past years. In one case involving a claim of $150,000 it is impossible to tell from the files what department of the city started it or what it was for.

Some of the cases were started when Jonas Hutchinson was corporation counsel and Francis Adams, now on the bench, was attorney for the defense. Some of these cases came before Judge Adams after his election to the judiciary.

ILLINOIS MAYORS SUGGEST REFORMS

Plans for Municipal Advancement Urged at Convention in Bloomington.

TROLLEY BOARD FAVORED

President McCaskrin Advocates a State Commission to Regulate Lines.

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—All of the principal cities of Illinois are represented at the second annual convention of the Illinois Mayors' association, which opened here this morning.

F. M. Marstiller, former mayor of Geneva, spoke on "Municipal Sanitation." He urged greater precautions in the way of cleaner cities as protection against the most formidable forms of filth diseases, such as diphtheria, scarlet fever, and smallpox. He referred to the municipal hospital as a safeguard. He cited the New York method of dividing the city into districts, with a practicing physician in charge to report all suspicious cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria. He said the people should be taught the prevention and cure of diseases.

Factories a Big Help.

Mayor Cook of East St. Louis spoke of the factory and the city. He pointed out the great advantages that a factory is to a town. It adds to the taxable property, increases the wages that are spent, advertises a place, and in scores of other ways is a valuable adjunct to a live town, and he held it to be good policy for a city council to encourage in every legitimate way the location of manufacturing enterprises.

Roy Seeley, Springfield's city attorney, spoke on "The Legal Department and Public Improvements." He said there are no more complex laws than those which govern public improvements. He spoke of the workings of the board of local improvements and gave some valuable suggestions.

Favors Trolley Commission.

One of the features tomorrow will be the address by President McCaskrin, who has advanced ideas along the lines of legislation for the welfare of municipalities. In his remarks among other things he will recommend the enactment of a law by the legislature providing for the election by the people of a commission to be known as the electric railway commission, which will have charge of the electric railroads of the state, fixing passenger, freight, and express charges.

President McCaskrin also will refer to the law governing convict labor. He is in favor of working the convicts on public highways as a step toward solving the good roads problem. He thinks that prisoners in the penitentiaries might better be employed in this way than be at work manufacturing goods that are placed in the market to compete with labor which is not behind prison walls. He also holds that prisoners in city jails might botter be worked in the public streets than be confined in idleness.

Another recommendation will be for the appointment of a committee to work in the coming session of the legislature to create sentiment in favor of a deep waterway from the lakes to the gulf. He also thinks it would be an excellent plan to have the municipalities represented at sessions of the legislature with a lobby which will look after their interests.

NAVAL OFFICER'S WIFE SLAIN

Mrs. Frank Rorschach Murdered by Burglar at Portsmouth, Va.

SHOT WITH OWN WEAPON.

Fearless Woman Opens Fire, Then Is Overpowered and Killed.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 10.—Mrs. Mary Lawless Rorschach, wife of Lieut. Frank Rorschach of the cruiser Tennessee and sister of Joseph T. Lawless, a member of Gov. Swanson's staff, was murdered in her home in Park View, Portsmouth, by an unknown burglar early today. She was shot through the heart with her own pistol, taken from her hand by the burglar after she had fired twice upon him through an open door leading into the kitchen, where he was cornered.

Suspect Denies Guilt.

Thomas Archer, a mulatto, claiming to be in the employ of the Merchants and Miners' Transportation company, was arrested in bed at his home in Portsmouth as a suspect. The negro denied any knowledge of the crime. He was seen to enter his house at 4 o'clock this morning, forty-five minutes after the murder. His hat bore spots that looked like bloodstains and his shoes were wet. Archer says he got wet in the severe rain last night.

Mrs. Rorschach, whose fearlessness was well known, was living with her two children, aged 7 and 5. The shots awakened the oldest boy, Frank Jr., and the mother cried to the boy upstairs:

"Frank, somebody has taken my pistol and shot me. Go quickly for help."

The boy rushed for help, but when he returned with neighbors his mother was dead. Lieut. Rorschach was notified at Boston tonight of his wife's death.

Bullets Found in Wall.

While Mrs. Rorschach had a lamp in her hand the burglar was in the kitchen in the dark. She evidently heard the man and fired in the direction. Both bullets fired by the woman were found in the wall of the kitchen.

Mrs. Rorschach, with her money tied in a roll and hanging around her neck, had run downstairs by the back steps; she was found lying with her head on the second step. The pistol had been placed close to her left breast over her nightdress and discharged.

The Rorschach home is immediately in the rear of the Naval hospital woods in Portsmouth and near a lumber mill, to which negroes frequently pass. A newsboy who lives near saw a negro shortly after the tragedy running rapidly by his home towards a small footbridge.

CHICAGO WOMEN SMUGGLERS?

Try to Stop Auction of $4,000 Worth of Dress Goods at Port Huron.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 10.—Three Chicago women registered here as Mrs. A. L. Olson, Mrs. L. L. Ropp, and Mrs. Sallie Stiefel, it is said, are making strenuous efforts to prevent the auction of $4,000 worth of alleged smuggled dress goods. These were seized from their trunks, according to the customs officers, on a Grand Trunk train last Sunday. The women at first declared the goods had been worn, it is alleged, and afterwards offered to pay full duty.

Success

In a generation that appears sometimes hasty in its estimates, somewhat careless in its standards, and ofttimes mistaken in its awards, all of us, perhaps, are given at times to question whether genuineness really pays—whether the superficially good will not answer as well—whether mere appearance is not enough—whether SEEMING, is not, in its results, as satisfactory as BEING.

The answer to all these questions depends upon whether the awards of the hasty, the careless and the ofttimes mistaken are sufficient for you, or whether your contentment depends more upon realizing standards of your own; on whether mere reputation is what you seek, or whether character only will satisfy you.

Thoughtful persons know that, while reputation may pass current with chance acquaintances and strangers, character alone is coin amongst friends and with one's self—that sham may deceive every one except the shammer.

Such persons never doubt for long that reality is worth while—which accounts, in part, for the constantly widening appreciation of

CIVILIZED TRIBE OUTDATES AZTECS

Columbia Scientist Said to Have Found Relics of Ancient People.

LIKE NEW CUSTOMS LAW.

Tourists Are Delighted with Test of the Revised U. S. Inspection Rule.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, Sept. 10.

Finds Relics of Civilization Before Aztecs.

Prof. M. H. Saville of Columbia university, who arrived today from Colon, has been in Ecuador hunting for the remnants of civilization preceding that of the Aztecs. He says that he found them in the interior of the country at a place that he designated as "between 50 degrees north of the equator and a similar distance south of it and 100 miles from the coast."

Prof. Saville has written a book in which he intimated that an ancient civilization might be found in a certain part of Ecuador, and the object of his trip was to prove his theory. He says he has done so even beyond his expectations.

Tourists Delighted with New Inspection.

The new North German Lloyd liner Kronprinsessin Cecilie, in today from Bremen, Southampton, and Cherbourg, brought a delighted company of nearly 1,000 souls in the first and second cabins. They merely had to file their declaration blanks and turn them over to the ship's chief steward, A. Rabien, and he did the rest.

Of all the multitude of cabin voyagers only two got into trouble. One, C. Opperman of San Antonio, Tex., did not declare about $2,600 worth of jewelry, but he made no attempt to conceal it, leaving it in full view in his trunks. He was told that he might take it from the public stores after he had paid the duty, and he said he would do so.

The other passenger, who was not so frank as Mr. Opperman, was Jacob Shevall of this city. He had a lot of things in his clothing that made him bulge a bit from the viewpoint of Inspector Dan O'Connell. The stuff was seized and sent to the public stores.

Anna Held declared all her belongings, most of which, she asserted, are to be used in her performances. They filled twenty trunks. The gowns alone, she said, before she had even consulted her press agent, were worth at least $10,000.

Chicago Woman Drives Negro Burglar Away.

Mrs. Anna Winans, of Chicago, a wealthy widow, at present occupying an apartment on the third floor at 285 Fifth avenue, was awakened at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon by a giant negro bending over her bed. After striking the man and bravely chasing him out of the house, Mrs. Winans collapsed from fright and sat for hours with drawn curtains and barred doors, afraid to venture out.

When the negro awakened her, Mrs. Winans sprang out of bed and demanded, "What do you want?"

"Some money," replied the man.

She picked up a small chair and struck him over the head, then pursued him into the hall, striking him at every opportunity. The burglar did not attempt to resist, but picked up a small handbag on the way out.

It was not until Miss Ionia, daughter of Mrs. Winans, came home in the evening that her mother consented to leave her room. Mrs. Winans is a widow of a former western railroad man. Some years ago she erected the Ionia hotel in Chicago at a cost of $150,000. This property is now in litigation, which brought here for a temporary residence.

Enthusiastic Over European Business.

E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, arrived today from a two months' trip to Europe. He was enthusiastic over the business prosperity of the countries there, and particularly over the industrial activity of Germany and the Germans.

"The Germans are progressive, industrious, painstaking, and thoughtful, and they are getting ahead of England," he said.

Mr. Gary was questioned about the recent combination of steel manufacturers in Germany. When asked whether the United States Steel corporation had made any working agreement with this combination he said: "Some of our men have been over there in consultation with members of the combination, but no specific agreement has been made or any contract signed."

Moving Platform for Brooklyn Bridge?

Public Service Commissioners Bassett, Maltbie, and McCarroll, who were chosen as a special committee to study the traffic conditions on Brooklyn bridge and to make suggestions as to the best means of relieving the congestion, will present their report to the board tomorrow. It was learned that one of the matters to which the commission has given serious consideration is the moving platform scheme. While the report will not actually advise the installation of the moving platform, it is understood that the committee will have a lot to say in its favor and will point out that if a continuous railroad should be established on the bridge the way would be opened for equipping the new bridge subway with the same means of transportation.

Harriman Silent on Probable Mixup.

When asked what would be the probable outcome of the Illinois Central directors' meeting tomorrow, E. H. Harriman tonight answered it by simply stating that both he and J. T. Harahan, president of the road, and opponent to Stuyvesant Fish in the fistic clash at a board meeting two weeks ago, would be there.

"Do you expect anything out of the ordinary to occur?" he was asked.

"No, people don't lose their tempers twice in such quick succession. Things like that come and go, and you can't help it."

"Do you intend to make any answer to Mr. Fish's resolutions?"

"I really don't know. I have not even read them yet."

Scramble for New York City Gold Bonds.

The city's $40,000,000 4½ per cent gold bond issue was subscribed for more than four times over, according to the bids that were opened in the controller's office this afternoon. More than 900 bids were received, 886 of which will be tabulated, the others being irregular and therefore thrown out. The bids aggregated $207,156,420. The clerks in the controller's office worked until midnight on the tabulation. It will probably be three days before it will be known who will get the bonds. The sale will measure up close to the rate of 102, according to the calculations of Controller Metz and Deputy Controller McCooey.

Small Boy Is At Home Rainy Days; So Informs Young Neighbors by Card.

Four year old Lawler Joyce watched the falling rain yesterday morning with much glee. The small boy is a joy not only to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Marten Joyce, 1730 Kenmore avenue, but to all Sheridan Park.

"I 'spose I'll have plenty of company this afternoon," he announced to his mother as he saw the flooded sidewalks and streets.

"Plenty of company? What do you mean, Lawler?" asked that astonished matron.

"Why, you see, 'most everybody has got my cards. I made lots of calls the other day," answered the young man.

Then Mrs. Joyce understood. A few days ago Mr. Joyce came home with a box of small cards an inch long and half an inch wide. On the cards was printed:

L. MARTEN JOYCE.
At Home Rainy Days.

The next morning L. Marten Joyce started out with his cards. His mother thought he was playing in the yard. Yesterday she learned that he had made a careful canvass of the neighborhood and had left cards at front and back doors of two score houses. Yesterday afternoon all the children who were not in school or in the kindergarten, about a dozen, were his guests.

HOLDS FARE LAW IS INVALID

Decision in Suit Brought by the Pennsy Says Act Is Void.

VICTORY FOR RAILROADS.

Appeal to State Supreme Court for Wider Ruling Next Step.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 10.—The 2 cent fare law passed by the last legislature was declared unconstitutional by Judges Wilson and Audenreid in Common Pleas court today. An appeal will be taken immediately to the state Supreme court.

The case in which the decision was given was the suit brought by the Pennsylvania railroad in the local courts to restrain the county of Philadelphia from collecting the fine for violating the provisions of the act. The hearing in the case lasted nearly a week, and among the witnesses were President McCrea and several of the vice presidents of the Pennsylvania railroad.

The contention of the company was that the law was not constitutional, and that the 2 cent rate was fixed without any investigation on the part of the legislature as to whether the railroads could make a fair profit under the law, which the company asserts it cannot do. All other railroads operating in Pennsylvania also brought similar proceedings in various counties of the state.

The decision rendered today sustains the contention of the railroad company that the 2 cent rate is unreasonable and then takes up the legality of the act. It holds that the act does not extend to interstate commerce and therefore does not infringe on the province of the federal laws. From this point of view the court upholds the validity of the act.

Court's Reasons for Decision.

Turning to the act as it actually concerns the operation of the Pennsylvania in the territory involved, Philadelphia county, the court holds the act is objectionable on constitutional grounds for the following reasons:

As a regulation by the legislature of the rates of fares for passengers on the lines constructed by the plaintiff under the act of April 13, 1846, between Harrisburg and Pittsburg and Pittsburg and Erie the act violates an existing contract between the plaintiff and the commonwealth, and so contravenes article 1, section 10 of the constitution of the United States.

As a regulation of the plaintiff's intrastate passenger business in its entirety the act under existing circumstances is unreasonable and confiscatory, and, by depriving the plaintiff of its property without due process of law, violates amendment 14 of the constitution of the United States.

Since the taking from the plaintiff of the profitable use of its property invested in the intrastate passenger business may be regarded as a taking quo ad hoc of that property for public purposes, and since no just compensation is made therefor, the act violates article 1, section 10 of the constitution of Pennsylvania.

Viewed as an alteration or revocation of the plaintiff's franchise to establish and enforce over the lines of road that are now operated by it and that have been leased or otherwise acquired by it since May 8, 1855, such rates as, within the maxima fixed by the second proviso of section 21 of the act of April 13, 1846, its president and directors may deem reasonable, the act under consideration violate article 14, section 10 of the constitution of Pennsylvania because it does injustice to the corporators of the Pennsylvania railroad company by establishing so low a maximum rate of fare for the carriage of passengers as to render that branch of the plaintiff's business unremunerative but providing no compensation for the loss thereby occasioned.

The decision concludes:

"We accordingly adjudge that the act of April 5, 1907, cannot be enforced so far as concerns the Pennsylvania railroad company, and that the county of Philadelphia should be restrained from demanding fines and attempting by action to collect them, if the maximum which that act attempts to establish be disregarded by the plaintiffs."

Nebraska Roads Get Injunction.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 10.—The Burlington, the Northwestern, and the Union Pacific railways this afternoon secured an injunction in the federal court to prevent the state railway commission from reducing the freight rates on grain, and will contest the authority of the commission in the matter.

RIVAL MOOR RULER LOSING

Power of Mulai-El-Hafid Reported to Be Waning.

ARMISTICE IS FRUITLESS.

Gen. Drude Will Renew Hostilities When Health Improves.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Although France and Spain have scrupulously avoided taking sides in the struggle for the sultanship of Morocco there are indications that they feel that at present Sultan Abd-el-Aziz has more followers than his brother, Mulai-el-Hafid.

Premier Clemenceau announced today that he had particular reasons for believing that Abd-el-Aziz would go to Rabat, and that he had been reliably informed that Mulai-el-Hafid's popularity was on the wane among the tribesmen who previously had sworn allegiance to him.

In the absence of dispatches from Casablanca the French government assumes that the armistice between Gen. Drude and the Moors was fruitless, as was expected, and that the French commander will assume the offensive as soon as he recovers his health. It is added that the general's condition is not serious.

W. U. PRAISES OFFICIALS FOR 'SUCCESS IN LATE STRIKE.'

Executive Committee's Resolution Indicates Belief That Struggle Is Over—Small Still Optimistic.

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—If the striking telegraphers hoped for any change in the attitude of the Western Union Telegraph company as the result of the meeting of its executive committee today they were disappointed. The committee referred to the strike as "the late" strike in a resolution adopted, indorsing the stand taken by the the officials since the trouble began.

Gen. Supt. Brooks of the eastern division of the company said today after the meeting that all that the board of directors is likely to do at its meeting tomorrow is to pass on the dividend.

"I cannot see anything the strikers can do," he said, "but to declare the strike off. Any move made now to end the strike must be made by the strikers. We have the strikers beaten and we will keep it that way."

National President Small of the telegraphers issued a statement in which he said: "While everything is in favor of our winning the strike, we enjoy the unique position of being winners if we lose. Fully 2,000 operators have accepted positions with other companies, principally railroads, since the strike began. Were the strike declared off tomorrow there would not be enough available men to fill the positions. We have several chances to win and none to lose."

Charging that girl strikers among the telegraphers have been spending their "strike pay" for bonbons and shirtwaists instead of for more necessary articles, the union leaders yesterday announced that no more money will be disbursed among the strikers. A crowd of operators received the announcement at the Brand's hall mass-meeting with angry disapproval. A large number besieged the strike headquarters afterward with demands for their weekly "benefits," but the officials remained firm.

"The union will not undertake to keep you girls in candy," said Chairman E. M. Moore of the local executive board, when a delegation of young women applied for money. "Some of you have been buying shirtwaists, too, with the dollars we need to fight the Western Union and Postal."

LETS ROLLER CRUSH OUT LIFE.

Crowd at State Fair in Milwaukee Sees Maniac Commit Suicide in Spectacular Manner.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—In the presence of thousands of persons at the state fair this afternoon Frank Farles of Decatur, Ill., an inmate of the Milwaukee sanitarium, threw himself under a steam roller and was crushed to a jelly. Farles had gone to the fair in charge of an attendant. He broke away as the roller passed them and threw himself in front of it. He was instantly killed. Many women saw the big machine go over his body. Farles was about 40 years of age and is said to have been a machinist who lost his mind trying to invent machinery.

VANCOUVER RIOTS LAID TO YANKEES

London Times Declares Proof Is Positive American Agitators Incited Attack.

ALL TO IMPRESS ISHII.

Disorders Planned to Give Jap Envoy False View of Conditions on Coast, Is Theory.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Times this morning in an editorial article says it is convinced that there is now full and ample confirmation of the belief that the anti-oriental riots at Vancouver were actually organized by American agitators, "the men whose intrigues brought San Francisco under the domination of Ruef and Schmitz."

Continuing, the paper says it believes "this shameful riot upon British soil was gotten up by officials of American labor organizations for the purpose of conveying to M. Ishii, the member of the commercial department of the Japanese foreign office who is now at Vancouver, the feelings of the labor element of the Pacific coast."

Accounting for the race prejudice evidenced in such disturbances, the paper says: "The plain truth is that on account of his thrift and industry, quite as much as on account of the low wages for which he works, the Asiatic is detested as a dangerous competitor on the labor markets, which the laborites want to keep as a monopoly in white hands."

In conclusion, the Time says: "The rights of all men who visit British soil, whatever color or race, must be unflinchingly upheld by the whole authority of the local government and the imperial crown."

Planned for Ishii's Benefit.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 10.—Every indication is that the Vancouver riots were carefully planned to impress K. Ishii, chief of the bureau of foreign commerce. It is significant that the leaders of the Seattle organization against Japanese immigration were in Vancouver heading the demonstration.

Frank W. Cotterill, president of the Washington State Federation of Labor; A. E. Fowler, secretary of the Anti-Japanese and Corean Immigration league; George P. Listman, a prominent Seattle labor leader, all were present, together with a big delegation of American anti-Japanese sympathizers.

Japs Ask Hindoos to Join.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 9.—[Special.]—A combined Chinese and Japanese organization of Vancouver this afternoon made overtures to the Hindoos to join them in an industrial strike all along the British Columbian coast. The Hindoos refused.

Chinatown and the Japanese quarters tonight are guarded in every direction by the police. Threats made add to the seriousness of the situation.

Tokio Sees No Trouble.

TOKIO, Sept. 10.—The foreign office has received a dispatch from the Japanese consul general at Ottawa saying that the Canadian government will express its regret for the recent race riots at Vancouver in which several Japanese were beaten and many shops destroyed, and take steps to prevent further trouble. An official of the foreign office said:

"We have the utmost confidence in the Canadian government as we also have in that of America. Commissioner Ishii's dispatch says that the disturbance will soon be quelled and that there is no reason to expect its repetition."

The accounts of the demonstration, published in the Tokio evening papers, caused no excitement. The people, like the government officials, regard as foolish the idea of a troublesome complication. No editorial comment is contained in the evening papers. A few of the morning papers discuss the matter dispassionately.

BRITISH AIRSHIP A SUCCESS.

Trial of Army's New Auxiliary Is Highly Satisfactory.

YANKEE GUIDES MACHINERY.

Flying Structure Promptly Obeys the Steersman in High Wind.

FARNBOROUGH, England, Sept. 10.—The first military and dirigible balloon built in this country made two trial trips today, and, with the exception of a slight hitch caused by the breaking of a belt in the machinery that drove the cooling fan, the airship answered all the expectations of its inventors.

Airship Easy to Handle.

The English airship proved capable of being easily handled, able to travel with and against the wind, and, most important of all, capable of being steered. The balloon was in charge of Col. Capper, Capt. King, and F. S. Cody, an American, who guided the machinery.

After making a semicircle of about two miles around Farnborough and Cobe common, an accident occurred to the engines, and in spite of the throwing out by the aeronauts of ballast, of which the airship carried eight hundred pounds, the balloon settled down near some trees. The main defect which was developed is only slight and can easily be remedied.

During the trip the wind blew at the rate of fifteen miles, and the airship had no difficulty in navigating against it. It rode gently like a vessel in a seaway. The machine, responding to the movements of the canvas sail-like rudder, traveled in a wide circle of about two miles in circumference at the rate of about five miles an hour.

Mechanism Is Work of Art.

At the second trial the machinery worked with perfect smoothness. Various evolutions were performed and the ship completed a three mile circle at an altitude of about half a mile. It then descended not far from its shed.

This new airship is a sausage shaped balloon about 100 feet long by 30 feet in diameter. It has a lifting capacity of about one ton, which, after deducting the weight of the car, engines, and other apparatus, permits the carriage of a crew of three men of the average weight. The car is shaped like a boat and built of aluminium and canvas. The petroleum for the motors is carried in two torpedo like cylinders above the car. The engines are so constructed that the exhaust vapor is turned into gas and carried up into the balloon above by means of a tube.

GOV. HUGHES WELCOMES G. A. R. TO ENCAMPMENT AT SARATOGA.

Many Speakers at Convention—Women Present Silver Jubilee Offering—Veterans Ready to Elect Officers.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 10.—With the formal welcome of Gov. Charles E. Hughes the forty-first National Grand Army of the Republic encampment was opened in the convention hall this evening.

In addition to the governor many speakers of note in the Grand Army of the Republic made addresses.

At the meeting Mrs. Carrie Sparklin of St. Louis, Mo., national president of the Women's Relief corps, presented to the Grand Army the silver jubilee offering, which was raised by the Women's Relief corps posts in commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization.

Indications tonight point to the election of Charles G. Burton of Nevada, Mo., as commander in chief, to succeed Commander Brown. There are five candidates in the field. For senior commander it is probable that Lewis E. Griffith of Troy, N. Y., will be chosen, and for junior commander C. C. Royce of San Francisco appears likely to be elected.

RUSSIAN COUNTESS A MODERN SIREN.

Amazing Story Reveals Karnovsky Woman as Lure to Ruin and Death.

HER FASCINATION FATAL.

One Man Who Sought Her Slain, One Made a Thief, and Another Murderer.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

VIENNA, Sept. 10.—All the circumstances of the murder of Count Komarovsky at Venice last Thursday have now been unfolded before the Austrian police, who are holding the Countess Karnovsky, the fiancée of the nobleman, a prisoner here.

The police place the countess apart among historic women for whom men will commit crime. Not only Count Komarovsky, who was murdered, but the Moscow lawyer, Priluköff, who is a prisoner here, and the actual murderer, and Naumoff, who is a prisoner in Italy, left their wives, their children, and their possessions and ruined their careers to follow her over Europe.

According to a confession made by the countess, this is her story:

She has known Prilukoff for three years. He was her lawyer in her divorce case against her husband, and thus they fell in love. He committed an embezzlement in Moscow and they fled together last spring to Vienna, where both lived at the Grand hotel under assumed names. Then they traveled to France and Berlin.

Deserts Lawyer for Count.

May last they lived for some time at the best hotels in the latter place, and then the first separation occurred. She went to Russia. Prilukoff did not dare follow her. He went to Paris and sent the countess telegram after telegram imploring her to meet him in Vienna, but she refused to do so. In the meantime she had joined Count Komarovsky, whom she had known years before, and went with him to Berlin. Prilukoff followed her there and they had a violent meeting. There were criminations and recriminations. She told Prilukoff that she was determined to marry the rich count and leave him, but that she was willing to pay him half the money which he had embezzled.

It is certain that the countess gave him $20,000. On the same night she sent her maid with a request that he return half that sum. He refused.

Third Man in Love with Her.

The countess explained to Count Kamorowsky that she had been robbed and, believing her, he promised to give her the amount. Two days later there came another telegram from Prilukoff asking forgiveness and making a rendezvous at Munich. Explaining that she had got a clew to the man who had robbed her, the countess persuaded the count to leave Venice with his son and daughter while she went to Munich to meet the Russian, promising to follow the others later. The countess and Prilukoff had a reconciliation at Munich and when she started for Venice three days later he accompanied her to Verona.

Later on he arrived at Venice, and at a secret meeting there she confessed to him that a young Russian noble, Nikolas Naumoff, was madly in love with her. So wildly jealous was Prilukoff that she had the greatest difficulty in calming him by endearments. Then came the first idea of the murder plot.

She and Prilukoff agreed that Naumoff would be a splendid tool. She alleges that Prilukoff suggested to her the idea of using Naumoff's jealousy of Kamorowsky, telling him that the count had treated her in a shameful manner, although she was betrothed to him. This so excited Naumoff that he determined to shoot the count.

HEMORRHOIDS SORES AND ECZEMA

Accompanied by Terrible Itching—A Complicated and Most Distressing Case—Well-known Remedies Failed to Cure—Doctor Thought an Operation Necessary—Then

CUTICURA PROVED ITS WONDERFUL EFFICACY

"I am now eighty years old and one morning, three years ago, I was taken with a hard pain in my right side. In two days I had an attack of piles (hemorrhoids), bleeding and protruding. The doctor gave me some medicine and an ointment for them which helped me some but I had to keep using them all the time. Then I changed to the P—— remedy; but if I did not use it every day, I would get worse. The doctor said the only help for me was to go to a hospital and be operated on. At this time, about a year ago, I went to using the S—— remedies. I tried them for four or five months but did not get much help for my piles. During this time sores would come on a fleshy part of my body. They bothered me all the time. I would get one healed and another would come. These sores changed to eczema, accompanied by a terrible itching. It seemed as if I could not keep my hands from tearing my flesh. This and the pile trouble brought on an inflamed condition. Then I got the Cuticura Remedies. I washed the affected parts with Cuticura Soap and warm water in the morning, at noon, and at night, then used Cuticura Ointment on the irritated surfaces and injected a quantity of Cuticura Ointment with a Cuticura Suppository Syringe. I also took Cuticura Resolvent Pills three times a day. It took a month of this treatment to get me in a fairly healthy state and then I treated myself once a day for three months and, after that, once or twice a week. It is fortunate that I used Cuticura. The treatments I had tried took a lot of money that I would have saved by using Cuticura Remedies sooner, but I am wiser now. I am supplied with a full set of the Cuticura Remedies and would not feel safe without them. J. H. Henderson, Hopkinton, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y., Apr. 26, 1907."

WORMS

"I had for years suffered from what medical men called Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach. In August I purchased a box of Cascarets and was surprised to find that I "had 'em"—not a wiggling, squirming mass left me. Judge our doctor's surprise when I showed him thirty feet, and in another day the remainder (about the same length) of a tapeworm that had been sapping my vitality for years. I have enjoyed the best of health ever since. I trust this testimonial will appeal to other sufferers."

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

The WELL DRESSED MAN

By FRANK J. WALDRON
Designer for the House of CAPPER & CAPPER

THE EXCLUSIVE AND GENERAL IN FALL FASHION—COMMENT ON AUTUMN SACK SUITS

Details of autumn fashion show that the lover of extravagant changes in dress is foredoomed to be disappointed. In general style nothing radical will be found this year in either business attire or evening dress.

The autumn season now opening is a season of repetition distinctly devoid of new departure in the cut and finish of coat. Therefore, exclusiveness of design is more attainable by unique simplicity than by extremity of model. It is this that the house of Capper & Capper have attempted in smart ready-to-wear clothes for fall.

It is a mistaken impression of the average well dresser that in order to be an advance, a new style must show some novelty, some distinct embodiment never before seen. The truth is that although there has been a gradual evolution in men's clothes taking place for a number of years, this movement has required frequent retracing of steps. Thus it is that the return to the short coat has been gradual although the very short sack coat for some time has been known as an assured attendant of a season not far in the future.

THREE-BUTTON AUTUMN SACK COAT.
Designed for the House of CAPPER & CAPPER.

WAISTCOAT FOR SACK COAT.
Designed for the House of CAPPER & CAPPER.

The fall coat of the best dressed men is short; sufficient in decision to be recognizable as another step back from the extreme length of 1905. Shoulders are of medium height, natural on the best models, without padding beyond that necessary to retain firmness of contour. The correct autumn shoulder is shown in the illustration accompanying, although the cut of the sides prevents best illustration of this point. Better the model points the broad high cut lapel and close spaced three button front, each of which is a pronounced feature of autumn vogue.

Of course it is to be understood that no one model alone completely can show the type of a season's dress. While length of lapel may be found in coats of fashion, the more exclusive are shown prominent in the above two points. Back and side cuts exhibit no extremity of fit. Waistcoats are snug, but lower in the cut of the neck. Corners are straight or conservatively rounded, and especially do the best autumn coats cling to simplicity of sleeve.

BY CHARLES DRYDEN.

More rain, more rest, is the way the athletes feel about it. The drizzle which set in at noon yesterday knocked out the opening combat between Cubs and Cardinals. If climate permits they will double up this afternoon in the farewell appearance of the Cardinals.

At the same time Secretary Seekamp of the St. Louis club will come in for a piece of easy money long overdue. There is a tender vein of romantic justice involved in his case. In order that the gentle peruser may understand it we will step a few paces to the rear and relate the details.

One week ago last Sunday night Cubs and Cardinals infested adjoining coaches on the ride to St. Louis. A few moth eaten straw hats nestled on the domes of the athletes and others connected with the expedition. During the night the players raided the coaches and wrecked some hats. Among them was the lid of Sec. Seekamp. When the genial Sec. beheld the ruins he said it was no joke and that somebody would have to suffer. It was an outrage sending Mr. Seekamp home in a baseball cap, but the trouble was to locate the guilty wretch.

Redress Is Demanded.

The St. Louis player who stuck his foot through the hat told the Sec. the Cubs were the jokers and that they should be compelled to pay for the damage. As Mr. Seekamp could not locate the individual he approached Charley Williams with a proposition to hold out $10 of the gate receipts at one of the St. Louis games. That was carrying the joke too far, Williams said, and the Cubs departed from St. Louis leaving the straw hat unpaid for.

But the alert Mr. Seekamp could not be baffled, buffaloed, or derailed. The Cubs had done him dirt and must pay for it, which is no more than right. He bobbed up at the local club headquarters yesterday morning with a new proposition. Since the straw bonnet was a bit weather worn and about to be called in anyhow, Mr. Seekamp offered to chop $4 off the original damage claim of $10 and hold out $6 from Tuesday's gate receipts. Owing to the absence of Mr. Murphy this plan was not acceded to, but Managers Chance and McCloskey got together and fixed up a pleasant little surprise for Mr. Seekamp.

Gets Pay for "Lid."

The managers agreed to give the worthy secretary the entire proceeds of the second game in today's double header, the money to be expended in buying sweat bands for the derby Mr. Seekamp has been wearing since the ruthless and wanton destruction of his lamented straw thatch. Now will the rowdy athletes of both leagues be good? For years they have made a practice of smashing hats on or about Sept. 1. This is the first time within our knowledge that a lid so destroyed has been paid for, thanks to the persistence of Mr. Seekamp. Should his action lead to the breaking up of this boisterous practice the athletic world at large would be benefited. A joke is a joke, but there is such a thing as carrying it too far.

Problem Confronts Commission.

As the time for the world's series approaches, the national commission is confronted by a grave problem in the selection of umpires. The great battle for supremacy in the national pastime requires judges of play competent in all departments of the game, who are absolutely impartial and who will spend the $400 allowed them to the best advantage. Suggestions as to who shall handle the indicators are coming in and the commission is, no doubt, wrestling with the problem.

Heretofore the practice has been to parcel out the plum, selecting the star man from each league and having them alternate behind the bat and on the bases throughout the series. For instance, Mr. O'Day and Mr. Connolly worked together in the series between Pittsburg and Boston. Next season Mr. O'Day and Mr. Sheridan doubled in balls and strikes, while the Giants and Athletics were fighting it out, and last fall Messrs. Johnstone and O'Loughlin impressed the beholders in brand new suits of blue.

Rule of Rotation.

By the rule of rotation, Mr. Hurst and Mr. Emslie should get the job this year. It would be manifestly unfair to assign Mr. O'Day, as he has been in twice. However, in justice to Mr. O'Day, it must be said he dressed for the part more expensively than any of his contemporaries, besides digging down deep for a cab to and from the polo grounds.

As for Mr. Sheridan, he drew the plum on the strength of his retirement after twenty years of faithful service. The fact that Mr. Sheridan has retired permanently a couple of times since then should carry no weight with the commission.

Viewed from all angles, the only logical selections are Mr. Hurst and Mr. Emslie, who should be hooked up blindfolded to insure uniform interpretation of all plays.

GIANTS' FINAL GAME AT HOME.

Boston Beats McGraw's Men in the Getaway Contest of New York's Season.

New York, Sept. 10.—The final game scheduled for the season at the polo grounds resulted in a defeat of the locals, Boston beating them by a score of 3 to 2. Score:

SOX ARE IDLE AT ST. LOUIS.

Rain Makes a Double Header Necessary for Today.

SMITH AND WALSH ON SLAB.

Jones' Men Want Field Day to Be Made an Annual Feature.

BY SY.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The storm which knocked Cleveland out of it's final date of the year here yesterday had a hangover which lasted until nearly noon today, compelling the postponement of the first game of the White Sox final series in this town and necessitating a double header tomorrow.

The world's champions were dumped at the Union station this morning in a pouring rain, which had been on the job for over twenty-four hours. There was no chance for a scrap, but just before noon the rain ceased and the sun commenced driving back the clouds. The local management waited until after 2 o'clock, hoping the grounds might be fit for a game, but the soaking they had received proved too much for them and the order was phoned to the players at the hotel to discontinue dressing and prepare for overtime work tomorrow.

Smith was expected to pitch today's battle and probably will be used in one game tomorrow, while Walsh may work in the other. He is expected to join the team here in the morning from Cincinnati.

The International Machinists' association is conventioning at the Southern hotel and cramping the players' quarters slightly. The chief difficulty, however, has been inability to get as many as usual into the jack pots, necessitating an overflow game in some other room.

The machinists are assembled for the purpose of making the eight hour law universal. One of the delegates overheard the order being slipped around the lobby, "Game off, double header tomorrow," and started a crusade among the players to agitate for pay and a half for overtime in such cases. One of his victims was the hoss del mundo who admitted the scheme would be all right if the players would permit docking their salaries a "time and a half" for each postponement, and the lay delegates owed that angle of the situation had not hit him before.

All the Sox here are in good shape. Four were left at home—Sullivan and Altrock to nurse bum hands, and Quillin and Owen. Walsh, the other absentee, was the club's only representative in Cincinnati.

Manager Jones and most of the Sox favor the idea of making the field day plan inaugurated by Herrmann a permanent affair, but think it should be held as a side show to the world's series each fall. In that way and at that date it would be possible for all the teams in the country to be represented by their star performers, but if continued like the present affair, the two clubs scheduled in the city where the event is held have an advantage. The American league, it is pointed out, could not spare its players to compete in Cincinnati, because of the close race, which makes it hazardous and unfair to all contenders to weaken any team in order to send competitors to a field day. It could be held the day before or during the world's series without these handicaps.

Tonight the weather has cleared and the outlook is for fair and warmer weather.

YANKEES WIN DOUBLE HEADER.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—New York scored two victories over Washington today by the scores of 1 to 0 and 5 to 3. Only one hit was made off Doyle in the first, and costly errors lost the second. Jones' batting and base running were the features. Scores:

CRITICISMS HURT PUGILIST BRITT.

Native Son Seeks to Defend Himself from Charge of Being a Quitter.

SUFFERED INTENSE PAIN.

Says Blows of Gans Had No Effect, but Condition Forced Retirement.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The concensus of sporting opinion here is that Britt should have gone on with the fight with Gans even if it resulted in a knockout, as his disablement was not serious enough to justify quitting and thus throwing down his backers. The fact that he had his arm put in plaster immediately after he reached home, so that other doctors were not able to examine it also told against him in public opinion.

Britt evidently feels this criticism keenly, for he said today:

"The fans surely have no reason to doubt my gameness. I demonstrated time and again that I won't lie down for punishment, and I certainly have been punished many times more than I was yesterday afternoon. I was not at all distressed in the fifth round. My wind was perfect and I was strong—just getting into trim, in fact. I would have improved as the fight went on. None of the blows Gans landed on me hurt.

"I fought a round and a half with my left hand limp. Everybody knows I do all my work with my left, and I was as helpless as a baby without it. Still I went in and tried to finish the fight with right swings. I suffered excruciating pain in the injured arm, and after a round and a half of backing away and swinging with my right I saw it was hopeless for me to continue."

Britt says he wants a return match with Gans, but the doctor says he cannot train for six weeks.

SILER RETURNS TO CHICAGO.

Veteran Referee Comes Back from Iowa Much Improved in Health—Plans for Testimonial.

George Siler, the veteran referee, arrived in Chicago yesterday after a seven weeks' stay on the farm of his relative, Dr. C. Cole, at Oelwein, Ia. He rested up at home all day and towards evening visited a few downtown friends. Siler looks much better health than when last seen on the streets of Chicago and says he took on over fifteen pounds. Yesterday he weighed 150 pounds, against 135 pounds when he left Chicago.

The farewell testimonial which his friends are getting up is rounding into one of the biggest successes of its kind ever held in Chicago. Yesterday a check reached the headquarters from W. F. Mussey, the billiard ball proprietor. Mr. Mussey in his letter says the billiard world disputes with the fistic fraternity in claiming Siler all its own. "George Siler has thousands of friends among the billiardists," writes Mr. Mussey.

Kid Herman added his check to the Siler fund yesterday.

Louis Houseman, who is to be local agent for the Gans-Britt fight pictures, says he expects some of the films here by Friday.

ONE good thing about brown for men's clothes; it's becoming to nearly everybody. It "dresses well" with the fancy shirts and the new neckwear and the snappy new shapes in Stetson hats. We've the best lot of browns you ever saw.

YOU'LL be surprised when you see how varied a line of fabrics in various kinds and shades of brown the mills have produced. We haven't counted them, but we should say there were hundreds of patterns here in browns alone, to say nothing of the grays and other new patterns, as well as blue and black.

Plaids and stripes of an almost endless variety; worsteds, cheviots, tweeds; and the models are in the latest and most favored styles. Prices, $20 to $50.

HAT styles this fall seem to be made for every taste; there are several very smart blocks in brown and black stiff hats; we'll satisfy any head you bring to us. For the sporty young fellows, also, a big line of the soft, telescope-crown, turn-up-or-down brims in a number of new shapes at $3.

John B. Stetson quality is well known to everybody; $3.50; and the Stetson "Special" at $5, exclusively here.

Edwards Is Champion.

Kenneth P. Edwards and Mason E. Phelps reserved the playoff of the final match for the club championship for yesterday afternoon, ladies' day. Edwards won the title, finishing 3 up and 1 to play after having a long lead on the out journey. Phelps was a bit off on the first nine holes, making 45, while the little La Salle street business man turned in a finely played 38, and was 5 up. He won the tenth hole and was 6 up, but from that point on Phelps played in something like his true form and cut down his opponent's lead. Edwards finished with 80 and Phelps with 84.

Traffic Golfers' Tourney.

The fall tournament of the National Freight Traffic Golf association will be held at the Exmoor Country club Sept. 18 to 20. Two flights of sixteen will qualify on the first day for the National Steel and Wire Challenge cup and the H. W. Beyers trophy.

First and second rounds of the two flights will be played on the second day and a thirty-six hole medal play event for those not engaged in match play. Semi-finals and finals in the two flights will be played on the last day.

In the morning there will be an eighteen hole match play event, open to all except semi-finalists. Sixteen will qualify and match play will be by comparison of cards. An eighteen hole handicap open to all except the finalists will conclude the tournament.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE IS BOOMING.

Fifty-three Clubs Enrolled in Local League—"Eckersalls" to Be One of the Number.

An enrollment of fifty-three teams was shown at the meeting of the Chicago Football league last night. Among the newcomers was a team to be led by Walter Eckersall, the famous ex-Maroon, which will enter the middleweight division of the league. Among the players who, it is said, will be with the Eckersalls are St. John, Fagin, Meyer, Duncan, Bob Baer, Dick Henry, Reggie White, and James Johnson. The Eckersalls will play at Anson's park.

The Hurons, last year's champions, will play at Logan Square park. The Silver Swans will play at Artesian park, and on the team will be Pollard, the former North Division star. The Rogers Parks will play at Gunther park.

The league is expected to have a prosperous season.

High School Athletic Notes.

Coaches Stewart and Parker had the Hyde Park squad out in the wet yesterday.

Harold Shippy, son of Chief Shippy, is a candidate for a place on the North Division football team.

Walter Steffen, the maroon half, will coach the North Division squad for the alumni game on Saturday.

The Englewood team took practice in the gymnasium. Conklin is reported as being behind in his school work.

GENERAL BASEBALL NOTES.

Answer to query, Cleveland, O.—Yes, it is still possible for the Cubs to lose the pennant, but it is mighty improbable they will. It is necessary for the Cubs to win some more games before they have the pennant absolutely sure provided Pittsburg is not defeated again.

Albert Merker, the star pitcher of the Swift baseball team, has won seventeen out of nineteen games this year. Last Saturday, pitching for the Deerfield team of Shermerville, Ill., he retired the crack Senecas without a hit at Fifty-seventh street and Center avenue, the one run of the Senecas being due to a wild throw.

"Kid" Trimbles Wants Matches.

"Kid" Trimbles, the colored lightweight of Melbourne, Australia, is looking for matches. He appeared several years ago at Hot Springs, meeting Oscar Gardner and Young Peter Jackson. In England he went twenty rounds with Bobby Dobbs. Trimbles has volunteered his services for the Siler benefit.

TWENTY-FOUR CARS NAMED.

Large Entry List Is Received for Economy Run on Friday.

MACHINES ALL HOMEMADE.

Start Will Be from Garfield Boulevard and State Street.

If all start—and it is believed every one will because of the entry fee conditions, which provide for the return of half the fee of $30 to those who come to the tape—twenty-four cars will take part in the Chicago Motor club's economy run to Valparaiso, Ind., and return on Friday. The final entries were received yesterday and all of them are of American make.

Fifteen different makes are represented, water cooled, except the Knox and Corbin. There is only one six cylinder, the Stevens-Duryea, named by Louis Geyler, and one roadster, Joseph E. G. Ryan's Oldsmobile. The Holsman is the only high wheel buggy type, and one of the Berliets is fitted with a limousine body. The only four cylinder runabout entered is the Ford, and the Holsman is the only two cylinder in the affair.

No. 13 has been awarded to Charles W. Price's Maxwell, the sealed bonnet car which went 5,000 miles without lifting the bonnet.

The run will start at 7 o'clock a. m. from Garfield boulevard and State street, going through South Chicago, Hammond, and Highlands to Valparaiso, then returning over the same route. The pilot car will be a Ford six cylinder, and its duty will be to see that an average pace of twenty miles an hour is maintained for the century.

CONFER ABOUT ASCOT RACING.

Col. Hamilton and George Rose Say the Turf Situation at Los Angeles Is in Unsettled Condition.

Col. A. W. Hamilton of Mount Sterling, Ky., presiding judge of the Ascot park racetrack, arrived at the Annex yesterday for a consultation with George Rose, the principal stockholder, in reference to the racing situation in Los Angeles. Just what the outcome of the tangled state of affairs on the coast will be none of the parties interested is prepared to say. It is hoped by some that Ascot park will be permitted to run this winter, despite the fact that it has been voted into the corporate limits. The report that Barney Schrieber, George Rose, J. D. ("Curley") Brown, and "Big Tim" Sullivan of New York would be interested in a racing venture at Venice, a beach resort near Los Angeles, is laughed at. The Baldwin proposition at Arcadia may be entertained, although the impression prevails it were better to build a new plant on a tract on which the Ascot club has an option. This matter will be determined when Rose reaches Los Angeles and is more fully informed on the situation.

ROYAL TOURIST TAKES FEATURE.

Sandringham Colt Wins Autumn Stakes at Sheepshead Bay in a Romp.

SPEEDY ROSEBEN VICTOR.

All Age Sprint Goes to the Older Horse, with Big Weight Up.

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Running close to the ground, and looking every inch a racehorse, H. P. Whitney's Royal Tourist, the colt by Sandringham-Leisure, won the Autumn stakes, for 2 year olds, at Sheepshead Bay this afternoon. The youngster made a runaway of it from the start, and covered the distance in 1:11, a record for the race over the new six furlong Futurity course, and a fifth of a second faster than Colin's time for the Futurity. Royal Tourist won in a romp, with four lengths over August Belmont's Half Sovereign. The latter took the place from Fred Cook's Johnnie Blake, an added starter, which was under the whip through the last quarter of a mile.

The handicap was a two horse affair, between C. R. Ellison's Temaceo and Eugene Wayland's Ampedo. At the start Dugan took the track with Ampedo, while Notter waited with Temaceo. Ampedo was full of running, and breezed home a winner by a length and a half. The "wise coin" was on Ampedo, and that caused some criticism of the way the other colt was handled.

Swain Rides Bad Race.

Because of a raw case of rattle on the part of G. Swain, who rode Druid in the second race, Royal Lady won the event by an eyelash. Druid had Royal Lady beaten to a turn fifty yards from the wire, but G. Swain stopped riding and sat up straight, while Royal Lady came again and got the verdict. Mary F. was a poor third, beating Cloisteress by a head. Lotus was always outrun.

BILLIARD TOURNEY IS SURE.

Americans Take Steps Toward Arranging International Match

COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED.

Body Will Work Out a Plan in Line with French Suggestion.

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—J. Ferdinand Poggenburg, Dr. A. B. Miller, and J. G. Jenkins Jr. were appointed today as a committee to draft arrangements for the proposed amateur international billiard contests. Their appointment was made by Frank J. Howell, president of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players, who will serve ex officio on the committee.

The three Americans, who represent respectively the Liederkranz, the Amateur Billiard club of New York, and the Hanover club, while President Howell represents the Chicago Athletic association, will at once frame plans to submit to the Federation des Sociétés Françaises d'Amateur de Billiard with the view to having the French amateurs play in this country.

The committee will work out the plan and its action will be made known at the meeting of the association which is to be held at the Liederkranz on Oct. 2. At that time the formal acceptance of the French challenge for international matches will be forwarded to the president of the French organization, together with the ideas that appear most feasible to the Americans for bringing the competitions about.

A member of the committee said today that an effort would be made to hold the matches in this city next March and probably a week after the American national amateur championship. He believed the style of play would be 14 inch balk line.

BOWLERS PLAN BIG TOURNEY.

Sixteen Experts to Compete in Series to Decide the Chicago Individual Championship.

Representatives of fifteen bowling alleys met yesterday afternoon at Mussey's alleys and took the initial steps to institute an individual Chicago championship, modeled after that rolled in New York. Frank Brill, while in the east, was much impressed with the popularity of the big championship there, and thinks it will prove interesting here.

Another alley will be taken in, and the sixteen representatives of these alleys will compete in a round robin series for a trophy and seven cash prizes, with a number of smaller prizes for special performances. Preference for Sunday night play was expressed by most of those present, to avoid conflict with regular league dates. Otie Leonard, Charley Mountain, and Joe Leabel will draw up the schedule.

Play will start the second week in October. Each match will be the best six out of eleven games. Following are the alleys entered: Mountain, Jiruska, Philpot, Steele, Bruck, Shaw, Horndorf, Mahoney, Faetz, Kloempkin, Leonard, Mussey, Wass, Stehne, and Kappes.

A meeting of the Newspaper Bowling league was held yesterday afternoon at Mussey's alleys. Five teams are in line, the latest being the Durkins. It was decided to play games on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoons, instead of on Sundays, as in previous years.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

According to dope, sporting ethics, etc., Batling Nelson has no more reason for claiming recognition from Joe Gans than Mary Alice Lawrence would have demanding a match with Roseben.

We don't know what Hughey Jennings is getting, but he's earning every cent of it.

Please look on this or the adjoining page for an example of the St. Louis idea of a joke.

Roosevelt, like Jeffries, will step into the arena again if the championship is liable to fall into the hands of the enemy.

With cheerful familiarity the king of Spain commends his chances to the deity even in the naming of his racing yachts. The one of his which recently was trimmed by the American sonder klasser Spokane sailed under the name of Dios Salve.

Batling Nelson requests fight dopers to throw out his fight with Britt and string with him in his next fight with Gans. Another fight between him and Gans is inevitable. It is about the only proposition the fight promoters have to conjure with.

With Al Kauffman and Jack Johnson runners-up in the heavyweight championship it is no wonder that the bloated shadow of John L. Sullivan should be held up as the apotheosis of prize fighting. When Kaufman and Johnson are as long out of the game as Sullivan has been the public will not care to take the trouble to recall who they were.

Frankie Neil, one time bantam champion of the world and still a marketable commodity, recently was married at Jackson, Mich., to an actor lady. Jim Neil, the boy's father, was wroth when he heard the news, as he did not see how Frankie could support him and a wife, too, but upon later discovering that the happy bride did not purpose being a dead head in the enterprise he pronounced the paternal blessing.

George Rose declares he is not interested in "Lucky" Baldwin's Los Angeles racetrack. We might add that news coming under this head should be marked "perishable," as it is subject to hourly contradiction.

Whirlwind Shorty is the name of the new 132 pound wonder. He is at present trying to start something at Los Angeles.

In our report of the proceedings of Monday's meeting of the Western Jockey club we omitted saying that action upon the applications of Hugh Penny, Burt Knapp, Patsey Freeman, and Cash Sloan for jockey licenses was postponed and will be taken up later.

Speaking of the "western invasion," the New York papers are hyphenating the names of Corrigan and Condon. That looks like a strange blend, but it is not at all impossible in the light of what has happened in the last six months. One touch of pocketbooks makes the whole world kin.

We are approaching the time when the combination of delinquent hair cut, the 6 hat, the 44 chest, and the 12 shoe comes into its own.

Mr. Wellman's —— to the pole has been delayed by those —— head winds, but he has secured a good set of moving pictures and expects to make an indoor affair of it.

We hope Ralph Rose will not go as far as Ben Donnelly did in making a profession of his amateurism.

The bowling champion of Texas began his business career setting up pins. He now owns a cigar store with a handbook in the rear. And still they say there is no chance for a young man in this country.

Lest you may have overlooked it, Bradford won the pennant in the Interstate league. You will remember that we predicted this last February.

Umpire Rigler would be a good man to send out after ducks.

Is this widely circulated Hickman a great ball player or a successful fourflush?

President Roosevelt should be a busy man this fall. He is dated up for a wild boar hunt in southwestern Texas, a turkey shoot in Wyoming, and a roping contest in New Mexico. In addition to this he is billed to stalk ostriches in southern California.

Of course, we understood the pantomime suggestions of Fielder Jones and Napoleon Lajoie that as great as they are they can't play the game all alone. We understand that either one could win a pennant or two if properly assisted, but what can they do with the bunches of mutts they are surrounded with? Yes, yes; we understand.

New Half Mile Track Record.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 10.—The Bear, a 3 year old owned by T. R. Lawrence of Hot Springs, Ark., broke the world's running record for a half mile track in the Kansas Derby today. The Bear left the entire field and ran ahead alone. He came under the wire in 1:41¼. A year ago last spring the horse was bought by S. H. Cardwell of Hot Springs for $50. He was trained by Lawrence and later bought by him.

HIGHBALL WINS $10,000 STAKES.

Trots Three Straight Heats at Syracuse, N. Y., Fair in 2:06¾ Each.

SONOMA GIRL IS THIRD.

Great Mare Shows Flash of Speed, but Wilkes Heart Gets the Second Money.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—In three heats of 2:06¾ each the mighty Highball defeated his great rival, Sonoma Girl, and a good field today in the 2:14 trot for the Empire stakes of $10,000. The best the mare could do was third, Wilkes Heart beating her for second money.

The race was the feature of today and it was won in commanding style by Highball, with Geers behind him. Highball still limped in jogging, as for some time, though his lameness apparently was gone when he began scoring.

As for Sonoma Girl she trotted with remarkable steadiness, considering her season's record for wildness, but she seemed soft and leg weary after her recent rest and could not maintain the pace. As it was, she gave Highball his only real race in the third quarter of the first heat, which the pair traveled in thirty seconds. She then dropped back beaten and was no longer formidable.

Geers also won with Ardelle in the 2:05 pace, which the mare captured in straight heats with comparative ease. Rudy Kip forced Ardelle to step at a lively clip on the stretch in the second heat.

The weather continued threatening during the second day's program of the grand circuit races at the state fair, but it did not rain until just before the fourth heat of the 2:12 trot. This heat was raced in semi-darkness, and the finish was postponed until tomorrow.

It's the pride of all banquets—it is nothing but wine;
It's healthful and wholesome—a draught that's "divine."
If you only once try it you will crave it again,
For the wine of perfection—it's Great Western Champagne.

The quality of fruit and soil that made fame for French Champagnes of long ago has been attained in the vineyards of the makers of

Great Western Extra Dry Champagne

Great Western received a Gold Medal at the Paris Exposition for quality—the only American wine to receive that honor and acknowledged equal to the finest French wines.

The natural soil conditions, combined with the real secrets of champagne making, secured by us at considerable expense, makes possible this superior Champagne.

Because of the absence of duty Great Western costs 50% less than the imported.

In Great Western you receive all wine value.

LARGEST 2 CENT CIRCULATION IN THE WORLD.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1907.

A HINT TO SALOONKEEPERS.

The police cannot keep down crime. The force has been enlarged, but there has been an increase in the number of criminals or in their boldness. Though the streets are better policed than they were, it is not safe to travel them. There must be more patrolmen.

To have them the city must have more revenue. If it is unable to get the revenue in one way it must in another, since the need of a stronger force is urgent. Life and property must be given better protection than they now have.

If the charter shall be adopted next week the money with which to pay the salaries of a sufficient number of patrolmen will be forthcoming. Furthermore, park policemen would be subject to the orders of the chief of police and available for other than purely park duty. If the charter were to be beaten this would not be so, and the money for increasing the force would have to come from the same source from which that for the last increase was drawn—saloon licenses.

There would be no way out of it. The community would demand more policemen. As they could not be paid out of the limited receipts from taxation, liquor licenses would have to be raised from $1,000 to $1,200 or $1,500. There would be many aldermen who would hate to do this, but their constituents would drive them to it.

The brewers and saloonkeepers are not smart. Instead of placarding the town against the new charter they ought to be its warm supporters. It is the only thing that can save them from a higher license rate.

HOMES FOR AMBASSADORS.

A well known Chicago business man who has visited a number of European capitals during the summer is outspoken in his condemnation of the policy of the United States respecting its embassies. The unfavorable opinion made upon him when he first compared the homes of American ambassadors with those of representatives of other nations is intensified with each visit abroad. The fact is the United States government does not make proper provision for its diplomatic corps.

It is a subject as old as the government itself, and the feeling about it at home is easily understood. For a century there has been a deep undercurrent of sentiment which Jefferson phrased in the words, "Honest friendship with all nations, entangling alliances with none." He himself went so far as to declare in an official paper his belief that the country would be better off without any representatives abroad. Even when he made concessions to the feeling that we should have a few ministers, he desired to limit the number to less than half a dozen. There is little doubt that a large number of American citizens have joined him in thinking that the best way to keep out of difficulties is to let the rest of the nations go their way while we go ours.

The animated discussions which arose at different times regarding the proper dress for our diplomatic representatives often led to the expression of similar thoughts. The American ambassador should wear the same dress as any other American gentleman. He should not be influenced away from simple democratic ideas by the brilliant garments of other diplomats. He should be firm when national interests demanded it, but, as a rule, he should not seek to glorify his country or win honor for himself as his country's representative. The less he had to do with world matters the better he would represent his nation.

When the United States played little part in international life, when few Americans went abroad, such ideas easily appealed to the majority. Now our people visit the capitals of the continent by the thousands each year and have a chance to make comparisons. Our national outlook has broadened until it covers the globe. We have taken a place as a world power. In the councils of the nations our delegates win respect and take the initiative in important proposals. Our trade girdles the earth. We sell in every market. We buy wherever articles are offered for sale. We claim justly to be one of the greatest and most powerful countries in existence.

Under these changed conditions there is much strength in Mr. Revell's argument that the United States should own embassies which will compare favorably with those of other countries. As it now is, our representatives live in rented apartments inadequate for the purposes of diplomacy and far inferior to those occupied by ambassadors from nations less powerful and wealthy than we. In some cases wealthy men have paid out for rent far more than the total salary received from the government in order to make a proper showing for our country and to get adequate office room. In every prominent embassy now it is true that none but a rich man can afford to represent a nation which has boasted for so long of democracy and equality of privilege. The honor of being an ambassador is a pleasant one. But it costs dearly.

The measure introduced into congress at its last session in the interest of homes for ambassadors did not get far. But it is a fit subject for consideration and should be pushed during the coming winter.

NO "JAMMING THROUGH."

He who goes slowly goes safely. The council should bear that in mind when it takes up the telephone ordinance tomorrow. Hasty action in a matter of so much importance would have a suspicious look to it. The aldermen who tried to "jam it through" would be counted among the "gray wolves," no matter how good their previous records might have been.

A committee has had the telephone question under discussion for over a year. The council cannot be expected to dispose of it in one or two sessions. The community would not complain if it gave up weeks to discussion. It would be something of an assurance that the action finally taken was honest and intelligent.

A few aldermen are thoroughly familiar with the ordinance and the amendments that have been suggested. Most of the other aldermen are quite in the dark about them. They are, or should be, desirous of a general debate for their own instruction. The information they need to enable them to vote intelligently cannot be imparted in one session.

The one subject of the city's and the stockholders' shares in the earnings of the company deserves an evening's debate to itself. It is a question of municipal revenue for the next twenty years. It involves the principle of the limitation to a reasonable figure of the dividends of public service corporations which have monopoly privileges. The committee has recommended a 10 per cent limitation. That suits the American Bell company, but is it for the interest of this community? There are aldermen who, if given time, will explain why it is not.

The Chicago Telephone company is in frantic haste to get the ordinance passed, although the one it is working under has over a year to run. That is evidence that the ordinance is for the company and not for the people. Its hurried passage by the council without sufficient debate and amendment would be evidence of aldermanic corruption.

THE NEW CHARTER.
NO. 10.

The people of Chicago have supported three great park systems, but have had no voice in their government. Two of the systems have been managed by boards appointed by governors, who usually have made appointments calculated to strengthen their political fences in this city. The other has been in the hands of men selected by the Circuit court judges. The appointing power being a little nearer home, that system has been better cared for than either of the others, but it has kept the bench in politics.

Under the new charter the appointing power will be brought still nearer home for all the parks and they will benefit by it.

The charter will relieve the Circuit court judges of a quasi-political, nonjudicial duty. It will strip the governor of power he never should have had and give it to the mayor and the council, the chosen agents of the people. The charter creates a city department of parks, with a board of nine commissioners, to be appointed by the mayor with the consent of two-thirds of the council. Three members have to come from each of the grand divisions of the city. Thus the special needs of none of the parks will be neglected. The aldermen will look after the interests of their constituents and refuse to confirm bad appointments if any shall be made.

Under the charter there will be unity and harmony in park management. The proceeds of the taxes voted by the council for park purposes will be distributed equitably among the different parks. There have been times when one suffered for lack of funds while another was more than amply supplied. The cost of park management necessarily will be reduced when all the parks are under one head.

At present park employés are outside the civil service law. Under the charter it will apply to them, with the exception of the superintendents. There will be no more park patronage. The men whose duty it will be to maintain good order in the parks will be in all respects an integral part of the city police force. They will be detailed for park duty by the chief of police and paid out of the funds of his department. The chief of police has no control over park policemen now, no matter how grave an emergency may arise. Under the charter he would control them and would have a larger force at his command in case of a riot.

The people of Chicago are proud of their parks. They have proved it by their liberal contributions. They can safely be intrusted with the control, through their immediate representatives, of the parks. It is a reflection on them to insinuate, as some do, that they are unable to use wisely the authority to govern their own parks which the new charter grants them.

BETTER NAVIGATORS WANTED.

Tuesday morning a heavy freight boat crashed into the abutment of the Wells street bridge. The boat was not injured seriously enough to detain it, but the full use of the bridge was interrupted for several hours and the damage done to the abutment will take some time and money to repair.

In the course of time all the center pier bridges will have to be replaced by bascule bridges, there is no doubt of that. But it will be many years before the river will be clear of obstructions. In the present case it was not the bridge or the center pier which was injured, but the abutment, and that might have happened in the case of a bascule bridge, with even more serious results. Tugmen and lake captains ought to be more careful. There was a time when the lake commerce was the life of Chicago, but now such an accident causes a greater loss to the people of Chicago than any boat on the lakes is worth to its owners or to the city.

It is not long since Rush street bridge was injured by a steamer running into it before it began to turn. In these and the other numerous accidents of the kind it is to be observed that usually the vessel is proceeding with the current. Chicago differs from the other lake ports in the possession of a river with a strong current, and those who handle vessels must bear this in mind. Yet this difficulty is no greater than that which is faced and overcome at thousands of ocean ports where there is either a strong river current running out to sea or a tidal current sweeping backward and forward twice a day. If Chicago is to continue to handle a tonnage greater than that of most ocean ports of this or any other country the conditions as they actually exist must be the object of more careful study.

In the Wells street bridge accident it is not clear whether the tug or the steamer was at fault. If there had been another tug at the other end of the steamer the accident would not have happened. That much is clear. It ought not to be necessary to repeat the experiment many times before it is definitely ascertained just what measures must be taken to get a large, heavily loaded vessel from the lake to its dock without damage. Bridges are too important to the city to be knocked down. It would be better to make permanent, immovable bridges and take everything up and down stream by lighters than to have these accidents continue to be a matter of frequent occurrence.

It must have been a severe slap on the wrist that Gans gave Britt. Prize fighting is becoming almost brutal.

Then, again, Congressman Burton is a much handsomer man than the Hon. Tom Johnson.

Riches do not always take wings and fly away. Sometimes they take fins and lose themselves in water.

Some persons have strong prejudices. A Chicago man sacrificed a full beard a few days ago because he thought it made him look like Artist Earle.

In Boston the tribe of Sullivans has increased to such an extent that it now ranks next to the Smiths in the city directory. A few Emersons still reside there, but they don't occupy as much space as formerly.

Uncle Joe Cannon, whose barn was struck by lightning the other day, is in favor of increasing the tariff on thunderbolts.

Suffering loop! Are more extensions of the elevated system about to go into operation?

Also our democratic friends will concede that Gov. Yonson of Minnesota is a good nord by west man.

It may be spoken of in general terms as the traction unsettlement.

"I never discuss ancient history," says Mr. Depew. Never tell ancient stories, either—do you, Chauncey?

Artist Earle, of "affinity" celebrity, "may give up painting for awhile." Probably expects to be busy thinking.

The Union Distraction company doesn't see how it can possibly get along without further time.

Passengers waiting at street corners would be glad if the "distance between cars" could be made even shorter.

At any rate, Sheriff Strassheim's management of the county jail is such that no wise crook will try to break into the institution.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Had His Fears.

Interested Friend—"How are you coming out in this traction reorganization?"

Magnate—"Little end of the horn, I'm afraid."

One Example.

Ambish—"Is there anything in this story writing business?"

Naggus—"Is there? Rich girl fell in love with story written by friend of mine and married him. Should say."

In the Darksome Past.

Guy Fawkes was trying to blow up the houses of parliament.

"The blamed newspapers won't do it!" he said.

When it was too late to escape, however, he found it would have been much safer if he had gone around and dynamited a few gamblers instead.

Its Righteous Grievance.

The ant that had been trying to sneak its way into the sugar bowl on the dining room table was hurrying to escape the girl with the crumb brush.

"What consummate hypocrites human beings are!" muttered the ant. "They hold me up as a pattern of wisdom and industry, and yet when I attempt to be the least bit chummy they come down on me like a thousand of brick!"

Startling Reminder.

"Wot's the name o' that there big steamer that's comin' acrost the ocean?" asked Mosely Wraggs.

"The Lusitania," said Wareham Long.

Mosely Wraggs furtively drew the remnants of a handkerchief from a crevice inside his ancient coat and wiped his eyes with it.

"Gosh!" he said, "how that name brings up ole times! I courted a Lucy Tannehill wunst!"

Wrong Impression.

Dinglebats—"Didn't I catch a glimpse of you walking across Michigan boulevard the other morning when I was out in my motor car?"

Himpsley—"Not much. You caught a glimpse of me dodging across it." C. W. T.

"MILK TEST" BABCOCK.

[From the World Today.]

Sixteen years ago Dr. Stephen Moulton Babcock announced through a tiny bulletin, a small, paper bound, few leaved circular, a most humble affair, "a new method for the determination of fat in milk adapted to creameries and cheese factories." The bulletin was sent to a few hundreds of people. It gave no hint of the enormous economic influence of the discovery so simply set forth.

But this discovery has increased the wealth of nations by many millions of dollars and will continue so to do to the end of time; it is the basis of transactions around the globe, running into many thousands of dollars per day; it has been adopted by the butter and cheese makers of every nation in the world; without it the present advanced position of this important feature of modern industrial life would have been impossible.

Prolonged study led the chemist to the conclusion that any determination of the real value of milk must rest upon chemical action and mechanical force. He knew, for example, that sulphuric acid would dissolve all the solids in milk save the fat, the actual richness of the milk. He knew that a rapidly revolving receptacle would tend, by centrifugal force, to throw forward a liquid confined in a bottle in the receptacle. He combined the two and made the Babcock milk test.

He constructed a machine to put the test in practical operation, primitive in its fashion, but covering all the essential points. I saw this machine not long since, a simple looking affair, which has traveled tens of thousands of miles and has been seen by tens of thousands of people at great expositions in America and abroad.

Reviving a Tired Honey Bee.

[From the St. Nicholas Magazine.]

The honey bee is proverbially industrious. When everything goes well with it no form of animal life has more vigor, works more zealously, nor defends its home more bravely.

But the bee soon loses its activity when separated from its home so that it cannot return, as, for example, when it gets into a room and fails to find its way out. Cold rain or lack of food also soon puts it into a feeble or exhausted condition, making it appear as if it were discouraged. But nearly all of its usual activity may be restored by a little sugar or honey.

His Language.

Mrs. Cussem—"Why did you take the parrot out of the room?"

Mr Cussem—"He's just beginning to learn to talk, and I thought it was best to keep him out while I was putting on my new shirt."—Brooklyn Eagle.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

Copyright: 1907: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

GEN. DON FRANCIS DE BOURBON Y CASTELVI having married his first wife in New York in 1877, the announcement of the engagement of the eldest son born to this union to his cousin, Dona Henrietta of Bourbon-Seville, may be said to possess a certain amount of American interest. The young people are described as "prince" and "princess," but have no right whatsoever to the title, being the descendants in the second generation of a morganatic marriage contracted by their grandfather, the Infant Henry, duke of Seville, and brother of the late King Francis of Spain. In fact, the title of prince does not, strictly speaking, exist in Spain excepting in the case of the heir to the throne, who is prince of Asturias, and of the prince de Chalais, a dignity originally bestowed upon Talleyrand and inherited through the female line by young Count Henri de Bearn, formerly secretary of the French embassy at Washington, and married to Miss Beatrice Winans of Baltimore. There are no other Spanish princes. All of the full fledged members of the reigning family bear the title of "infant" or of "infanta," but not of "prince." If they are not full fledged royalties they have to content themselves with the prefix of "don" or "dona" to their Christian names unless they happen to possess the title of "duke," "marquis," or "count."

The young Bourbon whose engagement is announced, and whose marriage is about to take place at Madrid, is Don Francis Henry of Bourbon, captain of the First regiment, known as that "of the king of Spain." His father, Gen. Francis of Bourbon-Castelvi, made himself ridiculous some years ago by putting forth pretensions to the throne of France as a descendant of King Louis XIV. of France, of the latter's grandson, Philippe, duke of Anjou, who became king of Spain as Philippe V. in 1700, and as a great-grandson of King Charles IV. of Spain. His pretensions were never treated as serious by the French government, which did not consider it necessary to subject him at any time to the decree of exile applied to those other pretenders, the duke of Orleans and Prince Victor Bonaparte, and it was merely because King Alfonso objected to any of the field officers of the Spanish army exposing themselves to ridicule that he finally intimated to the pseudo duke of Anjou that he would have to either drop that title and his pretensions to the French crown or resign his commission as a Spanish major general and its emoluments. Since then the general has rendered himself conspicuous by his presidency of a gambling club at Madrid and by his issue of a challenge to the prefect of police who was responsible for the raid of the establishment and for his arrest.

He is a son of that Infant Henry of Bourbon, duke of Seville, who, after having been jilted in his youth in favor of his dwarf brother, the late King Francis, by Queen Isabella, acting under compulsion of her infamous old mother, was ultimately shot and killed in a duel at Madrid in 1870 by the late duke of Montpensier, brother-in-law of Queen Isabella and her most cruel foe. The Infant Henry had married a lady of illustrious but not of royal birth, Dona Elena di Castelvi, and although the union is officially described in the Almanach de Gotha, etc., as "morganatic," yet the ceremony was performed at Rome by no less a personage than Pope Pius IX. By this union the Infant Henry had five children, the eldest of whom, Don Henry, inherited his father's title of duke of Seville, but not his royal status. This second duke of Seville died after his return from the Philippines, where he had been filling a colonial appointment, and it is the eldest daughter of his marriage to a bourgeois lady of the name of Josephine Parade, who is now duchess of Seville in her own right, this title being shared, Spanish fashion, by her husband, Don Juan Monclus y Cabanellas, whom she married in London and with whom she lives in Barcelona, where he is in business.

Of Infant Henry's other children, one of them, Albert, has received from the crown the title of marquis de Santa Elena and is a colonel in the army. Another, Marie, is married to Col. Charles Maquieira of the Spanish army, while the other is Gen. Francis of Bourbon-Castelvi, mentioned above as the father of the young fellow who is about to marry the second sister of the present duchess of Seville.

Gen. Francis of Bourbon has had many strange ups and downs, and his two marriages have had the effect of placing him beyond that want to which he was subjected in his younger days. For it was in the winter of 1872 that he was reduced to such extremities in Paris that he was found starving in the streets, actually begging for alms and forced to spend the night among the tramps and vagrants on the benches of the Champs Elysées. Fortunately for him, he was recognized by a Carlist nobleman, who took compassion on him and recommended him to Don Carlos, at that time recruiting adherents for his last insurrection. Don Francis fought under the orders of Don Carlos throughout the rebellion, and at its close transferred his sword, like many another Carlist officer, to the late King Alfonso, who gave him a commission in his own army. Subsequently he married in New York a Cuban heiress, Marie Della Torre y d'Armanderos, and after her death about ten years later, he wedded the daughter of a wealthy Hebrew banker, who became a convert to Catholicism in order to render the match possible. He has a large family of children by his two marriages, the elder of whom is now about to marry his cousin.

Among the new forms of persecution to which royalty, and especially personages of sovereign rank, are nowadays subjected is that of being accosted by perfect strangers whose friends or confederates seize upon that moment to snapshot them with kodaks. The photographs thus obtained show the stranger, who is sometimes a man and as often as not a woman, engaged in apparently friendly and intimate conversation with the monarch, and are then used by the individuals in question either for the purpose of furthering social ambitions or else for perpetrating swindles.

Photographs such as these, unless one happens to know how they are obtained, prove even more efficacious than letters of introduction. For whereas the latter may be given to anyone for the purpose of getting rid of an importunate visitor, it seems at first sight that a man or woman shown in a photograph to be on terms of apparently intimate social intercourse with the anointed of the Lord must necessarily be all right. That is why royalty is becoming more and more afraid of the approach of strangers and why the European police are becoming stricter than ever in protecting their royal charges from being snapshotted.

An amusing incident in this connection took place the other day on the occasion of King Frederick of Denmark's visit to Iceland. At Gulfoss, which boasts of the most beautiful water falls in Europe, the king got into a long conversation with an old English lady. Finally he desired to speak to the other people present. But she would not permit him to take his leave. She caressed the king's horse and then kept hold of the animal's trappings. It finally turned out that she had sent for a photographer with the object of being snapshotted together with the king. As soon as he understood the object of the old lady's maneuvers he gave way and waited smilingly until the picture had been duly taken, which represents him apparently in close conversation with the delighted old maiden English lady.

The Milk Can.

There is no doubt that milk should invariably be strained and refrigerated at the farm, that it should there be canned and sealed, and that it should be delivered sealed. The structure of the milk can must not be neglected. As usually made, even though locked and sealed, there is ample opportunity for the admission of dust.—London Hospital.

OPEN NIGHT SCHOOLS EARLY

Finance Committee Decides Not to Wait Until January.

HELPS ABSORB THE ALIENS.

Board Representatives' Action Means Big Additional Outlay.

The full complement of public night schools—twenty-eight elementary schools and nine high schools—will be opened in the various sections of the city about the first of November.

Considerable doubt has been felt by the school authorities as to whether the board of education would be able to find funds for the operation of the schools before the first of January. The doubt was removed yesterday afternoon, when the finance committee passed a recommendation that the full number of schools be maintained during the last two months of the year. This will mean an expense of about $65,000 and the employment of 450 special teachers.

When he had recovered from his surprise at the action of the committee, Asst. Supt. Charles P. Megan, who has general charge of the night schools, said that no detailed plans for their opening have been made because of the uncertainty of the funds, but that in all probability the schools will be opened in the same buildings as were used last year.

Schools for Night Students.

This means that elementary evening sessions will be held at the following schools:

NORTH SIDE.
Burley, Thomas, Waller High, Franklin.

NORTHWEST SIDE.
Chase, Burr, Murray F. Tuley High, Washington, Wells.

WEST SIDE.
Crane Manual Training High, Scammon, Dante, Foster, Walsh, Garfield, Medill High, Jirka, Froebel, Hammond.

SOUTH SIDE.
Jones, Harrison, Wendell Phillips High, McAllister, Lake High, Hamline, Englewood High, Pullman, South Chicago High.

In addition high school courses will be given at these high schools:

Waller, Murray F. Tuley, Lake, Crane, Medill, Wendell Phillips, Englewood, South Chicago, Pullman.

Attendance Reaches High Mark.

The total attendance at the schools during the year was 17,295, with an average nightly attendance of 9,845. The pupils are chiefly adult Germans, Swedes, Bohemians, Poles, Italians, and Greeks. Instruction is also given to boys and girls who have left the regular schools before completing their courses, and to pupils who want technical instruction in special subjects.

The night schools last year cost the city $119,033.53.

"This department of our work is extremely important," said Supt. Cooley. "With a foreign population such as Chicago has it is absolutely necessary that there be an opportunity, at least, to give the people instruction in the English language."

Mrs. Haskell Loses Out.

Charles C. Krauskopf will be appointed principal of the Spalding school for crippled children this evening. That the school board will consider no further interference on the part of the friends of Mrs. Emma S. Haskell, who wants the board either to give her the position or refrain from placing any principal over her, became evident yesterday, when Mayor Busse found on his desk a petition signed by parents of pupils at the school, asking that Mrs. Haskell be placed in charge. The document contained between fifty and seventy-five names.

President Schneider and Frank C. Waller of the school board and Ald. Zimmer, chairman of the council committee on schools, at an informal conference decided that it could not be considered. The petition, it is understood, was Mrs. Haskell's last card.

The first fall examinations for teachers in the Cook county schools will be held Sept. 21 in the new courthouse. Subsequent examinations will be held Oct. 26 and Dec. 14.

MORE WOMEN GRADUATED AT MOODY BIBLE INSTITUTE.

Commencement Exercises Show Class of Eighteen Girls and Twelve Men—A New Auditorium Needed.

If the figures presented last night at the graduating exercises of the Moody Bible institute are any criterion of the future position women will occupy in evangelical and missionary callings, man is to be displaced as leader.

For the first time in the history of the institute, the supremacy of woman suddenly came to light when diplomas were presented to eighteen women graduates, the men graduates numbering twelve.

Further evidence of the increase in women students at the institution was shown in the annual report of the trustees. It recommended the building of a $250,000 women's dormitory.

Dr. James M. Gray presided at the commencement exercises. The address was delivered by the Rev. Prof. James Orr of Glasgow, Scotland. The annual report showed that the attendance for the coming year will be 40 per cent larger than that of any preceding year. The total attendance for the last year was 553 regular, with 305 night school and 367 correspondence students. The board reported the need of $100,000 to build an auditorium.

At the meeting of the board in the afternoon the following new trustees were chosen: Judge McKenzie Cleland, Thomas S. Smith, William A. Peterson. Henry P. Crowell was reëlected president, Henry S. Osborne vice president, and A. P. Fitt secretary.

WHEATON FAIR TOMORROW; GOLF CLUB DINNER PARTIES.

Many People to Entertain During the Country Exposition, Which Continues Till Saturday Night.

Numerous dinner and luncheon parties will be entertained at the Chicago Golf club during the Wheaton country fair, which opens tomorrow afternoon and continues until Saturday night, when the festivities will end with a large dance at the clubhouse.

One of the largest luncheon parties to be given Thursday afternoon will be that of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Hunt, who will have ten guests, later taking their party to the fair. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Hunt will entertain the same party at dinner. Another luncheon and dinner hostess of Thursday is Mrs. C. D. Norton, who will have six guests on both occasions. Smaller parties will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Felton and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Reed. They will be dinner hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Upham and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Babcock are among those giving dinner parties on Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Babcock will have another dinner party Saturday evening. Others to entertain Saturday are A. B. Eaton, W. P. Cowan, and L. G. Copely, the last two to be hosts to companies of twelve. Mr. Eaton will have seven guests, whom he will entertain earlier at luncheon.

Scottish Societies Plan Benefit.

The Scottish Societies of Chicago are arranging to hold a concert Oct. 3 in Orchestra hall, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the Illinois St. Andrew society for the benefit of the Old People's home, at present located at 43 Bryant avenue. This is a preliminary attempt to raise funds to build a big establishment in the suburbs.

ORDERS MORE FIRE ESCAPES ON WITHIN LOOP BUILDINGS.

Fifty Per Cent Found Deficient in Stairways, and Downey's Action Causes Protest by Managers.

Fifty per cent of downtown buildings were found to be deficient in stairways and other egress in case of fire, and a great many had floors taxed beyond their capacity, according to a report made yesterday by Assistant Building Commissioner John C. Christensen.

Mr. Christensen said there was no cause for alarm, as most of the property owners had responded promptly to recommendations made by the department. Some of the building managers, however, thought it a hardship to place additional fire escapes in old buildings.

The inspection of nearly 3,000 buildings in the district bounded by the lake, the river, and Polk street took ten inspectors six weeks. It was started immediately after the collapse of the building at 124 Franklin street.

"Every building was inspected thoroughly," Mr. Christensen said. "The strength of floors in factories, warehouses, and other structures devoted to industrial purposes was inspected by architects employed by the owners of the buildings to ascertain the safe load for each square foot of flooring. A number of floors were found overloaded with heavy material, and the buildings were ordered strengthened. In two weeks there will be a reinspection for the purpose of assuring the department that such changes as have been ordered, especially in the matter of additional stairways and exits, have been carried out."

In the department stores placards have been posted on each of the floors indicating the amount of weight they are capable of sustaining.

Protest against the order of the commissioner requiring the owners of a large number of buildings to erect additional fire escapes was made by representatives from the Managers' association yesterday. They said that the association controlled over 150 buildings in the loop district and that many of these had been erected fifteen years ago. At that time, they said, the buildings were approved of by the building department.

Mr. Downey insisted, however, that the buildings must now be placed in a safe condition and that both fire escapes and exits should be installed where needed. He said he would send his inspectors to again examine the buildings early in October, and that suits would be filed for all violations of the building ordinance.

ADMITS WANTING DIVORCE; DENIES NEW NUPTIAL PLAN.

Mrs. Ellen Rasmussen Tuttle Says She Seeks Separation, but Not with View of Marrying Arthur W. Greiner.

Mrs. Ellen Rasmussen Tuttle, who admits that she will ask a divorce from William S. Tuttle, cheerfully denies that she intends to take as her second husband Arthur W. Greiner, whose former helpmeet, once Miss Margaret Boyer, is now the wife of Ernest Lehmann. Friends of both, however, declared yesterday that this plan really is at the bottom of Mrs. Tuttle's effort to have legal separation from her present spouse.

Mrs. Tuttle has attracted comment in the past by donning jockey costume to ride in horse shows, and entered herself to ride in the Wheaton county fair under the name of Miss Ellen Rasmussen. Inquiry led to the discovery that she had returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Rasmussen, at 1906 Belmont avenue, where she announced her intention of suing for divorce from W. S. Tuttle, whom she married secretly two years ago.

It was at her parents' home last evening that she declared that the grounds she intends to offer are incompatibility and desertion.

In the Wheaton fair Mrs. Tuttle, or Miss Rasmussen, as she prefers to be called, is to ride Rudolph Ortman's Bargee in the free for all on Friday. In the horse show she is to ride two hunters, Mr. Rasmussen's Buster Brown and Francis S. Peabody's Minor.

WAR OF THE BOARD OF TRADE AND ALLIED ELEVATORS ENDS.

All the Big Warehouses of Chicago Ask to Be Declared Regular Under the Rules of the Exchange.

A treaty of peace has been declared between the Chicago board of trade and the allied elevator interests, ending the war which for several months has been a disturbing element in the grain trade. The owners of the elevators, it is said, have acceded to the demands of the exchange as to the conduct of important features of their business. All the big concerns made application to the board of trade directors yesterday to have their respective warehouses declared regular under the rules of the exchange. These applications will be considered at a special meeting of the directors to be held today, and it is generally expected they will be favorably acted on.

All of the elevators agreed last July not to renew their state licenses, which are necessary to the operating of public houses. This threat was a serious menace to the status of contracts made in the pit, and the board, in order to protect itself, made application for an injunction restraining the elevator interests from going out of business as public warehousemen.

The injunction was granted, and on a rehearing was sustained by Judge Carter of the Illinois Supreme court, and still remains in effect.

CRUELTY CASES AROUSE COURT

Judge Going Flays Express Company for Treatment of Animals and Fines Employes.

Charged with cruelty to animals, three employés of the Johnson Express company were arraigned before Municipal Judge Going yesterday morning and fined. Judge Going also scored the express company and said he would bring the case before the next meeting of Municipal court judges.

Two boys arrested by Mrs. F. M. Perry, 347 Hoyne avenue, an officer of the Anti-Cruelty society, were fined by Judge Himes. The five arraigned and fined were:

ARTHUR, MORRIS, 19 years old; fined $3 and costs by Judge Himes.

BARNES, HARRY N., 16 years old; fined $3 and costs by Judge Himes.

GREENE, EARL M., barn superintendent of the Johnson Express company's Englewood barns, 6052 Wentworth avenue; fined $75 and costs.

LA SANIER, JOHN, barn boss of the Englewood barns; fined $50 and costs.

WINFIELD, JOSEPH, driver of express team; fined $10 and costs.

After Greene and La Sanier had testified regarding one horse, the judge summoned Dr. J. Thwaites, a veterinary surgeon, who was asked to testify for the defense. Thwaites said the horse was fit to drive, thereby contradicting the testimony of the barnmen.

"You are employed by the express company, are you not?" asked Judge Going.

"Yes," Dr. Thwaites said.

"I don't take any stock in your testimony," returned Judge Going. "Please step down from the witness chair."

POLICY MEN FREED WITH FINES.

Four Operators of Games Escape Jail Sentences, Despite Plea of Assistant State's Attorney.

Four men charged with operating policy games were arraigned yesterday before Municipal Judge Wells at the Harrison street court and heavy fines were imposed in each case. The men fined were:

James Payne, 35 years old, $600 and costs.
Thomas Moore, 32 years old, $300 and costs.
Frank Childs, 38 years old, $300 and costs.
George Martin, 29 years old, $200 and costs.

All the defendants are colored.

Assistant State's Attorney Roe made a strong plea to the court that the defendants be given jail sentences. They were arrested July 19 in a raid made upon the premises at 3030 State street.

COMES TO LEAD HER CULT

Mrs. Besant Reaches New York on Way to Chicago Convention.

DANGER AHEAD FOR SOME.

Theosophist Leader Drops Hints of Possible Expulsions.

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. Annie Besant, president of the Theosophical society, arrived in port today, and soon after boarded a train for Chicago, where she will preside over the twenty-first annual convention of the American section of the society, which opens on Sunday.

The newly elected director of the mystic faith gave but small hint that there is any chance for trouble at the convention, although it is rumored there may be an extremely materialistic row. Since the "Leadbeater incident" and the death of Col. Olcott much dissatisfaction has been expressed in certain qaurters with the policies and even the beliefs of the present world officials of the Universal Theosophical society, and a revolt of some sort has been freely discussed. In fact, a typewritten announcement, sent out by the society yesterday, contains this significant sentence:

"Many important questions will be brought up this year for consideration, and it is likely that there will be a general change in the head officers of the organization."

Body Not Ethereal in Form.

As the liner carrying Mrs. Besant came up the harbor today she stood at the rail looking out at the new line of skyscrapers and pointing out to Mme. Marie Russak, her traveling companion, the changes that had occurred since she left the city ten years ago. Mrs. Besant is fat, with anything but an ethereal or evanescent fatness. The gray cloak, cut like an automobile riding duster, that blew about her, did not obscure the fact that the soul which has taken its winged flights through ether since the days when the Hyksos kings ruled Egypt had not picked out a small compass for its temporary residence in Mrs. Annie Besant.

The hair of the priestess is heavy and snowy white. It hangs about and softens a masculine face and veils eyes that are the strongest feature of an otherwise cold and emotionless countenance. At her throat Mrs. Besant wore the six pointed Jewish star, a relic of the departed body of Mme. Blavatsky. The theosophist leader spoke as follows:

Some May Be Expelled.

"I believe that we will have a great work to do at the Chicago convention and there will stand out prominently as a problem demanding temperate deliberation and final solution the question of the expulsion from the body of certain persons who have, in one way or another, gone beyond our teaching or have transgressed against the established teachings of the society.

"I do not care to mention names, but there are some who have brought considerable embarrassment on the society by their unauthorized schism from the fold. I know there will be those at the convention who will urge their public expulsion from the society, but I am not in favor of such steps."

"Now, I know you are going to ask me all about my beliefs," Mrs. Besant interposed before the reporters could put a question. "It would take me a long time to expound the fundamentals of theosophy to you; maybe you would not want to understand it if I tried. But let me take up the most simple things:

Soul Force Like Electricity.

"I believe that the soul is an undying, never quiescent force, just like electricity, only infinitely finer and more subtle a thing. It is an energy like electricity, but it travels in a more ethereal medium than electricity; it travels not in ether, not in space, but in a void. You follow me?"

The reporters hastened to assure her that her remarks were as clear as the Milky way, and the priestess continued: "The soul is never without a body. It may leave the physical body and become immured for awhile in an astral body that is beyond our sense of sight or our power of understanding; then it may come back to this physical sphere in another physical body. I believe that I lived before—but that's not the way to put it. You don't say, 'I believe I was a child'; you know that you were a child. I know that I lived before."

"Can you tell us something about your associates in a previous existence?" one of the reporters asked.

"I would rather not," replied the Indian exemplar of the occult. There seemed a quiet reticence on a subject that was painful.

"It was all a matter of memory, this proving a previous existence," she went on. "Some people train their memories so that they can remember when they were young children. The theosophists go further and train their memories to comprehend what occurred when their soul was in another fleshy garment.

"All the trend of modern science is toward a recognition of spiritualism, which we call idealism, for that is a far better word for something that defies exact definition. Science is coming near the point where it can prove the existence of soul, like it proves and experiments with matter. I build part of my belief on the strides science is taking in this direction."

Praise for Marie Corelli.

Mrs. Besant touched upon Miss Marie Corelli's novel, "Ardath," not from a literary point of view but theosophically. Miss Corelli had hit the right idea in "Ardath," said Mrs. Besant, but she had made a mistake in grounding the plot of her tale on Christianity. The theosophists did not limit their communion to any sect or creed.

"I believe that Mrs. Eddy was right when she advanced the power of thought transference," said Mrs. Besant. "But she made a mistake when she claimed that by thought transference a curative effect could be produced. She asked too much of a natural phenomenon. Thought transference is no more remarkable than wireless telegraphy, but it is not necessarily a wholesale physician.

"I believe also that what President Roosevelt says about race suicide is right. There are too many souls craving materialization in the flesh for existence here to be denied them by the artifices of modern society."

RULES OUT FRATERNITIES AT LAKE FOREST ACADEMY.

Head Master Lewis Announces That All Boys Entering Hereafter Must Pledge Themselves to Obey.

William Mather Lewis, head master of the Lake Forest academy, yesterday issued a four page circular announcing the abolition of the fraternity system in the boys' school under his direction.

Quotations from many educational authorities, from fraternity and nonfraternity representatives, from graduates of many schools, are given at length to show the path that led to the conclusion reached by the academy faculty. The summary of the most serious charges brought against fraternities is—

1. That they injure scholarship.
2. That they are undemocratic.
3. That they introduce petty politics.
4. That they injure class and school spirit.
5. That they encourage extravagance.
6. That they tend to lower moral standards.

The final ruling reads as follows:

"Every student entering the academy, beginning with the opening of the coming school year, will be required to sign a pledge not to affiliate himself in any way with any fraternity, local or national, academic or collegiate, so long as he is a student in Lake Forest academy."

The one society in existence in the school, a chapter of Omicron Kappa Pi, will be allowed to live until its members leave school on the condition that they initiate no more members. The fall term will open one week from today.

IN THE SHOPS

Infants' Headpiece.

Not one person in a hundred who had not been abroad recently could imagine what the hooplike article trimmed with ribbon is intended for. It resembles a glove retainer for holding up women's long gloves—a use to which a few women already have put it. Instead of being an item of women's wear, though, this article is intended as an ornament on the heads of infants and small children, being placed just back of the forehead and tied beneath the chin, and is worn both indoors and out, either with or without a bonnet. The headpiece consists of a springy celluloid band, on the order of the old fashioned bang comb which was worn by children. The flat portion is about half an inch in width, and has a fancy cutout pattern, through which silk and satin baby ribbon is interlaced. These headpieces come in a variety of styles and colors, some wholly plain, while others are heavily ornamented with ribbon bows, silk flowers, etc. The idea originated in Germany, where it is said to be popular, and it is probable that it will be in high favor in this country before the season is over. These cunning headpieces sell from 10 cents up.

* *

Mesh Bags.

It is predicted that mesh bags will be in high favor this fall. Gilt gunmetal, sterling silver, and German silver bags are shown in the greatest numbers, the most fashionable of which are the shirred varieties or those having the mesh portion shirred onto the frame. One of the most serviceable styles shown is made of German silver and costs $10 and $15, according to the size and ornamentation of the frame.

* *

Huge Combs.

Judging from the displays seen in several of the shops, combs are not getting any smaller. One of these huge hair ornaments measures fully five inches in height and five inches in width. A style of coiffure where such a comb could be artistically introduced would have to be architectural. Some of the most attractive new combs have five elongated oval knobs set with brilliants. These knobs are of the same material as the comb, and in several cases the brilliants are set in designs in front; in others, the brilliants are set thickly together all over the knob. One of the most beautiful shown is of pale colored shell, inlaid with gold in two colors—pretty shades of yellow and green—in a design representing a vine, while brilliants indicated the blossoms.

* *

Reflector Stone Hat Pins.

The new reflector hat pin is decidedly extreme and unique. It is set with a large colored brilliant cut stone, beneath which is placed a reflector attached to spiral springs or some similar arrangement that causes the reflector to dangle when vibrated and send scintillations through the stone and through the open work of the ornamental cutout metal. The reflectors are quite large, and are entirely incased within the metal portion in such a manner that they can neither be handled nor easily damaged. These hat pins come in several styles, set with various stones, such as topaz, emerald, amethyst, rubies, and other transparent varieties through which the scintillations caused by the reflector can be seen. The hat pins are effective and cost $3 each.

* *

Bead Purses.

These are more artistic and beautiful than ever. This is because the beads are made in what is called pastel shades, and when small ones are used for working out a flower design, the effect is like tapestry. One of the purses made of these soft toned beads is remarkably attractive. Upon a background of dull buff several tiny pink flowers, a few small blue flowers, and a soft green vine make a charming color combination, made even more effective by the rim and clasp of dull gold.

IN THE BOUDOIR

Care of the Hands.

A white and delicate hand, even if not perfection in shape, is one of the most important of personal charms, and also one which can be more easily obtained than is generally supposed. When the hands are rough, chapped, tanned, reddened with work, large quantities of a good cold cream should be rubbed into them and gloves worn at night in order to get the best and quickest results. There are gloves made especially for this purpose, and they differ from the ordinary street glove in shape, and may be worn all night with comfort, for they do not press too snugly on any part of the hand. They cost $2 a pair.

* *

Pleasant Erasure for Freckles.

The summer girl is now frantically trying to get rid of her freckles, which the July and August sun brought forth in all their glory. One of the best and certainly the most harmless remedies for freckles is lemon juice strained and diluted with water. A young southern girl who was noted for her beautiful complexion was at one time annoyed by a little patch of freckles across her nose, which she said she removed by the following lotion: Sweet almonds, one ounce; bitter almonds, four drams; cherry brandy, ten fluid ounces; to this add corrosive sublimate, six grains; tincture benzoin, six drams; lemon juice, four drams. Shake well before using. Apply night and morning with a small sponge.

* *

Eyebrows Require Much Care.

The eyebrows should receive as much attention as any other part of the body. With a little cold cream on the finger tips rub the eyebrows gently, so as to remove any possible dandruff, since they often have a little in them. Then wash them with a solution made of water and a little alcohol. First brush them straight up toward the hair and then straight down, and the line will be thin and well shaped. If constantly treated in this manner the eyebrows will soon be a beautiful shape. The brushing up of the outward tip gives a coquettish expression to some faces.

* *

Eyelash Tonic.

One can force the growth of eyelashes a bit by using this tonic: Mix five grains of quinine to one ounce of sweet almond oil and put it on every night.

With the Girl Workers

Women Most Affected by Changes.

Do women consider that in entering the business world they are taking men's places, and thereby lessening their chances of marriage?

In the old days women spun, wove, and dyed, as well as fashioned the family apparel. They made the linen for table and beds, also the feather mattresses and pillows; quilted comforters and knitted stockings. They cured and prepared meats, baked, brewed, made preserves and pickles, soap and candles. What did they not do?

Now the factory and shop supply all these needs, and women leave the home and go where work is to be found. The modern woman lives in a flat; her grandmother lived on a farm, where there was plenty of work for all.

In those days a man had to marry for a home and to supply his needs. Now he goes to a club or hotel, if well to do; if not, there are apartments and bachelor flats, managed by working housekeepers, with all conveniences and even luxuries. The laundress will mend and clean his linen, the tailor make and keep his clothes in order, and there are women who earn a living darning, pressing, sewing on buttons, etc.

A man does not need a wife to have a home. Indeed, perhaps his salary may prevent his marrying—a salary made small through the competition of women.

But the new order of things has come to stay, and what is to be done about it?

FLORA K.

IN THE SEWING ROOM

Sew Hook and Eye on Ribbon.

To fasten your ribbons in underwear and have them "ever ready" fasten an invisible hook, rust proof, on one end of ribbons and eye on undergarment at the starting point of beading on under side. With the aid of a hairpin or small safety pin ribbons may be changed at any time without the use of needle and thread.

MRS. W. B.

* *

Darn Carpet with Ravelings.

For mending thin places in rugs and carpets, use some of the ravelings from the carpet, which should be saved for this purpose. Darn the thin places and three cornered tears where they cannot be detected. The fringe and tassels of rugs and portieres can be darned and fastened in the same way.

E. B.

* *

Mosquito Net Helps Darn Holes.

Take common mosquito netting and sew on the hole. Draw the thread in the usual way through the meshes, skipping every other mesh so that when you darn crosswise you will have meshes to darn through. No matter how large the hole is, you can darn it evenly and in good shape and save time.

MISS EMMA BLANCHARD.

* *

To Renew Worn Shirtwaists.

Instead of discarding waists with worn neckbands many a dollar, to say nothing of the labor of making, may be saved by cutting off the neckband. Make a square or Dutch neck and finish by laying over the thin or worn portions insertion or beading, mitered at the corners and edged with a bit of lace.

TESTED RECIPES

Tomato Pillau.

Alternate layers of boiled rice and raw tomatoes in the baking dish. Sprinkle over each layer of tomatoes a little minced green pepper and tender young onion; also some previously stewed veal, chicken, or ham. Salt to taste. When the dish is full place a layer of green corn cut from the cob, and a little rolled cracker to give firmness, with bits of butter on top. Add a cup of veal broth, which must penetrate all of it, and bake half or three-quarters of an hour, according to degree of heat in the oven.

A. W.

* *

Pineapple Tapioca.

Soak one cup tapioca, drain off water, and add juice two lemons and one-half cup water; also add one-half pound shredded pineapple and its juice, and one and one-half cups sugar. Cook slowly until almost clear; stir carefully; put into this whites of three eggs well beaten. Serve ice cold with whipped cream.

MRS. ARTHUR YOUNKIN.

* *

Alabama Stuffing.

Boil sweet potatoes with the skins on. When tender peel, mash, and to one pint of pulp add one teaspoonful of salt, three shakes of pepper, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one teaspoonful of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of sweet cream, and one cupful of pecans, chopped fine. Beat light.

MRS. W. H. SCHRADER.

* *

Peel Cake.

When making biscuit for breakfast, instead of the regulation biscuit roll out as for biscuit, spread well with butter, turn edge to edge, roll again, spread again with butter, and roll as before; cut in long strips, put in pan, and bake in hot oven.

W. E.

* *

Sweet Chopped Pickle.

One peck green tomatoes; chop and soak over night with salt. Strain and add eight chopped onions, one quart vinegar, two pounds sugar, two teaspoons cinnamon, one teaspoon cloves, three green peppers, one red pepper. Boil till tender, but not soft. Seal while hot.

MRS. J. W. BROCKMAN.

* *

Maryland Fruit Cake.

The following recipe for fruit cake, which those who have tried it will never exchange for any other, was obtained from a Maryland family: One pound of butter, one pound of sugar, one pound of flour, twelve eggs, one pound of citron, one pound of blanched almonds cut moderately fine, the rind and part of the juice of one orange and lemon, half a pint of brandy, one nutmeg. Cream the butter and sugar, add the eggs, well beaten. Then one pound of flour, the fruit stirred into the mixture. Put the flour in last, and reserve, when pouring in the liquor, sufficient to pour over the cake after it is placed in the oven. It will keep for months, and besides its delicious flavor it can be eaten with impunity by persons who cannot touch wedding cake made by the usual recipe.

MRS. C. VINTON HENRY.

* *

Corn Bread.

Beat one egg with egg beater in earthen bowl. Add two tablespoons sugar, one cup corn meal, one-third teaspoon salt; next one cup sweet milk, two tablespoons melted butter, one and one-half cups flour, with two teaspoons baking powder. Place dough in hot greased square pan and pour over the corn bread one-half cup cold milk. Bake in hot oven and cut in squares.

SELMA A. CEEDER.

* *

Amber Pie.

For two pies use one-half cup melted butter, one cup sugar, one-half cup jelly, one-half cup sour cream, one tablespoon flour, yolks of four eggs; white on top.

WISCONSIN FARMS.
Choice, rich land, in small or large tracts, near Ellis Junction, Wis., on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Ry., price $10 to $15 per acre, on easy terms.

Go with us and see what choice, well located property we are selling; you will not be disappointed; now is the time to look over the land, when crops are growing, and you will be convinced that no state can show better crops than are produced on our farms in Marinette county, Wisconsin, where our land is located.
We have cheap excursion rates on every Tuesday and Saturday evening over the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Ry. All who are interested and want good farms for homes or investment should not fail to see our Wisconsin land. Send for book and map or call at office.

MAY NOW BUILD A BIG HOTEL

Terms of La Salle Block Property Lease Are Changed.

PLAN 22 STORY BUILDING.

Groveland Avenue Flat Sold for Sixty Thousand Dollars.

Owing to the fact that the original lease of the La Salle block property at the northwest corner of La Salle and Madison streets, 52½x81 feet, which is to form a part of the site of the La Salle hotel, by the University of Chicago to James W. Stevens, contained no provision for the erection of a hotel, an amended lease covering this point was filed for record yesterday.

The original lease provided for the construction of an office building only, and in order to secure the desired change the lessee was forced to pay an additional annual rental of $600, the annual rent under the amended lease being $24,000, as against $23,400 in the original lease. It is also provided that the building is to be not less than fourteen stories high and to cost not less than $300,000, as against a twelve story building to cost not less than $250,000 in the original lease.

It is also provided that the building is to be completed not later than Nov. 1, 1909. The hotel is planned to be twenty-two stories high.

Lease Forbids Sale of Liquor.

Another interesting provision in the lease is that no spirituous or malt liquors are to be sold on the premises except at tables or with meals. A bar or buffet, however, will be located in a different part of the hotel.

It is planned to begin the wrecking of all the buildings on the proposed site with the exception of the corner about Dec. 1. Work on the latter will be delayed to May 1 next, owing to existing leases.

Flat Building Sold.

Simon Hamberg has conveyed to Lena Rosenthal the flat property in Groveland avenue 325 feet south of Thirty-first street, 75x110 feet, west front, for $60,000, with incumbrance of $35,000, assumed.

The late Mrs. Mary R. Stone, widow of Lewis W. Stone, who committed suicide in 1905, who recently conveyed much valuable property to the Northern Trust company in trust to distribute after her death, recently, for nominal considerations, conveyed to Guy B. Gardner 50x161 feet, east front, in Indiana avenue, 150 feet south of Forty-third street; to John E. Gardner 50x161½ feet in Michigan avenue, 150 feet south of Forty-third street, and to Henry C. Gardner 183x125 feet in Lawrence street, 264 feet west of Southport avenue.

Land and House Transferred.

Record was filed of the transfer of five acres of land in the southeast quarter of section 28, Stickney township, and the property at 4212 Langley avenue, 21x134.5, on which is a brick residence. The transfer was made by Mrs. Nancy Cooper two years ago to her daughter and only child, Mrs. Sara Johnston Towne, the consideration for the transfer being the "daughter's love and affection." Mrs. Cooper reserved for herself the "rents, issues, and enjoyments" from the properties for the remainder of her life. She died Aug. 20, 1907, at the age of 84.

PERJURY IN ELECTION CASE?

Shumway-Welsh Mayoralty Contest at Galesburg Leads to Issuance of Warrants.

Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Threats of arrest for perjury were made in today's hearing in the Welsh-Shumway mayoralty contest, and Judge Gray advised officers to do their duty in the case of Theodore Haas of Monmouth, a Shumway witness, who testified that he was here but three weeks before election, and voted, although knowing he had no right to vote here. A warrant for Haas was issued.

Shumway announced that his side would take a hand in procuring warrants, and rumors of impending arrests are numerous. Among those for whom Shumway men are said to have procured warrants are Dr. Birmingham and Clyde Hamlin of this city.

The depositions of several college students and oral evidence regarding illegal voting consumed the day.

ERRATIC SESSION IN WHEAT

Bulge on Government Report Is Followed by Reaction.

LONGS SELL COARSE GRAINS.

Corn Rules Weak; Oats Firm, Up on Bullish September Statement.

Government report today in the wheat market was characterized by extreme nervousness, rapid fluctuations within a range of almost 2c, an upset of quite general calculations, and a finish that showed practically unchanged from the close of the day before. Up to the time that the statement from Washington was given out heaviness hung over the market, but immediately following the issuance of the report, which was given bullish construction, values were quickly bolstered to a little over the Monday close, the bulge witnessing a resumption of heavy selling and a consequent drop in values. The reaction was followed by enough short covering and commission house buying to drag the market back to a fairly firm basis. Final quotations showed ¼c lower for September, ⅛c easier for December, and 1-16c off for May.

The condition of spring wheat Sept. 1 was given at 77.1, against 79.4 a month before, and 83.4 Sept. 1 last year. This indicated a yield estimated all the way from 215,000,000 bu to 222,000,000 bu, according to the par used. With the estimated yield of 400,000,000 bu winter wheat, the total production of the grain was fixed at from 625,000,000 bu to 631,000,000 bu. Last year's harvest was 735,000,000 bu, winter and spring.

Early News Favors Bears.

The bulk of early news favored the market pessimists, who went after prices rough shod. Liverpool was sharply lower, giving full response to the break on this side of the water the day before, and continental markets showed weaker tones. Minneapolis ruled lower, and, while not considered favorable to the uncut crop, weather northwest was not as severe as the trade had been led to expect. A further increase of about 500,000 bu in local stocks, bringing the total up beyond 19,000,000 bu, also had a depressing effect. Bullish items received but little consideration. Receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis aggregated only 205 cars, against 782 cars the corresponding day last year. A big percentage of the arrivals of spring wheat was of inferior quality. Good business in No. 2 and No. 3 red winter was reported to have been done here yesterday and late the day before, and it finally was estimated that the day's export sales amounted to 856,000 bu, although all reported sales were not confirmed. The local cash inquiry was good, but handlers could not fill all the orders to the satisfaction of the seekers. There was said to have been a little less activity in northwestern cash circles, but Minneapolis sent reports of good flour business. Southwestern markets indefinitely wired that good business was being worked via gulf ports.

Small Increase in Available.

The world's available supplies, according to Bradstreet's, showed an increase of only 300,000 bu, compared to a gain of 3,875,000 bu a year ago. The visible supply statement indicated a falling off of 2,062,000 bu. This showing caused considerable short covering, prices temporarily displaying firmness. Some sections in North Dakota reported frosts, similar advices coming from parts across the border. Alberta and Saskatchewan wired that it was raining and that there was strong probability of a freeze last night.

Heavy Stocks a Drawback.

Judging from the developments of yesterday's market, many local traders cannot reconcile themselves to bullishness while the stocks here are so heavy. They figure that the holdings must be drawn upon heavily if there is to be substantial ground for bullish argument, and each succeeding increase in them adds strength to their convictions. There still are numerous bulls, however, who argue that the general situation abroad eventually will insure big enough demand from the foreigners to cut down the American surplus materially.

September wheat fluctuated between 93¾c and 95⅛c, December between 98⅜c and $1.00⅛, and May between $1.04⅝ and $1.06⅛. The close showed 94⅝c for September, 99⅝c for December, and $1.05⅝c for May.

Corn on the Down Grade.

Corn ruled heavy throughout, prices moving within a range of 1½c, the close showing declines of 1½c for September, 1c for December, and ⅜c for May. Long grain came out freely from many sources, and, while there was no pronounced individual buying, the combined support from Tom, Dick, and Harry was sufficient to prevent what early looked like a much more severe decline. Country longs sold futures through commission houses and some of the cash houses unloaded moderately on freer country acceptances. The government's September report was considered a "standoff." It showed a condition of 80.2 on the first of the month, against 82.8 a month before, and 90.2 a year before. On the acreage reported the condition indicated a yield of about 2,518,000,000 bu, compared to an outturn of 2,927,000,000 bu last year.

Sections of the west reported temperatures dangerously low, and some advices indicated that a frost would do much damage in Iowa and Nebraska. Local arrivals were 565 cars, less than expected, the estimate for today being 316 cars. Primary arrivals were 916,000 bu, against 922,000 bu the corresponding day last year. Clearances were 16,000 bu. The visible supply showed a decrease of 808,000 bu, compared to 670,000 bu increase last year. The world's available supplies, according to Bradstreet's, showed a decrease of 1,077,000 bu, against an increase of 988,000 bu last year. Liverpool wound up ⅜@1d lower.

Report Bullish on Oats.

The oats market covered a range of 1½c, ruling weak early on continued liquidation by scattered longs and in sympathy with the loss of strength in wheat and corn, but shot up to an advance of ⅜@½c over the previous close on the bullishness of the government's report, a reaction resulting from a resumption of long selling. The statement from Washington showed the condition on Sept. 1 to have been only 65.5, about 10 points under the showing of Aug. 1, indicating a total yield of approximately 745,000,000 bu, compared to a crop of 964,000,000 bu last year. Final prices showed ¼c lower for September, ⅛c firmer for December, and 1-16c easier for May. Local arrivals were 385 cars, 5 cars less than expected, the estimate for today being light at 208 cars. The visible supply showed an increase of 401,000 bu, the total now being under 2,500,000 bu. The world's available showed an increase of 1,147,000 bu, compared to a gain of 560,000 bu a year ago.

Provisions Quiet and Easier.

Hog products ruled dull, with prices slightly lower. Packers were on both sides of the market, in which scattered investors took January products on the weaker spots. The lower trend of grains had a depressing influence on the trade. One of the leading local packers was credited with selling 500,000 lbs of January ribs. Western hog receipts were 64,000, against 62,000 the corresponding day of last year. The general shipping demand was reported as fair. Estimated local receipts of hogs for today were 30,000. Final prices showed 5c up to 10c off for pork, January being the sufferer; unchanged to 2½@5c lower for lard, and unchanged to 2½c down for ribs.

Nearby Rye Futures Steady.

Rye was steady for the nearby futures and car lots, owing to the small offerings, but the May was off 1¼c. September closed at 87½c bid; December, 88c bid, and May, 90½c bid. Receipts were 18 cars.

Barley prices were firmly held. Malting ranged from 84c to 94c; feed, 70@80c, and screenings, 50@75c. Receipts were 26 cars.

Flaxseed was unchanged. No. 1 northwestern closed at $1.21½; No. 1 southwestern at $1.17½, and rejected northwestern at $1.13½@1.17½. Minneapolis receipts were 8 cars, Duluth 24 cars, and Chicago 1 car.

Timothy seed was quiet and without change. September closed at $4.35 bid and October $4.20. Country lots, $3.90@4.30.

Clover seed was dull. October closed at $15.50 and car lots, $12.00@14.50.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Money was in quiet demand in the market today and rates were easy. Discounts were slightly firmer. On the stock exchange a good tone prevailed, but speculation was quiet. Consols and home rails were fractionally dearer.

Americans opened quiet and gradually improved during the forenoon, but they failed to maintain the improvement, owing to a decline in Amalgamated Copper, and the market closed dull, with prices below the best.

Among the foreigners Japanese bonds were the feature, being active and firm, especially 4½ per cents.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Prices on the bourse today opened firm, with business quiet, and closed steady.

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—Prices on the boerse today had an inactive tendency at the opening, then became firm. Americans were steady.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

Trade in wheat was again erratic and uncertain. Commission houses generally sold at the opening, and there was a good deal of selling by local traders who had built up pyramids on the recent advance. On the break the Patten interest bought quite freely. Champlin and Comstock also bought. Upon receipt of the government report nearly everybody in the pit apparently was on the buying side, and, as the pit was bare of offerings for the moment, competition was exceedingly brisk. A lively upturn ensued, but when the December price touched the dollar mark Chapin & Co., Logan & Bryan, and other large houses attempted to do some selling, and prices fell back quickly. In corn there was heavy selling by the country and elevator interests against increasing receipts. Love & Co., Logan & Bryan, Ware & Leland, and Roberts were all heavy sellers. J. A. Edwards was a good buyer of December early. Updike, Howe, Love & Co., and Lamson were all good buyers of oats, the last named house replacing a line sold out a couple of days ago. Shearson, Hammill & Co. were free sellers of January ribs.

An echo of the famous deal in oats engineered by James A. Patten and F. P. Frazier in May, 1902, was heard yesterday when Charles Waite and Robert H. Thorburn made application for reinstatement to membership on the board of trade. The firm of Waite-Thorburn was caught short in the Patten deal and refused to settle with the bull leaders, claiming that the price of oats had been boosted to a fictitious level. Later they applied to the courts for an injunction restraining the Patten crowd from forcing a settlement under the rules of the exchange. After many months of litigation the court handed down a decision sustaining the contention of complainants and fixed a settlement price which was held to be more equitable. Meantime the directors of the board suspended both Thorburn and Waite on complaint of the old firm of Harris, Gates & Co. for nonpayment of losses sustained in the corn market. It is understood that after many years of effort these men have now made arrangements for a satisfactory settlement with all their creditors.

Bartlett-Frazier's Antwerp correspondent wrote Aug. 30: "We are afraid to tire you by telling you again about the bullish European situation. However, the more we advance in the season, the more confirmed are the damages to crops and the clearer are the reasons for a substantial advance in prices of wheat. There is hardly any more wheat to be got in Roumania and Bulgaria. The southern hemisphere, India, River Plate, and Australia are shipping trifles only. We, therefore, depend upon Russia and the United States, and we do not only depend upon one of them, but we need them both, and as the Russian estimates are getting much reduced it is impossible to say where prices may go to whether your own crop turns out big or small, but in the latter case we would have a real calamity on this side of the ocean."

The sharp break in futures early in the day made possible a large business in cash wheat. Sales were 150,000 bu of No. 2 red and 50,000 bu of No. 2 hard for export, in addition to a cargo of 100,000 bu of No. 3 red sold late Monday night. The demand was largely from Germany. One house claimed that there were bids on the market close to a working basis for fully a million bu of red wheat. New York reported 856,000 bu for export at the seaboard. This included large sales of No. 2 hard wheat by way of the gulf. In the local market offerings at the sample tables met with a good demand, prices averaging about 1c lower. Shipping sales of corn were 175,000 bu, and 160,000 bu of white clipped oats were sold to the east. New York reported 128,000 bu of corn and 16,000 bu of oats sold for export.

The visible supply of wheat last week decreased 2,062,000 bu, large reductions being reported at Duluth, Minneapolis, Port Arthur, New York, and on the lakes. Besides the increase in local stocks there were good sized accumulations at Buffalo, Galveston, New Orleans, St. Louis, and Toledo. The visible supply of corn decreased 808,000 bu, but that of oats increased 401,000 bu. The total figures follow:

	This week.	Last week.	Last year.
Wheat, bu	47,397,000	49,459,000	30,169,000
Corn, bu	3,086,000	3,894,000	2,931,000
Oats, bu	2,394,000	1,993,000	7,077,000

B. Frank Howard figures the yield of corn in the surplus states on the basis of September conditions given by the government, as follows:

	1907, bu.	1906, bu.
Indiana	158,000,000	184,000,000

Nebraska	217,000,000	250,000,000

Bradstreet's report of the available supply of grain last week shows the following changes:

	Increase 1907.	Increase 1906.
Wheat, east of the Rockies	*2,056,000	1,475,000
Europe and afloat	2,400,000	2,400,000
Total	344,000	3,875,000

*Decrease.

Clement-Curtis had this from Sioux City, Ia.: "Northwestern Nebraska corn is in good condition; except being from two to three weeks late, it will bring up the state's average to 70 and over; if frost holds off three weeks, the state will make around 200,000,000, against 250,000,000 bu last year. The cold weather now prevailing has revived frost fear. No old corn of consequence left in this section."

Clarence C. Hogan, Lewis Wilson, Edward D. Winslow, Lorenzo D. Kneeland, and William L. Bear yesterday were elected to membership on the board of trade.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 127 cars; corn, 316 cars; oats, 208 cars; rye, 4 cars; barley, 13 cars; hogs, 30,000.

Foreign markets closed as follows: Liverpool, 1⅜@1¾d lower; Paris, 1c lower; Antwerp, unchanged to ⅝c lower.

Message from Comstock, Minn.: "Returns from a 120 acre field, 9½ bu per acre; another, 13½ bu."

Deliveries on September contracts were 10,000 bu wheat, 5,000 bu corn, and 30,000 bu oats.

NEWS OF FINANCIAL WORLD

Calumet and Hecla Dividend Is Reduced to $15 a Share.

COPPER A FACTOR IN PRICES.

Refined Metal Off 7 Cents a Pound; Pig Iron Also Is Lower.

Reduction in the dividend of Calumet and Hecla from $20 to $15 per share, and the knowledge that such a reduction was contemplated, had a depressing effect on the securities market. Amalgamated Copper was weak and carried the list with it.

Sentiment, which for some days has been declared to be better, lost its buoyancy and business grew dull. Undoubtedly the situation in the copper market is now the new factor in stock prices. The impression obtains that the companies have on hand large amounts of unsold stocks, indicating a general decline in business activities. The fall in the price of the metal during the first eight months of the current calendar year has been between 7 and 8 cents, and this break would not have occurred but for a contraction in the volume of orders due to a decrease in business activity.

What is true of copper is also true of the iron market. High rates for money have in a way been responsible for the checking of business. The output of iron ore has continued in large volume, but the price has worked lower for pig iron for the same reason that refined copper has dropped 7 cents a pound.

Government Bond Market.

Discussing the condition of the government bond market and treasury operations, the National City bank of New York says:

"The market for the various government issues has been inactive for some time, with little variation in prices. The 4 per cent bonds of 1925 have shown a tendency towards weakness more apparent than in the other issues. The bid price for the 2s of 1930 during the latter part of August has been about 105¼ as compared with 105⅜ earlier in the month. However, the amount of bonds offered at these figures is small. The possibility of the secretary of the treasury again opening refunding when the 3s mature in 1908 has not encouraged any material buying of this issue. There still remain about $8,500,000 4s of 1907 which have not yet been presented for redemption. These bonds are coming in slowly at the rate of about $50,000 a day.

"Gradually the treasurer's office is overcoming the scarcity of small bills. It has pursued a liberal and general policy with the banks during the last month, and has generally met all reasonable demands. Since July 1 more than $36,000,000 in new ten dollar gold certificates have been issued, and during the last three weeks all fair demands for ones, twos, and fives have been satisfied. The south and the southwest, where early crop moving is under way, have been taken care of in the matter of small bills, silver dollars, and subsidiary pieces. The recent purchases of silver bullion have made conditions easy as to the smaller silver coins, and the coinage of gold at the mints is progressing so rapidly that the treasurer's office is actually unable to keep up its stock of gold certificates to be issued against the new gold. Although the treasurer has accommodated the banks thus far with small bills and currency, he has drawn heavily on his reserve supplies. It is believed, however, that by Sept. 15 the department will be in a position to respond adequately to every legitimate need of the season."

Jap Bonds Off the List.

Secretary Ely of the New York stock exchange gives notice that the Japanese government 6 per cent sterling loan, due 1911, and the imperial Japanese government 6 per cent loan, due 1911, second series, have been stricken from the list. Mr. Ely also gives notice that all transactions in Union Pacific subscription receipts for twenty year 4 per cent convertible bonds in 1927 will, until further notice, be full paid.

Dividends Declared.

The directors of the Wisconsin Pea Canners company have declared a 10 per cent dividend on the stock, payable quarterly, beginning Oct. 16, 1907. Books close Oct. 5. It is reported the directors will meet in November to act on the common stock.

The Union Bag and Paper company declared its usual quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on its preferred stocks, payable Oct. 15. Books close Sept. 30, reopen Oct. 16.

The executive committee of the Western Union Telegraph company recommended to the directors the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent.

STOCK MARKET MORE ACTIVE

Transactions Larger and Price Changes Greater in New York.

COPPER SLUMP IS FEATURE.

Weakness in That Section Brings Decline in General List.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The stock market today was more active and the movements in prices were much wider than for many days past. This was the result of conflicting influences which were at work. The principal development, and which gave the predominance to the weakness of the copper stocks in its influence on the whole market, was the renewed unsettlement in that trade.

The reduction of the quarterly dividend disbursement on the Calumet and Hecla stock was an example of the effects of the fall in the price of copper.

The effect was aggravated by another disorderly downward plunge in the quotations of the copper in London market and by another fractional reduction in the price of metal at the local metal exchange. Reports were in circulation of gloomy anticipations held in the trade of the possible further fall.

The acute depression in the Hill group owed something to the report that the interstate commerce commission inquiry into the legality of the close relations between the railroads in that group was to be revived and actively pushed.

There was a momentary pause in the decline on the announcement of the decision against the Pennsylvania 2 cent passenger fare law.

The government report on the condition of the cereals was regarded as bullish in the grain trade and therefore bearish on stocks. The net result of all these rumors was that the closing prices were at about the lowest of the day.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $914,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call strong; 6@6¾ per cent; ruling rate, 6¼; closing bid, 6¼, offered at 6½. Time loans steady; 60 days, 5½ per cent; 90 days, 6 per cent; six months, 6 per cent bid. Prime mercantile paper 6½@7 per cent. Sterling exchange weak, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8580@4.8585 for demand and at 4.8215@4.8220 for 60 day bills. Commercial bills, 4.81½@4.82⅜. Bar silver, 68¼. Mexican dollars, 53. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds steady.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—State street was full of pessimists today. Calumet and Hecla directors, after paying out $9,600,000 for new property which shows them a loss in market value of about $5,000,000 already, decided to reduce dividends and so declared only $15 for the current quarter against the rate of $20 for the three preceding payments.

Somebody must have had wind of this intention, for early in the morning a selling movement started in the coppers, led by Amalgamated, that carried the list down towards the low marks of the year with a rush. A further reduction in the price of the metal added to the unsettling influences.

Call loans, 5@6 per cent; time loans, collateral, 7 per cent; time loans, mercantile paper, 6@7 per cent; clearing house loans, 6 per cent.

Mandel Brothers

Our tailor-made fall suits at $35 are superior to any in Chicago for the money

They're the result of an effort on our part to give our patrons something out of the common. Materials better—the styles designed by better artists—the workmanship elaborated with greater pains. Each suit possesses certain individual features of its own that point its origin to a house like Mandel's.

The beautiful texture of the cloth—the exquisite tailor-work—and the inimitable grace cannot be shown in an illustration. Can only be judged to advantage when seen on the figure of the wearer.

Jaunty 24 inch to 42 inch lengths, fitted or semi-fitted, new modified Prince Chap styles, all lengths, in rich broadcloths, black and colors; also many new weaves, stripes, checks, and attractive combinations. Cluster plaited skirts with wide folds and strappings. They bear favorable comparison with the general average of $45 and $50 suits. Our price $35.
